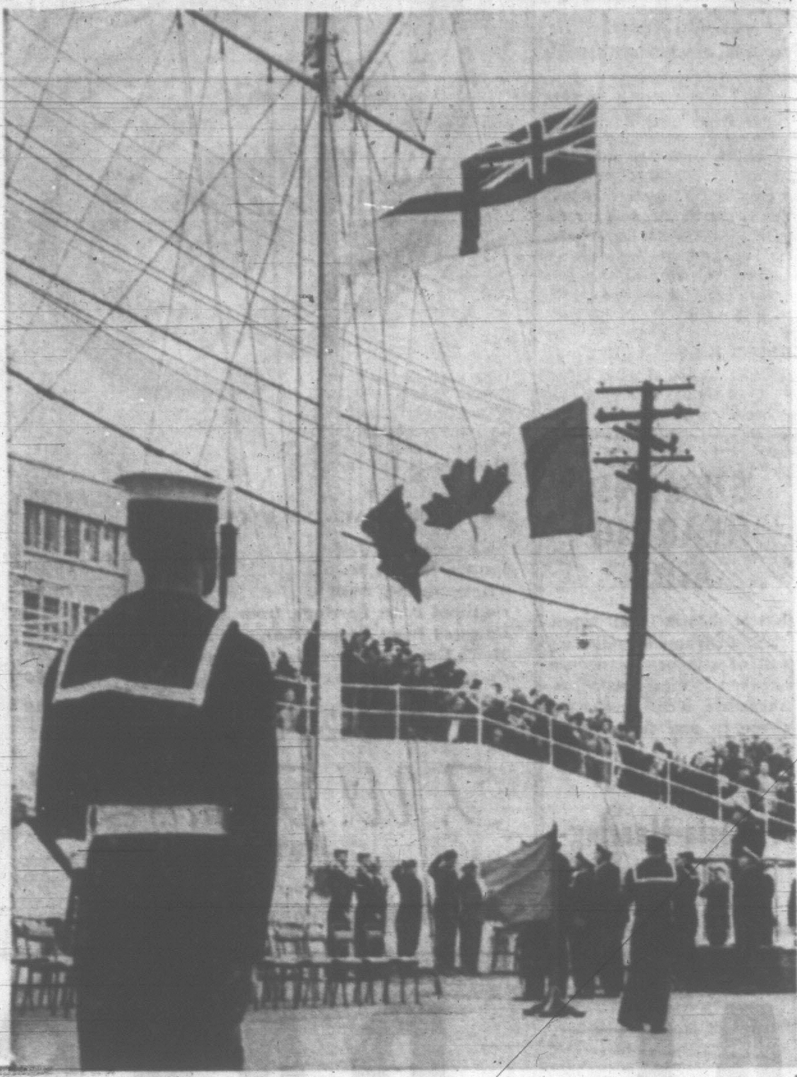
Vanier Calls for Unity As Maple Leaf Raised



NEW REPLACED THE OLD at HMCS Naden this morning to martial music and the crash of naval guns. Similar ceremonies at other military institutions saw the official removal of white, red and blue ensigns as official flags and the raising of the new national flag. Rear-Admiral M. G. CITY CEREMONIES

And the Band Played Auld Lang Syne

By JIM HUME

At HMCS Naden the Red Maple Leaf flag passed its deposed sister, the White Ensign on the way down from its long established perch on the main parade-ground mast at noon sharp.

A 21-gun salute cracked across the harbor, the Naden band played "O, Canada" and 1,000 sailors fronted by a 100-man rifle-carrying honor guard, snapped smartly to attention.

Rear Admiral M. G. Stirling, flag officer Pacific Coast, and Commodore A. G. Boulton, commanding officer of Naden, led the general salute.

COLORS TROOPED

Following the lowering of the ensign and raising of the new flag the old colors were trooped in ceremony from the parade square and the new flag took its place.

Away from the parade ground ships in harbor struck the ensign as the first gun fired in salute and sent the new colors fluttering to their masts.

At Royal Roads a tri-service ceremony saw the lowering of white, red and blue ensigns and to a general salute the raising of the new flag.

Prayers and dedications were led by Chaplain II W. B. Taylor, RCN, Royal Roads, and Chaplain II J. A. Lehouillier, RCN (RC), Royal Roads.

EARLY START

At Work Point Barracks the 1st Battalion The Queen's Own Rifles of Canada started flag ceremonies at 6 a.m.

As revielle echoed across the barrack square the Red Ensign

Flag Cheered By Thousands

OTTAWA (CP) — To the cheers of thousands, Canada's new maple leaf flag was officially hoisted today on Parliament Hill.

The red and white emblem became the country's national flag at noon after the Red Ensign had been ceremoniously lowered and sent to the archives. Nearly 10,000 people covered the snow-covered lawns on Parliament Hill to cheer the new flag up the mast.

"I appeal to all Canadians to set aside pettiness, selfishness and intolerance where they may exist, and to cultivate a spirit of brotherhood and mutual confidence.

"I hope and pray that Canadians will in this way give an example of fraternal co-existence and that our flag will symbolize to each of us and to the world the unity of purpose and high resolve to which destiny beckons us."

PLAY RECORDED MUSIC

The ceremony was held under bright, sunny skies as temperatures hovered in the low 20s. Because of the chilly weather, recorded fanfares and martial music replaced live instruments.

RCMP Constable Joseph Secours, a native of Cornwall, Ont., raised the new flag up the white, temporary flag pole at the base of the Peace Tower as strains of O Canada came from the loudspeakers.

As it reached the top, the Peace Tower clock began striking 12, and a wave of cheers came from the crowd, some of whom waved minature versions of the new design.

A few moments earlier, the red ensign was silently lowered by RCMP Sgt. A. G. Goswell of Brantford, Ont., and it was marched off the stand by Sgt. Goswell and representatives of the three services. It was turned over to Jean Miquelon, deputy registrar general of Canada. Mr. Miquelon had earlier read the proclamation by the Queen, declaring the red and white maple leaf design the official flag of Canada.

RAISED ON PEACE TOWER

As the new flag went up, the Red Ensign was also being replaced on all federal buildings in Ottawa. Because the governor-general's standard was on the Peace Tower pole—it is flown whenever he is on Parliament Hill—it was several minutes before the new design was raised there.

When the new flag was raised on the Peace Tower another cheer went up.

Before the ceremonies began, an unidentified man stood with a Red Ensign draped in black. He left before the new flag was raised.

BALCER

Balcer Remains With Tories

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec Conservative leader Leon Balcer said today he has decided to remain within the party at least "for a few more months" and will advise his Quebec colleagues to do the same.

Mr. Balcer, who threatened previously to resign from the party over his dispute with Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, said it is essential the leadership issue be settled and "men of great experience who have left the party to return to private life or who have gone to other arenas" should again resume leading roles within the party.

He made special mention of former cabinet ministers George Hees, now president of the Montreal - Canadian Stock Exchange, Pierre Sevigny, now a Montreal business executive, Davie Fulton leader of the British Columbia Conservatives, and Donald Fleming, who returned to his Toronto law practice.

Mr. Balcer said in a speech to the Canadian Club of Montreal:

"We believe that the return of these men, coupled with a candid reappraisal of the policies and posture of our party in the spirit which was so manifest at the Fredericton conference on Canadian goals, will show the Canadian people our determination to give our party a new image and a new direction."

Mr. Balcer told reporters following his address that his reference to a "few more months" should not be taken as an ultimatum. He said he could not be more specific about his future plans because "these mat-

'Several Weeks Rest' Ordered for Rouleau

PEARSON GETS FULL BACKING FROM CAUCUS

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson has been given a "full endorsement" by a party caucus on his leadership in the face of scandal allegations about his government.

Mr. Walker said MPs found support for Mr. Pearson's stand that he will punish wrongdoers but will not take action merely on the basis of rumor or gossip.

Mr. Pearson was not present at the caucus because of a cold.

ROULEAU

OTTAWA (CP)—Guy Rouleau, who made bail representations on behalf of narcotics smuggling suspect Lucien Rivard, resigned Sunday as chairman of the Liberals' parliamentary caucus saying his doctor has ordered him to "go away for several weeks."

Liberal Whip James Walker told reporters following a five-hour afternoon caucus that the resignation had been accepted with "reluctance" and that a new chairman would probably be elected at Wednesday's caucus.

Mr. Rouleau, 41, who told the Commons Nov. 24 of his role in the Rivard case, then quit as parliamentary secretary to Prime Minister Pearson, revealed his resignation as chairman by releasing a letter he wrote to Mr. Pearson.

"Some time ago I was ordered by my doctor to take a complete rest but I was not then able to do so," the letter said. "Needless to say, the events of these past weeks have done nothing to restore my health and my doctor now insists that I go away for several weeks.

"Because I realize that the national caucus, in fairness to its members, cannot be without a permanent chairman for any extended period, I am herewith submitting my resignation."

RECEIVES LETTER

A spokesman for Mr. Pearson said the prime minister, who was unable to attend the caucus meeting because of a bad cold, has received the letter.

A caucus chairman's main job is to act as liaison between the back-bench members and the cabinet.

Attempts to win bail for Rivard, wanted in the United States on charges of smugling narcotics into that country, are the subject now of a judicial inquiry headed by Chief Justice Frederic Dorion of the Quebec Superior Court.

DISGUSTING: LABORITE

'Half-Drunk' Charge Angers U.K. Tories

LONDON (AP) — Angry Conservatives said Sunday night they may begin moves to censure and perhaps expel a Labor member who accused some Tories of attending the House of Commons "half-drunk."

Patrick Duffy, a 44-year-old former economics instructor who described himself as "a moderate drinker but not a kill-joy," first made the accusation in a speech to his constituents Friday night at Colne Valley.

Quintin Hogg, one of the leading Conservatives in the Commons, said he would not be surprised if "some energetic back-bencher" raises the matter in the House today.

It was featured by a national newspaper, The Sunday Express, and Sunday night Duffy repeated the charges and said he was standing by every word.

Duffy was talking in particular about the heated debates of Feb. 2 and Feb. 9 when Conservatives tried to censure Labor's conduct in office, and then attacked its aviation policy.

"Some of the Tories were half drunk and it was disgusting to look at them," Duffy said.

"Some of the opposition members recently came into the House straight from the bar, and created a disturbance. There was no attempt on the part of their leaders to restrain them."

King Leads Massive Protest

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leading the demonstrators, stood on the outside of the courthouse looking in.

About 100 Negroes lined up early to register and were being processed. While they stood in line, other demonstrators met at a church and walked to the courthouse.

China Intervention

LOTS OF TALK, BUT NO ACTION

WASHINGTON (AP)—A week after striking against North Viet Nam, the U.S. government appears to have found no hard evidence of a major military response by Hanoi's giant Communist allies, China and Russia.

In reporting no overt signs of Chinese intent to intervene in a big way in Viet Nam, U.S. officials declined today to rule out the possibility that this could happen later on.

The big power military and diplomatic positions on Viet Nam shaped up this way:

The Chinese are reported to have some MiG jet fighters in North Viet Nam already. They did not enter the fray when U.S. and South Vietnamese craft swooped on North Vietnamese targets three days last week.

Peking could send in foot soldiers, but North Viet Nam has yet to engage its own large army estimated at 400,000. U.S. sources discounted reports of Chinese troop movements published in London over the weekend.

Soviet Premier Kosygin, returning to Russia Sunday from a 10-day visit to North Viet Nam and North Korea including brief stop-overs at Peking, has promised more aid to Hanoi.

Meanwhile, Communist cap-

VILLAGERS SHOT DOWN BY GOV'T TROOPS

TAM KY, South Viet Nam (Reuters)—About 40 persons were reported killed today when troops fired into a crowd demanding an end to government bombing and shelling of their villages near here.

The casualty figures were unofficial.

PGE RAIL STRIKE SETTLED

VANCOUVER (CP) — A strike of 185 trainmen which tied up the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway for 13 days and caused the layoff of some 1,400 workers, was settled today.

Agreement came at a meeting between representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (CLC). The meeting was arranged by provincial labor minister Peterson. (See page 17).

Scattered Fighting Continues

Military sources reported 27 enemy actions during the last 24 hours, most of them in the northern part of the country.

Two Americans were reported wounded in clashes Sunday. One was hit in the back by metal fragments while searching for 50 Vietnamese who disappeared Saturday after a Viet Cong attack in Binh Dinh province.

In Quang Ngai province, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, the Viet Cong killed 16 government troops, wounded 30 and captured five. The Communists poured mortar shells into a government outpost in Quang Tin province, killing seven defenders and wounding 12.

20,000 IN SAIGON

Orphans of War Roam Streets

By PETER ARNETT

PHU MY, South Viet Nam (AP) — The four-year-old boy picked up the khaki-covered water bottle, held it to his waist, and giggled. It had belonged to his soldier father.

Another child marched by wearing a steel helmet, pulling his tiny sister along behind him. Their father had been wearing the helmet when he was killed the previous night.

Two other children stood on the back of a truck, cracking jokes with soldiers and making faces at a photographer. They had lost their fathers and mothers.

They still hadn't realized they were orphans.

These children had survived a concentrated Viet Cong mortar attack on this town headquarters and were being taken to an orphanage in Saigon.

Their lot was a hard one, and all too frequent in South Viet Nam, where about 800 government soldiers are being killed every month.

It is estimated that 20,000 children running around Saigon streets lack parents.

Many foreigners believe the Vietnamese government has paid too little attention to the orphans of war. Government officials answer that these children should be taken care of by relatives.

Many of the orphans do make their way back to relatives, some of them living deep inside Communist zones.

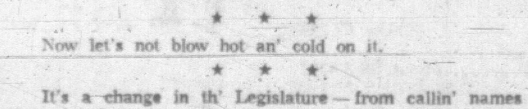
The situation is made worse by the Vietnamese habit of having families living with soldiers in remote outposts.

When the Viet Cong strike, civilian casualties are often higher than those of the soldiers.



There wuz a lot o' waverin' before we got it wavin'.

IN A PRIVATE flag-raising ceremony this morning officials of Victoria Press Limited joined the rest of the nation in recognizing Canada's new flag. From the left, R. J. Bower, publisher and editor-in-chief of the Colonist; W. A. Irwin, publisher of the Times, and Jack C. Throughout the city similar ceremonies took place during the lunch period.

But all was not protocol and ceremony as the new replaced the old throughout the city.

At the Legislative buildings the first maple leaf flag fluttered from the main flagpole at 7:21 a.m. Only four persons persons watched—a reporter, photographer, commissionaire and the custodian who removed the ensign and raised the national flag.

In magistrate's court the red ensign quietly disappeared from its place of honor to the right of the magistrate to be replaced by the maple leaf.

At the same time three other flags, one atop city hall and two smaller flags in Centennial Square were raised.

WELL BELOW

Most schools in the city had to pass up flag-raising ceremonies, although not because objections were raised over the new flag.

COMPROMISED

Flags ordered late failed to arrive in time for the noon changeover. Most schools have compromised and lowered the ensign to make way for the B.C. provincial flag until the new maple leaf designs arrive.

One school, Holy Angels, was different. It had a new flag on hand and duly raised it with brief ceremony at noon.

'GET BEHIND MAPLE LEAF' SAYS HAGGEN

Canadians should support the Maple Leaf flag flown officially for the first time today, said Mrs. Lois Haggen, NDP MLA for Grand Forks-Greenwood.

"Let's get behind it and make it mean something for the whole of Canada," she told the annual meeting of Esquimalt NDP Association Sunday afternoon.

Geoff Mitchell is vice-president, Mrs. Madge Siscoe secretary-treasurer and Joseph Siscoe provincial council delegate. Other executive members include Mrs. Doris Strannix, Joseph Fowler and Robert Pauwels.

. . . VANIER

The entire ceremony lasted one hour.

Prime Minister Pearson said that if Canada endures 1,000 years this day "will always be remembered as a milestone in Canada's national progress."

REFERS TO DEBATES

Referring to the stormy parliamentary debates and public controversies that preceded the adoption of the maple leaf in December, Mr. Pearson said:

"There are many in this country who regret the replacement of the Red Ensign by the red maple leaf. Their feelings and their emotions should be honored and respected.

"But I am sure, now that the decision has been made by the representatives of the Canadian people in Parliament assembled, that all Canadians, as good patriots, will accept that decision and fly with pride our national flag."

ters are not as concrete as you might think."

Mr. Balcer said there will be a meeting of the 10 Quebec Conservative MPs Tuesday and that he will then ask the other Quebec Tories to stay on for a few months.

Speaking in English, the former transport minister made no direct mention of party leader Diefenbaker, but he had scathing criticism for what he termed the current policies of the party.

"I believe this is the time to unite our country, not to divide it, and that it would be fatal for a truly national party to ignore the danger of dealing with subjects like the flag, repatriation of the constitution, the opting-out formula, the royal commission on biculturalism and bilingualism, federal - provincial relations and even the Canada Pension Plan, with a narrow, parochial, unreasoning criticism.

"And it is even more disturbing for national unity to adopt an across-the-board negative opposition instead of an objective criticism without prejudice."

Heroin Seized

NEW YORK (AP) — Narcotics bureau detectives have arrested Learlon Nettles, 41, whom they describe as one of New York City's most active heroin pushers. In his possession Friday night, police said, they found 11 pounds of uncut heroin, worth $250,000 in its unprocessed state. It has a potential value of more than $1,500,000.

Mr. Rouleau has told the inquiry that it was at his instigation that two ministerial assistants telephoned Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne, who is acting for the U.S. government in trying to extradite Rivard to the U.S.

Mr. Lamontagne testified a $20,000 bribe was offered him by Raymond Denis, former executive assistant to former immigration minister Tremblay, as an inducement to allow bail for Rivard while extradition proceedings were before the courts.

CALLED LAWYER

Mr. Lamontagne has testified that Mr. Rouleau telephoned him Aug. 11 and 12 asking to obtain Rivard's release on bail as a favor, and that Mr. Rouleau said the Liberal party was displeased with opposition to bail in the case.

Although Eric Nielsen (PC — Yukon) made no mention of Mr. Rouleau when making his revelations about the Rivard case in the Commons Nov. 23, the 41-year-old MP for Montreal Dollard riding quit as Mr. Pearson's parliamentary secretary the next day. He said he was resigning until his name was cleared.

Mr. Rouleau had postponed the rest until completing his testimony before the Dorion inquiry, Mr. Walker said.

'Reopen Korean War If Necessary'

HONG KONG (AP) — The Communist Chinese newspaper Ta Kung Pao said today China not only will enter the Vietnamese war but also will reopen the Korean War if U.S. troops cross the 17th parallel into North Viet Nam.

"If the United States expands the war in Viet Nam, the front line will extend from Viet Nam to Korea," the paper said.

Hong Kong's Ta Kung Pao is a sister newspaper to Peking's Ta Kung Pao, which follows China policy.

In the Korean war, China sent its troops across the Yalu River border to support North Korea after United Nations ground troops crossed the 38th parallel dividing North and South Korea, as the 17th parallel now divides North and South Viet Nam.

Rose Manor Expansion Under Way

A $20,000 reconstruction program at Rose Manor, 857 McClure Street, a home for elderly women, is under way.

The project, scheduled for completion in April, will provide 13 additional rooms for guests and two self-contained apartments for the matron and assistant matron.

A spokesman for the board of management said requests for admission last year made the expansion program necessary. The project was financed without recourse to federal and provincial grants.

The building accommodates 98 persons.

Donations to help furnish these rooms will be accepted by the non-profit care home. Already Beta Sigma Phi Society, a strong supporter of Rose Manor, has donated a sum for furnishing one of the new rooms.

It is hoped that other donations will follow from individuals and groups.

26 ON STAFF

The home is managed by a volunteer board of 15 women. The staff numbers 26.

Rose Manor had its start in 1898, when the "Friendly Help Society" rented from the Jubilee Hospital the premises at 857 McClure Street, then known as the Old French Benevolent Society Hospital. That year two elderly patients were admitted to the home.

In 1902 the home was incorporated under the Societies Act as the "Home for Elderly and Infirm Ladies." In 1905 the building was purchased from Jubilee Hospital for $2,800.

NEW WING

Expansion became necessary in 1908 and a new building was constructed. In 1938, a new wing was opened by Lieutenant-Governor E. W. Hamber.

Since the home was first started, the board of management has operated the institution on a non-profit basis.

This has been made possible by frequent donations and bequests from interested citizens.

Car Seizure Attempt Fails In Bootlegging

Evidence showed that a car registered to his name was found at that address and there was liquor locked in its trunk.

But, Magistrate William Ostler ruled today, in order to have the car confiscated the Crown would have had to prove the liquor "was kept in the car for sale." He decided that all that had been proved was that liquor was kept for sale in the house.

The magistrate reserved judgment on whether or not Tarko should be treated as a second offender. Decision will be given Thursday after the magistrate has studied judgments on points of law relating to the case.

CALL FOR UNITY

Calls for Communist unity came from both Peking and Moscow. Washington authorities said this was to be expected. They said it did not prove the Communist rivals were ready to bury their deep differences for the sake of united action in Southeast Asia.

On the diplomatic front there was a flurry by would-be peacemakers with little encouragement from the principals. Various suggestions came from UN Secretary-General U Thant, Indian Prime Minister Shastri, the French, the Canadians, the British and others.

Washington did not foreclose negotiations at some future date, but saw no basis for peace talks now with the United States strongly committed to staying in South Viet Nam and the Communists demanding that it pull out.

NO ELECTION LIKELY

MPs Get Ready To Resume Work

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Parliament will finish this year and go into the spring of 1966 without a general election if the Liberal minority government can survive motions of non-confidence expected to be moved by the Opposition in March and April. This is the belief of most MPs here Monday as they arrived for the resumption of the old session Tuesday.

A move of non-confidence in the Pearson administration cannot be introduced by the Opposition on supply motions during the resumed sittings of the second session of the 26th Parliament.

Consequently unless there is a censure motion introduced, members of Parliament do not think the life of the government will be in any serious danger for at least three to four weeks or more.

RELATIVE TRANQUILLITY

Barring new scandals, a period of relative tranquillity is expected to carry on while the members discuss new legislation to wind up the old session.

Mood of most of the members of Parliament appears to be one of getting the old session wound up and a start made on the third and new session of this Parliament. It may take six weeks or two months to complete work so that the old session can be finished.

Measures high up on the agenda of the old session:

- Canada Pension Plan.
- National Labor Code.
- Opting out financial legislation.

Should the minority government manage to survive motions of non-confidence early in the resumed session then the feeling of most MPs is that there will be no general election in 1965. Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition leader John Diefenbaker would not be likely to precipitate a general election at this time because both the old line parties are in disarray.

Communique Shows Rift Between China, Russia

Despite pledges of friendship, differences remained between Russia and Communist China on a common Viet Nam policy.

A communique issued after Kosygin's departure from North Korea Sunday condemned U.S. actions in Viet Nam as "criminal" and promised "necessary" defence assistance to North Viet Nam.

But the communique called at the same time for a relaxation of international tensions and continuation of the Kremlin policy of peaceful co-existence—a policy that is anathema to Peking.

Diplomatic analysts here said Kosygin had apparently gained a slight increase in Soviet influence in Asia from his 10-day mission. But the trip seemed to have caused new annoyances to the Chinese.

VIET NAM BRIEFS

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government has made no reply to a North Viet Nam request that international control commission bases in North Viet Nam be closed, a government source said Sunday night.

He said the government is unlikely to make any reply as the North Viet Nam request is strictly a matter for the commission to decide. But the government has instructed Canadian members of the commission on the stand they should take.

JAKARTA (AP)—The Indonesian government took over the American cultural centre "temporarily" today after a morning of Communist-inspired, anti-American demonstrations which ended without violence. U.S. Information Service director Paul Neilson said Indonesian authorities had assured the embassy the centre would be returned in a few days.

14 Die of Measles

TEHRAN (AP) — Last Wednesday's quake in northwest Iran knocked out communications and prevented medical aid from reaching 14 children who died in a measles epidemic, reports reaching here Sunday said. The reports said at least 22 villages were severely damaged in the quake, with five totally ruined. At least five persons were reported killed by the quake itself.

Police Bombed by Clues

LONDON (UPI) — Thieves stole about $280,000 worth of jewelry during the weekend then accidentally dropped a bagful of clues into a police boat, police said today.

It was the latest in a series of major hauls by British jewel and gold thieves.

Charles Packer, a jewelry merchant on London's expensive Regent Street, told police today that thieves broke into his store over the weekend and rifled a safe of jewels.

"They took nothing but the best," a store spokesman said. "They were obviously experts. It could well be that our loss is up to 100,000 pounds ($280,000)."

The loss was discovered when the store opened at 9 a.m. About an hour earlier, a brown shopping bag was dropped off Chelsea Bridge into a police launch that happened to be passing beneath. Police said the bag contained wrappings and empty boxes from the Packer store and a black shoe.

HYDROGEN BOMB TEST EXPECTED IN CHINA

LONDON (UPI)—Communist China may test a second nuclear device "very shortly," it was learned today. The weapon is likely to be a hydrogen bomb.

The Peking regime was understood to be accelerating its nuclear weapons program, including some form of delivery system.

Communist China detonated its first atomic device last October. Experts said the blast showed Peking was further advanced in atomic development than had been known.

3 ARRESTED

Dope Supply Line Broken

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police hope they have severed a west coast heroin supply line with the weekend arrest of two men here and another man in California.

Heroin worth $100,000 on the underworld market was seized in California and the price of the drug on the illicit market here is expected to jump sharply.

One of two raids here Friday night turned up a 39-foot power cruiser in suburban North Vancouver, containing equipment for "capping up" capsules of narcotics.

Nicholas Alexander Karpowich, 28, was arrested and charged with possession of narcotics, and Douglas Kelly, 28, was arrested and charged with possession for the purpose of trafficking. Both are from Vancouver.

The RCMP's drug squad is reported to have tipped narcotics agents in San Francisco ahead of time, making possible seizure of Vancouver flyer Roy Joseph Travis, 26, in Yuba City, Calif.

Travis was grabbed by officers of the Sutter county sheriff's office as he returned to his light plane at the Yuba City airport. Police found the bulk heroin under the plane's dashboard and charged Travis on several counts of drug possession.

RCMP described Travis as a "bright, intelligent" young man who had attended the University of British Columbia. They said he was listed as owner of the boat found in the North Vancouver raid.

The boat contained empty gelatin capsules, measuring scales, milk sugar used to cut pure heroin, and balloons for storing capsules of narcotics.

Under-sheriff Laverne Thrope of Sutter county sheriff's office said in a telephone interview that Travis had made two previous trips through Yuba city.

Travis had claimed under questioning that he was in reserve officer training while at UBC and flew 200 hours as an RCAF pilot before leaving the service.

Police said the 18 ounces of heroin seized in Yuba city were bought for about $300 an ounce in Mexico, would be sold to street pushers for about $72,000 and retailed to addicts for more than $100,000.

The price for a capsule of heroin—good for one or two fixes—is expected to jump to $20 from $15 because of the seizure.

Runaway Car Kills Three At Church

YEADON, Pa. (AP) — An auto suddenly shot out of control Sunday in a church parking lot as the driver reached over to close a door. The car rammed a group of parishioners against a church wall, killing two eight-year-old boys and a woman.

Four others were injured.

The dead boys, Anthony Munro and Paul Santoro, both of Yeadon, were in a group which had come out of the 9 a.m. mass for children at the St. Louis Roman Catholic Church.

Mrs. Antoinette Mangione, 57, also of Yeadon, died in hospital of injuries.

She was among a group of adults entering the church for the 10 a.m. mass.

Peter McGinnity, 60, the driver was treated in hospital for face and shoulder cuts and shock. He was held under $1,000 bail on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

MACHINES MOVE IN

Cave Explorer Dead

DOLGEVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — James Mitchell, 23, a chemist, was presumed dead as state police turned to earth-moving machines today to free him from a labyrinth-like cave that has held him captive since Saturday.

Cave-exploring experts Sunday night abandoned attempts to remove Mitchell, of Winthrop, Mass., by efforts entirely inside Schroede's Cave, near here and about 25 miles east of Utica.

a narrow shaft, near the top of Which he had descended Saturday as two fellow members of the Boston Grotto Club watched. A numbing, cold underground waterfall that had helped to prevent his ascent hampered rescue efforts.

William Karas, part of a rescue team flown here from Washington, D.C., made three crawls Sunday to the crater opening—about 300 feet from the cave entrance.

He said he used a stethescope and could not detect any sign of life in Mitchell. Karas lowered him to the bottom of the 75-foot crater to facilitate earth-moving operations.

Truck Set Ablaze

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Food-vending trucks have been parking beside C. G. Adams' confectionery and enticing his customers away. Police said, the 78-year-old Adams related in a written statement, he poured gasoline on a food truck and set it afire Saturday. He was arrested for investigation of arson.

The Flag of Canada

IN FORMAL CEREMONIES OR quiet individual recognition across the country today Canadians displayed for the first time a distinctive national flag. Thus the inevitable trend of nearly a century has become a fact; the proposals of recent decades and the bitter controversy of the past few months have culminated in an emblem which is ours and ours alone.

It would have been preferable if this significant event in our evolution could have been achieved amid wide agreement and ready acceptance. But the decision on whether or not to have a different flag, as well as that which would determine the design on the emblem, were destined to be made in an atmosphere of turmoil and dissension.

Those decisions have now been made—let no one in the storm of argument or the calm of nostalgia ignore that. They have been made by Parliament and their results have been proclaimed by the Queen. Canada has a flag and all Canadians of good will and good faith will now accept it as their own.

While the maple leaf design is one for Canada only, there is no reason why its adoption should diminish the affection in which many Canadians hold their British affiliation. Nor need there be; no country which spurns its origins can look with confidence to its future. The Union Jack may still be flown as an official flag across Canada. For that matter, it is a part of our heritage of freedom that an individual may fly any flag in this country. But the maple leaf is an emblem which all the component races of Canada can accept with admiration and observe with pride.

It was an act of political courage on the part of Prime Minister Pearson to translate into action what had for so long, by so many political leaders, been merely a casual election-time phrase. Although the risks were great and the conditions unpropitious, and although some wounds of sentiment may yet remain unhealed, Mr. Pearson has established a Canadian flag and he deserves full credit for his initiative.

It remains now for us Canadians to make what we will of our flag. The maple leaf has achieved recognition and significance as military insignia for Canadian forces abroad. It has yet to become a revered national emblem with real significance at home. Only time can give it that status—time and our conscious effort to develop a nation which stands for those qualities of honor, courage and integrity which we wish our flag to symbolize before all men.

Delay on the Railway Bill

REPORTS FROM OTTAWA indicate that the government plans to hand over to a Commons committee for further hearings the railway bill based on the report of the MacPherson Commission on Transportation. This promises a delay of six months or more in implementing legislation which was brought before the Commons at the last session as a priority measure.

The move to committee, if it meets with expected all-party approval, could have the effect of vitiating much of the royal commission's work. The MacPherson report was handed in to the previous government in January of 1962 and represents nearly two years of hearings and economic studies leading to the conclusion that a general streamlining of railway operations is necessary. In broad terms, the recommendations included in the bill which was introduced at the last session called for abandonment of uneconomic branch lines and passenger services and establishment of most freight rates by competition.

Quite predictably almost every recommendation has met with opposition from some quarter. Almost every prairie town on a branch line which would be abandoned has protested vigorously, even though in most cases the lines are no longer of real economic significance. Shippers who use the rail services are worried about the effects of leaving freight rates to competitive pressures. They want them to remain under government regulations even though this will mean continuing high subsidies.

All the groups and interests opposing the railway bill had ample opportunity to make their stands known in the commission hearings and most of them did so. Now, apparently, they are to be given another opportunity. This time they will be heard by a legislative committee where political considerations can reasonably be expected to be weighed along with the obvious economic necessity of putting Canadian railroad operations on a rational basis.

Since one of the more obvious benefits of royal commissions is the removal of controversial matters from the influence of parochial politics, the government's decision is questionable. Counting the number of votes in Kamsack, Saskatchewan, or Neepawa, Manitoba, hardly seems like a reasonable approach to the economics of railroad operations.

Get On With Royal Oak

HEALTH MINISTER MARTIN'S announcement in the legislature that the government will add 100 beds to the Tranquille school for retarded children is fine as far as it goes.

However, the minister's own figures on the need for even more accommodation indicate that not nearly enough is being done. Mr. Martin downgraded last year's claim by the Opposition that there was a waiting list of 830 patients. But his own figure for the number of retarded children who need institutional care is still 450 and he admits that 200 of these need to be admitted as soon as possible.

Admission of 100 children to the Tranquille addition, hopefully by next fall, still leaves 100 children who need care immediately and another 250 who will likely need care within a short time.

That looks like a deficit of 350 beds in the retarded children's school program and a very sound argument in favor of getting on with the proposed 400-place school at Royal Oak immediately. If Mr. Martin continues to delay construction at Royal Oak for another couple of years he could well find the waiting list greatly increased.

Read the Small Print

THE ITEM CARRIED NO BIG headline. It stated in modest type that arrangements were being made for certain juveniles to pursue an interesting activity.

Under the direction of a competent adult, boys 10 to 16 would be offered instruction in forestry and conservation in a program sponsored by the Canadian Forestry Association of B.C.

This is one of scores of activities available to our young people—and one that is genuinely appreciated by a substantial number of them. There is a multitude of others—Scouting, YMCA programs, organized instruction by church groups, sports bodies, hobby specialists, outdoor clubs.

These may make little news. But they help youngsters to remain in that law-abiding, cheerful majority which avoids the bold black headlines earned by the minority of juveniles who misbehave.

—Bierman, Victoria Daily Times.

FROM WASHINGTON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Mr. Kosygin's Hideous Surprise

THE abrupt, belated change in the basic pattern of the Vietnamese war has confronted the Soviet leaders with harder, more thorny and more complex choices than most people realize.

Alsop

In order to see the real nature of the thorns, it is first of all necesary to understand how the astute Soviet prime minister, Alexei Kosygin, happened to be in Hanoi conferring with the North Vietnamese Communists when the events of a week ago suddenly changed the whole pattern of the war:

The Kosygin mission to Hanoi would have been quite unimaginable in the long earlier period when extreme prudence, amounting almost to standoffishness, was the characteristic feature of the Kremlin's dealings with the North Vietnamese. The motive of this prudence, quite obviously, was the Kremlin's expectation that the United States would finally be pushed too far and would then use American power to the full to avert a great American defeat in Southeast Asia.

Because of this expectation, the Soviets avoided entanglement and gave the North Vietnamese only the most threadbare verbal support. This Soviet posture in turn gave the Chinese Communists an opening, which they promptly used, to force the unhappy North Vietnamese to side with them in their great quarrel with the Soviets.

This situation for the Soviets was uncomfortable, but supportable, as long as they felt they could count on American power being used to avert a great American defeat. But when they ceased to feel this—as seems to have happened last November, and for good reasons—the whole equation was radically transformed.

On the one hand, the risk of entanglement with the North Vietnamese was nil if American power was not going to be more forcefully used. And on this assumption, on the other hand, American defeat was also foreseeable.

Triumph for Chinese

Furthermore, unless the Soviets had meanwhile changed their policy very sharply indeed, this was not only going to be a defeat for the United States. It was, also and above all, going to be a triumph for the Chinese Communists. And as a triumph for the Chinese it was going to be a fearful defeat for the Soviets.

For these highly practical reasons, the Soviets hurriedly set out to steal the lion's share of the expected Chinese triumph. It was a fairly easy thing to do, for every Vietnamese in his senses is deathly afraid of being left alone with kind, fraternal China—as Viet Nam had been. Hence, every Vietnamese in his sense prefers Soviet support, if it can be obtained, to the dangerous support of the great neighbor to the north.

The Soviets did not limit themselves, either, to moving to supplant the Chinese as the great supporters of North Viet Nam. Kosygin and Party Chairman Brezhnev also began a series of meetings with the North Korean ambassador in Moscow. Here, too, the new line began to pay off. The North Koreans, formerly the most faithful echoes of the Chinese, suddenly abandoned their public attacks on Moscow. It looked as though another satellite were about to be detached from Peking.

Contradiction

These were the background circumstances of Kosygin's journey to Hanoi. The widespread theory that the North Vietnamese then took Kosygin by surprise—that they somehow mousetrapped their guest by the attack on the U.S. camp at Pleiku—is flatly contradicted by the facts.

In the first place, there were ample precedents for the Pleiku attack in the earlier disastrous attack on the U.S. airfield at Bien Hoa and in the subsequent bombing of an officers barracks in Saigon. After both of these earlier incidents, Gen. Maxwell Taylor had vainly recommended direct reprisals against North Viet Nam. Hence, there were also ample precedents for American passivity and nonresponse.

In the second place, both sides in the Vietnamese fighting had tacitly agreed to a sort of semi-ceasefire during the national holiday, Tet, as it is called. But the North Vietnamese had told the world, in their press and on their radio, that as soon as the days of Tet were over they would resume the offensive with earth-shaking vigor.

Breaking Precedents

Kosygin was, therefore, on notice that something like the Pleiku attack was coming long before he took his plane to Hanoi. The attack itself cannot have surprised him in the least. But he must have been hideously surprised by the vigorous American reaction, breaking two clear previous precedents and giving a wholly new turn to the war.

Kosygin's surprise is in fact the price that President Lyndon Johnson must pay for waiting so long to make up his mind. It would have been far less risky to get tough in Viet Nam in the earlier period when the Soviets were so carefully avoiding entanglement. But that, alas, is spilt milk, which there is no profit in crying over.

Inspiration Needed

January 1 was the start of International Co-operation Year, honoring the 20th anniversary of the United Nations General Assembly. Now, in 1965, a general conference of the United Nations should be called to consider peace-keeping methods.

When the history of this period is written—the trials and tribulations experienced as road signs were erected to guide the charter of "We, the peoples . . .", Canada's voice and actions, I believe, will be credited with helping towards success.

The year 1965 could be the year we have been striking for, when the nations of the world decided to seek peace through international law and order.

Long live the United Nations!

Thanks for Help

The Victoria Minor Hockey Association staged a very successful Minor Hockey Night January 28.

The 625 boys playing in the Victoria association did their best to please families and friends who had come to see them play. We think they put on a fine show too.

In addition to the efforts of those within the association we would like to thank all others who assisted.

Toughening

By RICHARD PURSER
from Washington

A WEEK of dramatic action in Viet Nam has made it impossible for President Johnson to heed the "let's get out of Southeast Asia" segment of Washington opinion. By authorizing the U.S. and South Vietnamese air attacks on Communist installations in North Viet Nam he has laid U.S. prestige firmly on the line. Any backdown to a renewed policy of drift would be the crowning disillusionment for Southeast Asian anti-Communists.

Purser

Calls for a negotiated peace, such as came from French President de Gaulle, are being brushed aside here almost with contempt. The only kind of peace Mr. Johnson is interested in is one in which North Viet Nam leaves its southern neighbor alone. In effect, the line has been drawn at the 17th parallel—the line which Communists cannot cross without fighting the United States.

The president hopes this will dawn on North Viet Nam's leaders before the South Viet Nam war has to be extended in earnest to North Viet Nam. In his statement last week he made it clear he was not afraid to extend the war if his hand was forced. If North Viet Nam continues its tough tactics in the south, it faces at the very least the wholesale demolition of its bases and infiltration supply lines. American and South Vietnamese commanders are anxious for an excuse to mount such an operation.

Doubts Evaporated

The doubts that persisted early into the week about the depth of North Viet Nam's responsibility for Communist Viet Cong activities in South Viet Nam have evaporated since Wednesday's raids. The South Viet Nam war now is considered an undeclared contest between the U.S. and North Viet Nam.

This U.S. exercise in line-drawing is a major gamble. If North Viet Nam does not wish to call off the war, it can call on China for aid. This will put Chinese prestige on the spot. So far China has supported North Viet Nam in the present crisis mainly by throwing the dictionary at the United States. But an unanswered plea for rescue by its ally and neighbor would not do much for China's image in Afro-Asian eyes.

The United States thinks it can win the gamble as long as it does not threaten North Vietnamese independence or mount a land invasion of that country. The maximum American goal, if North Viet Nam persists in intensifying the southern war, is destruction through sea and air power of North Viet Nam's ability to funnel guerrillas and equipment to South Viet Nam. By pursuing such a limited goal, it is believed, the Chinese can be encouraged to limit their aid to planes, arms, "advisers," etc.

The idea is to avoid another Korea—that is, the direct confrontation of Chinese and American ground troops. It can be done if neither side miscalculates.

Looking Back

From the Times of Feb. 15, 1890:

Toronto—The University of Toronto was totally destroyed by fire and damage is estimated at more than $500,000. The fire occurred just before 300 guests were to arrive. It began after a man dropped lamps to be put in chandeliers, spilling oil down stairs and across floors. Sir Daniel Wilson, the university president, was carried heartbroken and physically incapable from the grounds. All the buildings were destroyed including the library, worth $100,000.

A Perplexing Mr. Douglas

By MAURICE WESTERN

MR. T. C. DOUGLAS, who hates to be out-done by the older parties, has been in Montreal adding his bit to the current mysteries of Canadian politics. On his arrival in the city Mr. Douglas advised a Montreal Star reporter that "Conservative leadership problems and current investigations into the Liberal administration have provided the NDP with an opportunity to make "the greatest breakthrough since the party was founded."

Western

But somewhat later at his press conference the NDP leader denied that his party is counting on Liberal troubles to gain ground. According to the Gazette, he elaborated on this by pointing out that "any party hoping to get votes because of a scandal is leaning on a broken reed."

Puzzling

This sequence of thought is distinctly puzzling. It might suggest to less charitable minds that Mr. Douglas' stream of ideas had been interrupted between the two interviews, possibly by disturbing reports from Saskatchewan. A more kindly explanation is that Mr. Douglas was thinking in relative terms. As the great breakthrough of 1962 yielded 19 seats and the lesser breakthrough of 1963 only 17 seats, it might be possible even with a broken reed, to establish a new record of 20.

We now turn, however, to a larger mystery, this time encompassed in two statements reported from the same interview. As the NDP is to take a high line, averting its gaze from the troubles of other parties, Mr. Douglas must obviously be counting upon other means for the performance of his political miracles. This is indeed the case. "We're hoping," said the New Democratic leader, "that our constructive policies and our ideology will attract voters."

Looking a bit deeper into the future, Mr. Douglas predicted re-alignments leading to a new two-party system. "One party," he explained, "will be slightly left of centre, the other party slightly right."

Turned Down

While there may have been minor modifications, the "constructive policies" of the NDP are essentially those which the country emphatically turned down in 1962 and 1963. Mr. Douglas did announce that he is about to unveil a new policy on relations between Quebec and the rest of Canada. But as the NDP founding convention also produced a new policy for Quebec, which achieved nothing in terms of political gains, it seems unlikely that a politician of Mr. Douglas' experience is gambling too heavily on the revised version.

This leaves ideology. It is odd that we should come down to this because it has been generally assumed that the NDP differed from the old CCF in its relative freedom from ideology. In the good old manifesto and left book club days, the CCF did, indeed, glory in its socialist ideology and, as late as the NDP founding convention, sincere voices were raised in protest against assertions that socialism had become a "bad word." But it was not these voices which carried the day. What on earth was the justification for the long and painful metamorphosis of the CCF into the NDP if it is now the conviction of Mr. Douglas that ideology will do the trick?

Liberal Projects

In the course of his Montreal visit, Mr. Douglas said that the NDP would insist upon the passage of two measures, the Canada Pension Plan and the National Labor Code Bill, at the present session. This was scarcely an ideological pronouncement because both are Liberal projects. In general, the NDP differs from the older parties less in its willingness to spend money on them, regardless of the state of the national accounts. One can spend for an ideology, but it would be difficult to argue that spending in itself is ideological.

In any case we are not at the end of the difficulty. Although Mr. Douglas has committed himself to the objectives of the Deutsch report, the NDP concept of planning differs in a manner left rather vague from that of the Liberals. It may may be that Mr. Douglas, cherishing the memory of his former speeches, has a secret aspiration to re-transform his party into the ideological CCF. A good, old-fashioned program of nationalization and state controls would clearly differentiate the party and would invite debate, regardless of the results in terms of votes.

But how can this be reconciled with the goal of a party "slightly left of centre"? There may be argument, at any given time, as to where the centre of political thought is to be found. But obviously, for a long time past, it has been very far removed from socialism. How does Mr. Douglas propose to be ideological while diverging only slightly from the centre of politics?

Old Goal

Furthermore, if we do attain this blessed two party state, with one party slightly to the right and the other slightly to the left of the political centre, will we not in fact have achieved the general goal of the old, pragmatic and non-ideological parties? It could, no doubt be demonstrated that Mr. Diefenbaker in 1957 and Mr. Pearson in 1963 were in the very position on which Mr. Douglas has set his heart. The NDP leader is bent on a change which would effect no difference, except in one interesting detail.

Many have argued that it would be most disirable to get back to a two-party system. The outstanding dissenter of 1961-63 was Mr. Douglas who was strongly in favor of minority parliaments with the NDP holding the balance of power. Is he now convinced of his former error? It is all very perplexing. Mr. Douglas might be well advised to make up his own mind on what he wants before going about the alarming business of turning the country upside down to get it.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

By Elizabeth Forbes

Facts gathered for a column like this are sometimes so touching it's hard to know how much to write or where to stop.

Persons concerned are so courageous, it would be easy to use paragraphs of superlatives.

That's the way it is with the story I'm now going to tell you.

It's about Mrs. W. H. De Costa.

Only her intimate friends know her by that name. To every style-conscious woman she is Rosalie.

In her tiny shop on Blanshard Street she has designed and made hats for Government House garden parties, for the opening of the Legislature, for wedding parties and for every other important event you can name in Victoria.

She has taught hundreds of women to make hats. Some of her pupils now have classes and one at least has her own shop.

* * *

Add to this the fact that for several summers she took a couple of mornings a week to teach the rudiments of millinery to the 12 and 14-year-old daughters of friends, on the patio in the back garden of her home and you have a quick run-down on a good citizen quietly going about creating beauty.

To her this was—and still is—the essence of living.

But the fates were not content to leave Rosalie happily busy amongst her friends.

It started slowly with an ear ache, sore jaw and strained neck cords. Soon it progressed to a point where diagnosis pointed to cancer.

* * *

A series of operations followed. Much of one side of her jaw was taken away. Part of her tongue was sacrificed. The knives went deep along the curve of her neck.

That was quite a few months ago now.

Today, Rosalie is back in her shop. She is giving classes again. And, what is even better, she is designing and creating her beautiful millinery.

Faith and determination have given her back the power to talk, even if she now has only half a tongue.

A few days ago she told me proudly: "I can say every letter of the alphabet . . . even the hard ones."

She gets tired, of course, if she tries to say too much. Her jaw seizes up and the nerves hurt.

"But I can talk," she says, with a look of happiness in her eyes, "and that's the main thing!"

* * *

I've no doubt her doctors would give much of the credit to the will power and determination of this woman with the clever fingers.

She, in turn, gives all the praise to her doctors and to the cancer society that provided the hospital with needed equipment to help—the Cobalt bomb in particular.

Between her several visits to hospital, Rosalie decided there was a way she could show how grateful she was for this help. One big way.

She would stage a millinery parade with as many of her fabulous handmade creations as she could design.

Plans were started. Materials were ordered. But she had to take further treatments and the show was postponed.

Now the plans have been completed and "Fashion Adventure" is to be presented to the public at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, Monday, Feb. 22, in the morning from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and again from 8 to 10 in the evening.

* * *

Mrs. George R. Pearkes, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia will open the affair. Ensembles to complement Rosalie's millinery will be presented by W. and J. Wilson, Ltd.

Tickets, posters, and the foods that will be served for morning and evening coffee, have been donated. Even the clubhouse was made possible through a friend.

Under Rosalie's fingers, gorgeous spring hats have taken shape. A good half dozen are in the "My Fair Lady" image. (Her son took her to see the show when she was recuperating from the operations at his home in Miami).

There are big hats and little ones, saucy ones and demure ones in straws, silks, satins and flowers.

Every cent of money made from the show is going to the cancer society.

* * *

Rosalie herself has opened a trust account in her bank for this purpose. She showed me the entries, one each day since the book was started. Total had reached $300 when I saw it—all from advance ticket sales.

Rosalie hopes for more than twice this amount. She has the tickets at her store on Blanshard Street.

It's your move.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Walter Alvarez

In my long life I have never been bitten by a dog—I imagine because early I learned a few things to do and not to do to a dog. Obviously, one must never tease a dog, and especially a strange dog. Many a child who has been badly bitten had it coming to him—after teasing, annoying or hurting a dog.

I hate to see a dog being given to a small boy of four or five because he hasn't yet sense enough not to know that what he does to the animal is hurting him. I have seen a boy of four drive his finger right into the eye of his dog.

* * *

I love dogs, and so when I meet one, perhaps in the home of a friend, I am ready to be friendly. But I wait for the dog to come to me, and then I move very slowly so as not to alarm him. First I let my arm drop slowly so that he can smell me, and thus see if he thinks I am the sort of fellow he cares to associate with.

We must remember that a dog decides about such matters with his nose much more than with his eyes. I never reach out to pet a dog until I see that he has accepted me. All the time I will be talking to him in a soothing and friendly way. Then if I keep scratching him back of his ears, he will stay by me for an hour.

* * *

I never try to intrude on the privacy of one of the wolf-like dogs such as a spitz, a chow or an Alaskan husky, because he is probably a "one-man dog," who won't want to have anything to do with me.

Only once was I attacked by a dog. One day as I walked past a house, a savage-looking bulldog came tearing at me, growling and evidently intending to bite. I knew enough not to try running away, and so for a moment, I stood still; but then, seeing that the dog was still intent on attacking me, I let out a yell and ran at him. With this he was so startled that with a yelp he fled back into his yard. After that for a while the dog and I played this game every day as I walked to work. But then a passerby ran from him and was badly bitten, and with this, his mistress got rid of him.

* * *

In the winter number of that interesting journal "Family Safety" is the best article I have ever seen on avoiding trouble with dogs. As the author says, every so often a child is badly mauled by a dog. Oftentimes it is the child's fault for having teased the animal or having tried to take his food away from him.

To avoid having a biting type of dog, the owner should know enough to handle him and train him, especially in his puppy days. The dog should learn who is boss around the place—a kindly boss, but still the boss. One reason why some poodles are so neurotic is that they are constantly fussed over, but rarely disciplined with a firm hand. A dog, like many a child, needs a firm and kindly hand.

A puppy that misbehaves should be taken by the scuff of the neck and given one shake. Occasionally he may need one clout, but no dog should ever be given a beating.

Experts say dogs seldom bite unless invited to do this. A study of many bites showed that in two or three cases, the dog had been provoked. Many dog bites are due to the person's having tried to break up a dog fight. When greatly excited, a dog can bite even his master. According to a study made in Pittsburgh, the dogs most likely to bite are boxers, collies, Eskimo dogs, German shepherds, Great Danes, St. Bernards, and Doberman pinschers. Hounds have a low "bite count."

Children should be taught not a walk up to a strange dog and certainly not to start teasing him; also not to run from a dog.

HINDI CONTROVERSY

Language Barrier Isolation Feared

By V. M. NAIR

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—The fear of economic isolation behind a language barrier has driven thousands of southern Indians to protest against the adoption of Hindi as India's national language.

Despite the retention of English as an "associate language," and promises by Hindi-speaking Premier Shastri that no one will be penalized for not speaking Hindi, or forced to speak it, fears continue.

The fear is that in time only Hindi-speaking people will have the country's better jobs, better government positions, better opportunities.

Some southern Indians are openly speaking of seceding and forming a separate south Indian state if the government does not back down on the issue.

And 250,000,000 people, mostly in the southern triangle of India which dips down into the Indian Ocean, do not speak Hindi as a mother tongue.

For them English, the language of a departed conqueror, has been the language of unity and opportunity.

SPEAK 14 LANGUAGES

India has 14 main languages spoken by 1,000,000 or more people each, and 225 dialects, some of them with no written alphabet.

Hindi became India's official language Jan. 26, 15 years after the adoption of the Indian constitution. But long before that an amendment assured the continuance of English as an "associate language."

English is still the language of many textbooks and the medium of instruction in many schools and colleges. It also is the language of most higher courts and the main means of communication between the government and foreign countries.

The study of Hindi is compulsory in all schools, starting from the primary stage, but the language still is not commonly used in non-Hindi-speaking areas.

Observers believe it will take another 10 years or more before Hindi becomes the common language of these areas.

Some enthusiasts, headed by Socialist leader Ram Manohar Lohia, want the immediate abolition of English, its erasure from signs and the removal of statues of British statesmen and monarchs.

OPPOSES 'IMPOSITION'

Another group, led by the Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam party of south India bitterly opposes the "imposition" of Hindi on non-Hindi-speaking people.

One legislator who opposed continued use of English lit a fire outside the Parliament building to "purify the atmosphere." Later, an opponent of Hindi committed suicide by fire because of the "imposition." There have been at least three suicides so far.

Riots in Madras State, where the main language is Tamil, took at least 50 lives.

If Shastri gives way to the south and proposes a constitutional amendment to ensure continuance of English, he will meet strong opposition from Hindu protagonists in the north.

If he stands by assurances that Hindi will not be imposed, but does not follow them with legislative action, the trouble in the south is likely to continue.

Complicating the English-versus-Hindi argument is the fact that even in the Indian Parliament there are 100 members who speak neither language.

Cathedral Commemorates Big Invasion

PORTSMOUTH, England (CP)—The Bishop of Portsmouth said today it is a strange oversight that England, launching pad of history's biggest invasion, has permitted the annual anniversary to pass without observance. He hopes to correct this.

"Now is the time to do something to commemoate D-Day, while some of those who took part in it are still alive," said Dr. J. H. L. Phillips, Anglican bishop of this historic port from which much of the invasion armada sailed.

Dr. Phillips called a press conference to announce plans for completion of Portsmouth Cathedral, part of which is 800 years old, as a memorial. A special service will be held June 6, the 21st anniversary of D-Day, falling this year on Whit Sunday, one of Britain's main holiday weekends.

Dr. Phillips said his project will cost an estimated £350,000 and expressed confidence help will be received from people "throughout Britain, the Commonwealth and the United States, who took part in this greatest of all military operations."

Trafficker Jailed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lorne D. Wenn of Vancouver, a self-confessed heroin addict, was sentenced to five years in prison Friday when he was found guilty of trafficking narcotics. Police arrested Wenn last November as he attempted to board a plane to Victoria. They found 20 heroin capsules in a balloon in his mouth.

Cuba Cutting Crime Rate With Dedicated Campaign

By MICHAEL ARKUS

HAVANA (Reuters)—Cuba is engaged in an all-out war on crime.

Crime is considered here to be an inevitable hangover from capitalistic days, destined to disappear with the advent of Communism.

But even ideologists of the United Cuba Socialist Revolutionary party, while looking forward to a crime-free society, admit that it will be a long struggle.

It is not, they agree, merely a matter of removing overnight what they call "a phenomenon abnormal in socialism."

In a recent speech referring directly to criminals, Premier Fidel Castro said:

"We cannot fail to take drastic measures, otherwise society would be at the mercy of these anti-social elements. We must fight them as we should fight a plague, as we should fight an epidemic."

REVIEWS CRIME

Cuba Socialista, the party's ideological organ, was not slow to take up the cudgels with a wide-ranging review of crime from what it called its inherent basis and proliferation in capitalist society to Cuban methods of eradicating it.

In an extension of the propaganda war, the magazine—on whose board both Castro and President Osvaldo Dorticos sit—lashed out at the United States as the "principal factory of cinema and press poison, encouraging and exalting violence and crime."

The fact that crime still exists in socialist Cuba five years after Castro's revolution is ascribed mainly to the presence of "parasites" who flourished in pre-revolutionary days.

But the authorities claim a 10 per cent drop in the first four years of the regime in the two most common classes of crime here—crimes against the human person, such as murder and causing bodily harm, and crimes against property, such as theft and wilful damage.

FEWER OFFENCES

Official statistics recently published for 1963 listed the former at 13,760 compared with 15,329 in the last year of the previous regime of dictator Fulgencio Batista, and the latter at 10,801 compared with 11,882.

The main weapon in the Cuban armory against crime is the "immunization of the people" by conditioning them through the use of mass media.

This, ideologists claim, will eventually eliminate the bourgeois mentality. This stimulates egoism which was bequeathed by the capitalist regime and still survives in the minds of considerable sections of the population. That, they feel, is why the Cuban radio, television, press and movies no longer glorify violence and crime but offer programs with a highly educative content.

Cuba Socialista contrasted this with the "North American imperialists who, not content with poisoning the United States people and youth with their films, books and reviews, export this merchandise to the whole world, thus extending their iniquitous influence."

ISOLATE OFFENDERS

Parallel with this general conditioning, the magazine continued, goes a system of preventive detention aimed at isolating and re-educating people such as prostitutes and gamblers, who, though they may have committed no actual crime, lead lives which make them liable to do so.

Thus, at the Free America Re-educative Centre, some 250 prostitutes are undergoing courses designed to teach them the errors of their former way of life. At the same time, they are given a general education, taught dressmaking, and take part in sports and dancing.

When an actual crime is committed, however, the authorities can be ruthless. The death penalty may be passed for what they consider to be serious crimes such as burglary, inciting minors to commit offences, or offences by public officials.

Such crimes described as "counter-revolutionary" because of their gravity, are said to have decreased by 40 per cent in Havana since the introduction of the death penalty in 1963.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Early Gains Cut Sharply

Al markets remained a little higher but in New York, early gains were cut sharply towards the end of trading today.

Toronto and Montreal both reported moderate activity.

AT TORONTO B.C. Forest Products was ahead 1¼ to 31¼, while Burns rose a point to 21. Bell Telephone was up ¾, and B.A. Oil, CPR and Chemcell ⅛ each.

Bruck Mills A advanced 2⅞ to 30⅞ and the B issue 1½ to 15½. Bank of Montreal and Canadian Breweries gained ¼ apiece.

Among speculatives, Bata Petroleum added ½ to 12 cents.

Golds were strong, with Dome up ½ and Campbell Red Lake ⅝. Home B gained ⅝ among oils.

AT NEW YORK volume for the day was estimated at 5,800,000 shares compared with 4,940,000 Friday.

The advance on average was cut back sharply by Chrsyler, which sank well over a point, and du Pont, which converted a one-point gain to a net loss of more than a 2 points.

Du Pont's $1.25 dividend with $1.50 a year ago, but that was before du Pont divested itself of its final holdings of 17,000,000 shares of General Motors Stock.

Oils affected by merger or takeover posibilities were prominent. Texas Gulf Sulphur gained more than a point.

Canadian Pacific was aheaad ⅞ and McIntyre Porcupine ½ among Canadian issues. Walker-Gooderham fell ½, and Distillers Seagrams gained .

AT MONTREAL industrial volume at 2 p.m. was 123,000 shares and mines and oils 1,124,000.

Utilities were strong with Bell Telephone up a point and CPR ¾.

Papers were also up. Price Bros. added ¾.

In trade and finance issues Industrial Acceptance added ¼.

All other issues were on their way up after last week's drop.

AT LONDON stock markets were quietly mixed today, with Friday's British trade figures a restraining influence.

Gilt-edged had a dull appearance. Dollar stocks rallied in reflection of Wall Street values.

Among leading Canadian issues, recording gains of as much as three points, were Abitibi, Algoma, BA Oil, Consolidated Mining, Hollinger, Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas, Imperial Oil, International Nickel, Massey-Ferguson, Noranda, Trans-Canada Pipe and Brazilian Traction. Canadian Pacific was firm.

AT VANCOUVER fairly active trading was recorded before noon today.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP) — A liquidation jam in the face of the almost-over U.S. dock strike took soybean futures sharply lower on the board of trade for the second straight session. There also was weakness in prices of other grain contracts.

WINNIPEG (CP) — American market declines were reflected in most trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Feed grains were steady.

Sharp declines in Chicago soybeans caused recessions of of several cents in rapeseed and more than a cent in flax. Liberal offerings met purchasing by overseas accounts on declines.

There was some shipping demand in barley, and 4,000 tons were reported sold to Britain.

Oats trade was light and domestic.

Tax Cut; Wage Freeze Suggested for Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — An international organization suggests tax cuts and possibly wage and salary restraints may be needed if Canada is to keep up its boom in 1965.

The suggestions are made in an annual study of the Canadian economy prepared by the 21 - member Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development, of which Canada is a member.

The survey, prepared in Paris last December, says the expansion of activity which marked Canada's economy in 1964 "should continue well into 1965, but the pace of advance may slow down somewhat unless fresh measures to stimulate demand are taken."

The fresh measures suggested are in the field of fiscal policy — tax cuts, incentive exemptions and the like.

It also suggests "some form of an incomes policy" may be helpful in reducing Canada's current account deficit in balance of payments. This is the policy in Britain, Sweden and Holland which attempts to hold down the rise in general wages and other incomes to a rate compatible with rising productivity and stable prices.

EXPECT EXPORT INCREASE

The review says that in 1965 "Exports should continue to grow, but less fast than over the last year when exceptionally large wheat sales were an important factor.

"The rise in business investment demand may also slow down, following the strong increase over the last year."

The report also says the marked change in the federal budgetary position — revenues sufficiently buoyant to cut the initially forecast deficit of $455,000,000 to perhaps less than $200,000,000 — "would seem likely to exert a dampening impact on the expansion over the rest of the present fiscal year."

"The labor force is rising rapidly," the report also states, "and it is not clear whether the expansion will be strong enough to achieve a further decline in unemployment."

The report notes that monetary policy is mainly geared to balance of payments needs, and using fiscal policy to counteract swings in demand is difficult in Canada because of the distribution of authority among the federal and provincial governments.

"But it is important, as federal - provincial relationships evolve, that the need for a flexible fiscal policy for demand management purposes should be kept in view."

DEFICIT ROSE IN 1964

The report says that Canada's deficit in current account balance of payments fell steadily from a peak of about $1,500,000,000 in 1959 to about $500,000,000 in 1963, but rose in 1964.

"No substantial further reduction seems likely in the very near future," the report adds. "This, however, remains one of the aims of the Canadian authorities. A key element in achieving it lies in the maintenance of price stability.

"Experience from certain other countries suggests that, in full employment conditions, with strong pressure on costs and prices, some form of an incomes policy represents a useful supplement to existing policy instruments, and some other countries are seeking to make progress in this direction."

ABEL CLAIMS VICTORY IN STEEL UNION VOTE

PITTSBURGH (AP)—I. W. Abel says he has won the United Steelworkers' Union presidency, and plans to make extra sure through protests that could wipe out "many thousands" of opposition votes.

The USW secretary-treasurer broke a three-day silence at the weekend by issuing a statement saying he had defeated incumbent David J. McDonald in Tuesday's election by at least 10,000 votes.

Earlier, McDonald predicted victory for himself.

The Abel statement said:

"We are in the process of collecting information on voting irregularities in a number of places and we believe that as a result of the protests which will be filed, the incumbent president will lose many thousands of additional votes."

The statement did not go into detail.

An aide at McDonald's headquarters called the statement "ballyhoo and speculation."

Abel's statement brought the first clear-cut indication from either candidate that protests will be filed on alleged voting irregularities.

PENSION END

'Tactics Changed But Goal Same'

TORONTO (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon said Sunday that some special interests still violently oppose the Canada Pension Plan while saying they favor it if further amended.

He said in a speech that Parliament should enact the plan as it now exists. Later, further measures could be taken by Parliament in the welfare field.

Mr. Gordon spoke at ceremonies marking the 47th anniversary of Lithuanian independence, sponsored by the Federation of Lithuanian Canadians.

Mr. Gordon said Parliament will have important work to do when the session resumes Tuesday, and there should be an end to partisan squabbling.

The Canada Pension Plan was "probably the greatest single measure of social security ever tackled in this country," he said.

"Certain special interests which for the past two years have been violently opposing the Canada Pension Plan now have suddenly come out in its favor provided it is altered quite materially.

"This apparent change of heart should not fool anybody. I expect these interests are just as bitterly opposed to the Canada Pension Plan as they ever were."

"Their recent ploy in urging major changes may be an attempt to discredit the whole proposal and thus bring about its defeat."

Mr. Gordon did not identify the "special interests."

Chrysler Earnings

NEW YORK (AP)—Chrysler Corp., the third largest U.S. automaker, today reported record net profits for 1964 of $213,770,302 or $5.46 a share.

This compared with net income of $161,595,098 or $4.19 a share in 1963.

More Freedom In Trade Sought

TORONTO (CP)—Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp said Saturday that if the Kennedy round of tariff talks has limited results, he would favor negotiating with other countries willing to have freer trade.

Mr. Sharp, answering questions at the winter conference of the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs, said he believed the Kennedy round of talks would result in substantial reductions in tariffs, although the cuts might be less than the 50 per cent originally envisaged.

The talks in Geneva, under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, are designed to promote international trade by broad reductions in tariffs and other trade barriers.

Mr. Sharp was questioned by Isaiah Frank, professor of international economics at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore and a former economics adviser to the United States government.

Prof. Frank asked Mr. Sharp if Canada would be willing to negotiate more limited arrangements on a regional basis — which might include Canada, the U.S., Britain and perhaps other members of the European Free Trade Association — if the Kennedy round became stalled or the European Common Market decided not to make any tariff cuts.

Mr. Sharp replied: "My personal view is that we'd be prepared to consider an alternative to the multilateral approach."

Under further questioning by Prof. Frank, the minister said: "If the Kennedy round proves abortive, or if the results are limited, I would advocate negotiating with other countries that are willing to liberalize trade."

But Mr. Sharp said he preferred a multilateral approach to tariff reductions rather than a regional or bilateral approach. "I am not one of those who advocate a free trade area between Canada and the United States."

Imports Lag Behind Exports In November

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada imported goods worth an estimated $674,600,000 during November, an increase of 9.1 per cent over the total of $618,200,000 for the same month in 1963, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Imports for the month still lagged behind exports, reported earlier by the bureau at $724,600,000 for November. That brought the January-November total for commodity exports to $7,572,000,000 against $6,326,600,000 for the first 11 months of the previous year.

Push the profit button

Telephones with pushbuttons on them are one of today's biggest aids to greater business efficiency (and, therefore, to greater profits). They are as convenient as having a miniature switchboard right at your finger tips and can prove a particular boon to expanding office operations.

With the compact six-button telephone, for example, you can receive outside calls on up to four separate lines, hold them and have them transferred. With the 18-button Call Director® you can do all these things several times over.

There is almost no limit to the versatility of these "key systems", as we call them, and they can be adapted for large or small organizations alike. They also cost considerably less than many people imagine.

Why not get the facts on how one or more "key systems" could help your business run more smoothly and economically. We'll gladly give you an estimate on a system tailored to your own special requirements — naturally without any obligation. Call our Marketing & Sales Department today, or have your secretary send for our free brochure.

LITTLE PURPLE CARDS

Goal: Curb Cycle Thefts

Thousands of little purple cards will be filed away at the police station shortly in a bid to cut down on bicycle thefts in Victoria.

Each card will bear the name, age and address of a bicycle owner together with details of make, color and serial number.

So far 3,000 cards have been printed by Victoria Optimist Club which is sponsoring the campaign.

It is expected more will be needed.

Meanwhile, Constable Ray Thomas, in charge of the school patrol, is planning to call on every school in the area explaining the campaign.

Every boy and girl who owns a bike will be asked to fill in the cards and return them to the police station.

Then, when a bike is missing or has been stolen, the owner will be able to ring up the police who will in turn check the owner's card for details.

Duplicates of each card are being made—one for the owner, the other for police.

Helping distribute the cards will be members of the Optimist Club.

Civilian 'Almost Believed' Army He Was Missing Irish Deserter

LONDON (AP) — Patrick James O'Connor of the Royal Engineers decided the army life was no longer for him.

He skipped and sought refuge across the Irish Sea, well beyond the reach of British law.

But the military police found a Patrick O'Connor still in England. The name matched, the ages matched, the accents matched, so they took him in.

Patrick spent five days in an army guardroom until his AWL namesake read of his plight. He phoned from Dublin and told the army they had the wrong man.

Said O'Connor the civilian: "It was fantastic—in the end they even had me half believing I was a deserter."

MPs STRIKE AGAIN

This weekend the MPs struck again. This time in search of Hugh O'Connor, late of the Royal Irish Fusiliers. In Luton, north of London, they brought Hugh O'Connor into magistrate's court and charged him with being absent without leave from the Fusiliers.

Once again the descriptions matched. Same brown hair, same blue eyes, same vaccination marks, even similar tattoos on the arm.

But the O'Connor in court produced documents to prove he was only 14 years old. He admitted telling people he was 19 but said that was to get a job in an auto plant.

The magistrates let him go, and Hugh O'Connor set off to rejoin his family in Dublin.

"If I stay here," he said, "I shall have to go to school."

S. Viet Nam Economy Goes Deeper Into Red

SAIGON (Reuters) — South Viet Nam's war-drained economy is sliding further downhill, figures published Saturday by the official Viet Nam Press news agency disclosed.

The country spent seven times as much on imports as it earned from exports during the first nine months of 1964.

Exports dropped by more than one-third compared with the same period in 1963, mainly because November floods in central Viet Nam and "the situation in the country" sharply reduced rice exports, Viet Nam Press said.

The rice harvest was severely cut by the rapidly increased penetration into the rich Mekong River Delta by Communist guerrillas, who now control large areas and exact taxes in kind, informed observers said.

FERTILE LAND

South Viet Nam, naturally fertile and once the "Rice Bowl of Asia," now receives United States military and economic aid of about $2,000,000 a day.

But the protracted guerrilla war imposes a continuing heavy drain on manpower and production here. Roads and railroads are being sabotaged. Government officials cannot enter many villages and remote districts.

Much U.S. economic aid is being spent on village "pacification"—helping them develop their economies—after they have been taken back from the Viet Cong.

Woman Shot Down At Hospital Door

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two people died in what police said appeared to be a murder suicide following a shooting Sunday night at the main entrance to the Winnipeg General Hospital.

Police said the victims were a Winnipeg man and his estranged wife in their early 40s. They were not identified.

He was alleged to have shot the woman with a .22-calibre rifle on a street in front of his home. She was able to walk, was picked up by a motorist and taken to the main entrance of the hospital.

She was to have remained in the car while the motorist went inside for a nurse.

HUSBAND DROVE UP

She was shot in the back with a shotgun and fell just inside the hospital door.

The police spokesman said the husband went into the hospital rotunda, put the gun to his stomach and shot himself.

Coalition Sought To Replace Inonu As PM of Turkey

ISTANBUL (AP) — A 41-year-old Turkish engineer and businessman who lacks a seat in Parliament is going to try to organize a coalition government and take over from 81-year-old Premier Ismet Inonu, who quit after parliament rejected his budget Saturday night.

Leaders of the four opposition parties were expected to begin talks today on forming a coalition. The leader of the biggest opposition group, Suleyman Demirel of the Justice party, is expected to try for the premiership.

There is one technical hitch. Turkish law requires a premier to be a member of parliament and Demirel never has run for public office. President Cemal Gursel has been quoted, however, as saying he could appoint Demirel to a vacant senate seat.

May Ban Chains

VANCOUVER (CP)—The city may ban use of tire chains on Vancouver streets. City engineer Ran Martin said his department is reviewing practices of other cities in light of estimates that road damage during recent snow storms will cost the city $200,000.

WOMAN SURVIVES FREE FALL INTO CANYON

Angel of Death Hovered, Passed By

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — A drive on a quiet sunny afternoon turned into a nightmare for two women and a man Sunday as their car toppled over a 350-foot-high canyon.

The plunging car stopped suddenly 75 feet down when it struck a tree, hurling one of the women into a free fall that ended near the edge of the rushing Capilano River.

It was a miracle none of the three was seriously hurt, said Mr. and Mrs. Les Glover and Judy Chapman, 19.

Miss Chapman said she had just made a turn on a narrow canyon road when the car toppled over the edge and slammed against the only large tree on the face of the cliff, 75 feet from the top.

THROWN OUT

The impact catapulted Mrs. Glover out of an open door and into a free fall. When she hit the ground she skidded a further 50 feet before she grabbed a log and stopped.

What flashed through Mrs. Chapman's mind as she fell?

"I wondered if my little dog had been hurt — if he was all right," she said in an interview from her hospital bed.

Her husband raced to the bottom of the canyon "Tarzan-style" by climbing down tree trunks. RCMP and firemen brought Mrs. Glover out of the canyon in a basket stretcher.

"Another 10 feet," said Mr. Glover, "and she would have hit rocks and her body would have landed in the river."

Geologist Honored

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Hugh S. Bostock, 64, a veteran geologist, was awarded the Royal Canadian Geographical Society's Massey Medal today for his scientific work in northern British Columbia and the Yukon.

Dr. Bostock, who heads the cordillera section of the Geological Survey of Canada, made 25 field trips to British Columbia and the Yukon between 1931 and 1960.

Leafs Behind Schedule But Rudy Isn't Fuming

Pilous Optimistic Club Can Succeed on the Road

Victoria Maple Leafs are running slightly behind schedule on their timetable for success but conductor Rudy Pilous wasn't fretting, fuming or checking his watch today.

Coach Rudy has seen signs that suggest the Maple Leaf express may be building up a good head of steam for a fast run down the Western Hockey League homestretch.

Pilous has set an even number of victories and defeats as the figures that will get the Leafs into the league's four-team playoffs. Twice in a busy weekend, the Victorians were within one triumph of matching the figures but both times they failed to get even with Rudy's timetable.

Leafs dropped two games behind by losing Friday night at Seattle and then gained ground Saturday night at Memorial Arena by drubbing the pace-setting Portland Buckaroos 6-3 with a blazing attack.

Sunday night they were in Portland, where they found a flock of obstacles in their way and finally went down to a 4-1 defeat before 9,255 howling Buckaroo boosters.

HOST TOTEMS

It also left them in position to even their record this week. The Leafs play only twice in the next 11 days. Both games are at Memorial Arena, where they have won 13 of their last 15 outings, and both are against the runner-up Totems.

The tussles with the Totems fall into the category of "must win" games because after the second one, the Victorians will have only six more home games in the regular season and must play 11 times on the road.

It is obvious that the key to a playoff spot is going to be the ability to win on the road and that is why Pilous is in an optimistic mood today.

'SHORT STICK'

Although unhappy with the way things turned out at Portland Sunday, Rudy was pleased with the performance of his club, which was playing without the services of winger Eddie Mazur, sidelined until at least Saturday with a knee injury, and defenceman Bill Shvetz, who was lost to the team through a back injury.

"You have to play well on the road, and they all did that Sunday night," said Pilous. "Getting the short stick in the penalty department was the only thing that beat us."

Pilous was obviously miffed with the way referee Willie Papp handled the whistle. Papp gave Victoria's Larry Keenan a five-minute penalty for drawing blood in the second period but he didn't find a Buckaroo to sentence when Milan Marcetta, of the Leafs, was cut on the head.

COSTLY CALLS

The Leafs also vow that Papp didn't see a goal scored by Sandy Hucul in the first period that would have made the score 2-0, and that the Bucks have yet to put the puck into the net for their third goal, credited to Pat Stapleton.

Leafs were leading 1-0 on Marcetta's unassisted goal in the opening period when Keenan picked up his major in the second session.

Stapleton and Tommy McVie scored to get the Buckaroos in front while Keenan was off and, says Rudy, "school was out."

Victoria's troubles were compounded in the second period when defenceman Fred Hucul drew a 10-minute misconduct penalty and centre John Sleaver was forced to drop back to defence.

However, it turned out to be a great game for the Portland fans with the clubs hitting a furious pace and both goaltenders performing in spectacular fashion. Portland's Dave Kelly finished with 37 saves and Al Millar of the Leafs made 41 stops.

At Memorial Arena Saturday, the Leafs were skating in perhaps their best form of the season and never appeared in danger of losing after John Sleaver, Keenan and Gordie Redahl gave the 3,550 fans lots to cheer about with goals that gave the Leafs a 3-1 first-period lead.

SANDY HUCUL STARS

The Leafs had a brief letdown in the early part of the third period, giving up goals to McVie and Andy Hebenton, but they tightened their defences to easily hold out the rest of the way.

Defenceman Sandy Hucul, continuing his sterling play and voted the Victoria star of the game, wrapped things up neatly in the final minute with his third goal of the season.

36 SIX-DAY BIKE WINS

Belgian Star Equals Torchy's World Mark

MILAN (AP) — Rik Van Steenbergen of Belgium and Gianni Motta of Italy Saturday won the Milan six-day bicycle race.

With the victory, the 41-year-old Van Steenbergen matched the world record of 36 six-day bike triumphs, set by Canadian star Bill "Torchy" Peden of Victoria, B.C., in the years between the two world wars.

There were no Canadians in the race here. The six-day bike race is no longer a major sport in Canada.

The winning pair finished with 605 points. Nando Terruzzi of Italy and Peter Post of Holland were second with 399, and the West German pair of Dieter Kemper and Horst Oldenburg third with 354.

CHINOOKS GRAB . . . . . . INTER-CITY CROWN

They Look Like Champs

"They" are Victoria Chinooks, Intercity Junior Basketball League kings of 1965.

Chinooks acquired the headpieces Saturday night, turning back Vancouver CYO 78-55 to win the intercity final three games to one.

Next: a two-game total-points series with the unaffiliated Victoria Optimists at Oak Bay High School next weekend for the B.C. title.

The winner will go to the Canadian junior championships at Hamilton, March 1-6.

Suderman sifted through for 24 points but Chinooks had a better answer — balance. Four of their first stringers were in double figures and their domination of the boards was too much for CYO.

Chinooks got 17 points and a masterful ball-handling exhibition from Ken Gregory. Ken Jackson, the thinking man's playmaker - guard, contributed 18; Barney Spaven, improving every game, wheeled in 13; Ron Bowker, a money-shooter, hit for 12, and John Lauvaas was good for nine.

CYO roared into an 11-5 lead but Chinooks refused to panic. Working the ball well, they pressured CYO into errors and vaulted ahead 40-29 at the half. After that it was Chinooks all the way.

In a preliminary game, Oak Bay High School paced by the shooting of Bob Burrows and Brian McKenzie, whipped Claremont High 78-47.

Scoring:

Oak Bay—Songhurst 2, Burrows 24, Rexton 2, Ford 6, Moffatt 3, O'Connor 6, Turner 16, McKenzie 19. Total 78.

Claremont—Sutton 16, Neufeld 4, Cairns 11, Eckhardt 4, Milligan 7, Galey 5. Total 47.

CYO — Charlie Lipp, Dennis Howe, Neil Murray 4, Neil Dumont 2, Ian Donald 4, Norm Bingham 2, Bruce Robertson 2, Mike Brooks, Roger Kettlewell 12, Ed Suderman 24, Neil Worboys 5. Total: 55.

CHINOOKS — John Lauvaas 9, Ken Gregory 17, Rick Humber 2, Don Frampton 2, Jack Newnham, Ken Jackson 18, Rick Barnswell 3, Barney Spaven 13, Doug Gregory 2, Ron Bowker 12. Total 78.

CFL Rules Changes Are 'Backward Step'-Skrien

DAVE SKRIEN
. . . 'I was numb'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dave Skrien, head coach of British Columbia Lions, Sunday termed rules changes announced Saturday by the Canadian Football League a "backward step."

The CFL annual meeting in Ottawa decided to reduce the roster to 32 from 33 players and limit the number of naturalized Canadians to three for each team.

"I was numb when I heard the news," the Western Football Conference coach said.

"I and the other coaches had absolutely no inkling that such changes were even contemplated.

"There is no question but that this hurts a coach's chances of fielding a first-class team.

"To my mind this is definitely a backward step for Canadian football."

Skrien said the rules changes sabotaged the Lions' long-term plans for player development.

"Our player negotiations have always been based on the explanation there are 15 import jobs open, and especially on the advantages of settling here as citizens.

"We find now that we have unwittingly misrepresented our case and have thus broken faith with both the new signees and the veterans who took us at our word and settled here."

The naturalization change will not immediately affect the Lions. Dick Fouts and Tom Hinton are the only two now on the roster. However, Willie Fleming and Tom Brown will be citizens in 1966.

Cutting the number of Americans to 14 from 15 was strictly a matter of saving money, commissioner G. Sydney Halter said at the close of the two-day CFL meeting.

SPREAD THE WEALTH

By limiting the number of naturalized Canadians, the league hopes to spread them around and thus add strength to the weaker clubs.

Halter said only Toronto Argonauts and Winnipeg Blue Bombers — bottom clubs last season in the Eastern and Western Conferences respectively—now have more than three Americans who have played five seasons in Canada and have taken out citizenship papers. But others, including Hamilton Tiger-Cats and the Lions, are about to go over the limit.

Halter said he doubts if there ever would be 27 such players in the same season. If there were, he hopes the new rule will mean they'd be found in all nine teams.

EXCESS ARE IMPORTS

Clubs wishing to keep more than three naturalized Canadians in their lineup must class the excess as imports.

Halter gave a broad hint he'll resign as commissioner after the 1966 season. He agreed to stay on for two more years at the Saturday meeting but said afterwards "that probably will be it."

Funseth Strikes Gold at Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Rod Funseth headed for the $46,000 Tucson Open today after taking a big jump off the springboard others have used to the top of the professional golf world.

Funseth, 31, of Spokane, Wash., won the $10,500 first prize Sunday in the $67,500 Phoenix Open golf tournament. He fired a 71-68-68-67—274 on the 6,584-yard, par-72 Arizona Country Club course.

Funseth was one stroke off the pace going into the final round. He birded the first hole to catch leader Bert Yancey and went ahead to stay when Yancey went one over par on the ninth.

Funseth's pay cheque was nearly as much as his earnings for all of 1964 when he stood 65th on the money list with $10,620.

YANCE'S PAY JUMPS

Yancey, 26, of Philadelphia, also received his biggest pay cheque—$6,250 for second.

Yancey shot a 71 Sunday and finished three strokes behind Funseth.

Doug Sanders and Don January shot 66 and 69 respectively Sunday, winding up four strokes back at 278. Each won $4,025.

Billy Maxwell, who fired a last round 64, finished in a tie with Frank Beard and Al Geiberger at 279.

George Knudson of Toronto paced the three Canadians in the event finishing in a four-way tie at 280 with rounds of 73, 69, 69 and 69 for a $2,075 payoff.

Takes Panama Open

Wall Is First To Win Five In Caribbean

PANAMA (AP)—Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., has become the first golfer to win all five tournaments of the Caribbean winter circuit.

Firing a final 71 Sunday, Wall won the Panama Open with an 11-under-par total of 277 for the 72-hole event that opened the 1965 Caribbean tour.

TOPS CANADIANS

Wes Ellis, of West Caldwell, N.J., was second with a final round 70 and a 281 total, one stroke less than Argentina's Florentino Molina, who wound up with a finishing 72.

The leading Canadian in the event, and the only money winner, was Bob Panasiuk of Windsor, Ont., who picked up $212 for his 74-73-73-68—288.

Paul Enoch Tops Two Skate Marks

OSLO (AP)—Paul Enock of Toronto broke two of his own Canadian records Sunday and placed 13th in the 1965 men's world speed skating championship won by Per Ivar Moe of Norway.

Enock lowered the Canadian 5,000-metre record to seven minutes, 45.3 seconds and set a Canadian 10,000-metre record of 16.09.8. He placed eighth in both events.

Moe, 18, of Oslo, finished with an over-all score of 178.727 points. The competitors were awarded points on times in four events. The winner was the skater with fewest points.

Runner-up to Moe was Jauko Laurnonen of Finland with 179.165 points. Ard Schenk of The Netherlands was third with 179.178.

Enock, 30, a Canadian citizen who has lived in Norway the last few years, finished with 184.387 points as he bettered all his personal records.

He had set the previous Canadian 5,000-metre record of 7:57.8 early in January at Oslo. His previous Canadian record of 16:18.7 in the 10,000-metre event was set earlier this year in an international meet in Gjovik, Norway.

Enock, an Australian native attending the state gymnastic school at Oslo, finished 22nd in the 1,500-metre event Sunday in 2:15.2, also believed to be a Canadian record. He was 32nd in the 500 metres, timed in 44.3.

Canucks Bounce Back To Down Totems 4-2

Vancouver Canucks broke even over the weekend in their bid to gain ground on Seattle Totems in the Western Hockey League race.

Canucks lost to the second-place Totems Saturday in a 5-4 thriller at Seattle but bounced back before 4,351 fans Sunday afternoon to trip the Totems 4-2.

The Los Angeles-San Francisco encounter saw rookie Seal winger George Swarbrick felled by a high check from Howie Young on the Blades. Five stitches to his head sealed Swarbrick's cut, and he was taken to hospital for observation.

Meanwhile, Tom Thurlby was scoring for San Francisco and Willie O'Ree for Los Angeles.

In Seattle, Jean Marie Cossette made the difference for the Totems, scoring two goals against the Canucks. Bill Dineen, Bob Barlow and Gerry Leonard added one more each.

COLORFUL TIPSTER DIES PULLED COUP IN 1920

Prince Had a Plan for Peace

LONDON (AP) — Prince Monolulu, the costumed and befeathered race horse tipster who for more than half a century stood outside British tracks shouting "I gotta horse," has died aged 81.

Monolulu, whose real name was Peter Carl Mackay, was one of a vanishing breed of race track touts who made a living, and sometimes considerably more, by selling tips on horses.

Until off-track betting became legal, the British horse player could only place a bet at the course, and the tout's profession was an honored one. However, legalized betting drove the horse players to their local betting parlors and the touts out of business.

Born in Ethiopia, Monolulu pulled off his first great coup in 1920, offering Spion Kop as a free tip for the Derby. He bet £3,000 of his own money (about $15,000) at that time and collected his winnings plus hundreds more from grateful bettors when the horse won.

One of Monolulu's most famous feats was a trip to Moscow in 1961, attempting to stop the East-West cold war confrontation with a "peace through racing mission."

His contention was simple. He figured universal horse racing would end all wars because as soon as a bettor comes up with a winner he becomes a capitalist.

TENPIN KINGS

Nobody Close To Tom, Mick

Tom Cleough and Mickey Walker threw a fabulous 1,175 doubles scratch in the city tenpin singles and doubles tourney at Mayfair Lanes on the weekend.

Then they waited.

One hundred entries fired and fired but when the last pin keeled over, Cleough and Walker were doubles champions with a resounding 1175-180—1355 worth $60.

Bill Falconer and Dinty Moore collected the $50 place purse with 1095-177—1272. Fred Barber Jr. and Walt Davis were $45 show winners with 1085-174—1259.

Maclean's 672 (615-57) was two better than Bond (520-150—670) and three ahead of Donnelly whose 621 scratch was highest of the 185 entries.

They received $50, $40 and $35 respectively.

Maclean's winning series was made up of games of 233, 188 and 194.

He took the all events handicap with 1913 and the all events scratch with 1805.

Rain Shortens Daytona Race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., won the rain-shortened Daytona 500 stock car race Sunday. The race was ended after 133 laps — 332.5 miles — had been completed.

The victory was worth $27,000 plus lap prizes to the winner.

Following Lorenzen were Darrel Dieringer of Charlotte, N.C.; Robby Johnes of Miami, Fla., and Earl Balmer of Floyd Knobs, Ind. Johns and Lorenzen drove 1965 Fords, Dieringer and Balmer piloted 1965 Mercurys.

Pakistan Gains Edge In Cricket

CHRISTCHURCH (Reuters)—Pakistan held a slight advantage over New Zealand at the end of the third day's play in the third and final cricket Test here today. The first two tests were drawn.

The Pakistanis, who led by four runs on first innings, scored 181 for four wickets in their second innings to lead by 185 runs with six wickets still standing.

A fighting rearguard action by New Zealand's tail-end batsmen just failed to give their side a first inning lead. New Zealand, 130 for seven Saturday, was all out for 202 in reply to Pakistan's 206.

Snell Defeats Bill Crothers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Peter Snell of New Zealand won the 1,000-yard feature race of the Los Angeles Times indoor games Saturday night, defeating his arch-rival, Bill Crothers of Toronto, in a spirited race with a winning time of 2:07.9.

The 26-year-old Snell, running on the boards for the last time in his career, finished four yards in front of Crothers, who was timed in 2:08.4 before a packed crowd of 12,278 in the Sports Arena.

New Zealand scored again when Bill Baillie ran away with the two-mile run in 8:43.4.

Mary Rand of Britain set an indoor record in the women's broad jump and Hungary's Zsu-Zsu-Szabo Nagy bettered the world indoor mark for women in the 880-yard run.

Miss Nagy had a time of 2:13.6, and Mrs. Rand jumped 20 feet, 10 inches.

Alberta Collects Badminton Title

WINNIPEG (CP) — Jamie Paulson and Ken Delf coasted through 18 matches without losing a game to power Alberta to the first Canadian interprovincial junior team badminton championship here during the weekend.

Paulson, 16-year-old Canadian junior men's singles champion, and Delf, 19-year-old engineering student, combined to win 36 consecutive games as Alberta's four-member team collected a maximum 12 points.

Bantams, Juveniles Inherit Island Titles

An overtime setback cost Victoria a clean sweep of Vancouver Island minor hockey championships.

The city's juveniles and bantams won their playoff series with Nanaimo but the Hub City picked up the midget banner.

Nanaimo, playing with a man advantage, scored at 8:15 of overtime to defeat Victoria 3-2 in Saturday's juvenile playoff at Memorial Arena. First game in the total-point series ended 5-5.

The juveniles and bantams won their playoffs in Nanaimo. Victoria's bantams lost Saturday's game 5-3 but won the round 9-8.

The juveniles gave up the first two goals of the game, falling four goals behind in the series, but charged back with eight unanswered counters to win their game 8-2 and the series 10-6.

WESTWOOD PROTEGES . . . . . . FINISH ONE-TWO

A Triumphant Return

The five-time world dance champion, now the professional at Victoria Figure Skating Club, saw her proteges finish 1-2 in the gold dance event at the U.S. figure skating championships.

Dennis Sveum and Kristine Fortune of Los Angeles, both appearing in the nationals for the first time, finished first in the dance competition. Runnersup were the favored Lorna Dyer and John Carrell of Seattle.

Both couples train in Victoria. The Seattle pair visits Victoria every weekend for lessons from Miss Westwood while the Los Angeles skaters have taken up temporary residence in the Vancouver Island city.

SIGHTS ON TITLE

Both couples will now set their sights on the North American championships, to be held next weekend at Rochester.

They will be joined by singles champions Gary Viscont, of Detroit, who upset bronze medallist Scott Ethan Allen, and Peggy Fleming of Pasadena.

Other members of the U.S. North American team include Vivian and Ron Joseph of Highland Park, Ill., senior pairs champions; Christine Haigler, 17, of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Albertina Noyes, 16, of Arlington, Mass., and Myrna Bodek, 18, of Oak Park, Mich., in ladies' singles; Tim Wood, 16, of Detroit in men's singles; Cynthia and Ronald Kauffman of Seattle and Joanne Heckert and Gary Clark of East Lansing, Mich., in pairs, and Susan and Stan Urban of Buffalo, N.Y., in ice dance.

Curling Favorites Cool Off

(Times News Services)

It's been a rough season for former Canadian curling champions.

First the Vancouver rink assembled by Lyall Dagg, Canadian and world champions last season, failed to get by the Pacific Coast zone final.

LASHUK SURPRISES

Hec Gervais is the latest to be brushed to the sidelines. The former Canadian king from Edmonton was beaten by Nick Lashuk of Calgary in a sudden-death playoff for the Alberta title Saturday.

Lashuk made it convincing, 12-4. His crew, which also includes Slim Otterson at third, second Ken Hamilton and lead Don Jarrett, now steps into the Canadian finals at Saskatoon in March.

Harold Worth of Saskatoon, supported by Elmer MacNevin, Murray Armstrong and Garry Stevenson, picked up Saskatchewan's standard Saturday with an 11-8 victory over Bob Pickering of Avonlea.

Worth won the first game of the best-of-three north-south final 10-9 on Friday.

ARNET OUR HOPE

The University of British Columbia rink skipped by Jack Arnet captured the B.C. title the previous weekend.

Manitoba's representatives will be decided this week after the conclusion of a 32-rink playoff which got under way today. Bruce Hudson is the defending Manitoba champion.

All of the eastern provinces have named their representatives. They are Jack Polybank of Kirkland Lake (Northern Ontario), Ron Grant of Unionville (Ontario), Bill Tracy of Bagotville (Quebec), Ron Franklin of Halifax (Nova Scotia), Doug Cameron of Charlottetown (Prince Edward Island), Dr. Peter Lyons of Moncton (New Brunswick) and George McCharles of St. John's (Newfoundland).

LOOSE STRAWS: A North Burnaby rink skipped by Harold Wheeler and including Carl Bjorson, Omar Eberg and Bill Kinnear will represent B.C. in the Royal Canadian Legion's national finals . . . Wheeler defeated Matt Kmet's Dawson Creek crew 5-4 in the provincial final Sunday . . . Gord Walker of Edmonton claimed the Alberta seniors' crown at the weekend . . . Canadian boys' finals got under way at Fredericton today . . . B.C.'s hopes rest with Burnaby's Dennis Perry, Rick Pughe, Mike and Maurice Hoare.

Mariners Connect

Two goals by Hazel Ravenhill and one by Ann Bridge gave Mariners a 3-0 victory over Cowichan in women's grass hockey league play Saturday. In another first division match, Greyhounds thumped Grasshoppers 10-1.

Have Hawks Found Homestretch Kick?

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

This could be Chicago's year.

Although that tune has a familiar ring, the Black Hawks are back in the National Hockey League driver's seat for the third straight season, still aiming for their first NHL title since joining the league in 1926.

The Hawks, nosed out in 1962-63, wound up second. Last season they finished second again to Montreal Canadiens because of a collapse at the finish.

This time around, the Hawks paced themselves during the early part of the season and now are applying a closing kick as the teams enter the schedule's final quarter.

NEXT GAMES :Wednesday — Detroit at Montreal, New York at Chicago.

Chicago fought back twice to tie Montreal Canadiens 2-2 Sunday night to maintain a four-point lead over the Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs in the pennant race. Detroit Red Wings were left six points behind.

The Hawks blanked New York Rangers 3-0 Saturday afternoon while the Canadiens dropped a 5-4 decision to the Bruins at Boston. Toronto edged Detroit 2-1 in the evening.

LEAFS SURPRISED

While the Hawks held on through a scoreless final period against the driving Canadiens Sunday, the Bruins surprised Toronto with two third-period goals for a 2-2 tie and Detroit bombed the Rangers 6-2.

Pierre Pilote's 45-foot screened shot Sunday night pulled the Hawks even in the second period after Dave Balon had sent the Habs ahead 2-1. Phil Esposito with his 22nd this season, had scored for Chicago minutes earlier to erase a 1-0 lead the Canadiens established in the first period when Claude Larose tallied his 19th this season.

The Leafs also missed a chance to move up when they allowed a 2-0 lead to vanish within a span of two minutes and 39 seconds at Boston.

RANGERS COLLAPSE

Red Kelly and George Armstrong provided the Leafs with a comfortable margin but goals by Johnny Bucyk and Orland Kurtenbach deadlocked the contest early in the third.

In Detroit, the Rangers collapsed during the second period and the Wings took full advantage, scoring four times. The embarrassed Rangers saw the Wings score two goals while killing off a power play.

The Rangers fired 31 shots at Hall Saturday afternoon but couldn't rob the Hawks goalie of his second shutout this season.

HABS DOWNED AGAIN

The Bruins, trounced 7-1 by the Canadiens Thursday night, bounced back to hand Montreal its fifth loss in six games. The Habs fought back three times to tie but Boston never trailed.

The Wings missed a chance to take third place from the Leafs Saturday night. Frank Mahovlich broke a 1-1 tie midway through the final period to give Toronto the 2-1 decision.

AT ESQUIMALT

Visiting Foursomes Sweep 'Spiel Prizes

Two North Vancouver foursomes, a rink from Duncan and one from Port Alberni captured top prizes in the four-event 'spiel that wound up Sunday at the Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Main honors went to North Vancouver's Elma Moebes, who defeated the Flora Martin rink of Victoria 9-6 to win "A" event honors.

Duncan's Helen Berkey, supported by Melva Schepert, Phyllis Timothy and Kay Bomford, easily defeated the D. Russell Victoria entry, 12-2, to win "B" event. North Vancouver's Peggy Lennon defeated Victoria's Nora Dunstan 9-6 in the "C" final while Marg Olson's Port Alberni quartet defeated Vimy Bell of Esquimalt 11-9 to top the fourth event.

"A" Event—1. Elma Moebes, Jocie Conway, Mickey Cope and Linda Twiberfield (North Vancouver); 2. Flora Martin, Beth Sealy, Sadie Campbell and Doreen Baker (Victoria); 3. Mrs. P. Muir (Nanaimo); 4. Mrs. E. Berard (North Vancouver).

Royals Thump Cougars

NEW WESTMINSTER—Coach John Merrifield figures he has "one of the best junior clubs ever put together in Victoria," but the Cougars will have to go some to catch New Westminster Royals.

Royals, blessed with some standout goalkeeping, clipped the Cougars 8-2 Sunday in the opening game of a best-of-five Pacific Coast junior hockey series.

Second game will be played in Victoria's Memorial Arena Wednesday evening and the third back in Westminster next Sunday.

BIRDIE PUTT BY MUNN BEATS BUTTON-HOLDERS

Cedar Hill professional Dick Munn dropped a birdie putt on the second extra hole Sunday and the city open buttons changed hands at Gorge Vale Golf Club.

Munn and amateur partner Fred Worthington scored the extra-hole victory over button defenders Ron MacLeod and Dr. George Bigelow of Victoria Club.

The Cedar Hill pairing was two up with two holes to play but were forced into the extra distance when MacLeod rammed in successive birdies on the 17th and 18th holes to square the match.

Canadians End Goals Famine

VANCOUVER—First-half goals by winger Bobby Coyle and centre-forward Roy Nosella snapped a weekend scoring drought and carried Vancouver Canadians to first place in the Pacific Coast Soccer League.

Until Coyle connected in the 28th minute of Sunday's game at Callister Park, goals seemed to be the forgotten commodity.

SHORES STOPPED

But Coyle and Nosella, counting in the last minute before the half, found the range Sunday to give Canadians an important 2-1 victory over North Shore. Neil Ellett scored the North Shore goal seven minutes before full time.

Victory boosted Canadians a point ahead Firefighters at the top of the tables. Firefighters picked up one point Saturday in a 0-0 draw with New Westminster Royals.

The other scoreless game, between University of British Columbia Thunderbirds and Columbus, did not affect the standings.

Finance Woes Hit St. Paul Hockey Club

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—St. Paul Rangers board of directors voted at the weekend to return the club franchise to the Central Hockey League because pressing financial obligations cannot be met.

The directors, under league orders to come up with about $25,000 to meet immediate needs or give up the franchise, decided to break up the club at the end of this season.

The Rangers, backed by local businessmen, joined the CHL two years ago after three years in the International League. Attendance at home games had only been fair and, other than the immediate obligations, the organization owes about $100,000.

Oak Bay United Captures Crown

John MacMillan and Robin Burrell each scored 10 goals to spark Oak Bay to its third straight victory in a double-knockout series that also included YMCA.

Rice-Powered Brodies Wreck Scottish Hopes

Front-running clubs in the Victoria and District Soccer League's first division had been expecting some "background pressure" from Canadian Scottish.

So did the Scots.

But Scottish hopes of taking a run at the leaders suffered a big setback Sunday when they dropped a 2-1 decision to fifth-place Brodies.

The Scots trailed the leaders, all idle Sunday, by six points but enjoyed games in hand.

RICE SCORES TWO

Seventh-place Gorge Molsons won by default when winless Esquimalt failed to show up with a full team for the only other first division game scheduled Sunday. It went into the records as a 1-0 vilctory for Gorge.

The first division's all-stars were banded together Saturday for an exhibition with United of the Coast League. United, sparked by Jim Jamieson's two goals, defeated the select 4-2 before about 300 customers at Athletic Park.

TWO FOR SCHULTZ

Jamieson capitalized on easy chances to score both of his goals. Veteran Ced Robb and halfback George Paul scored the others for the Coast League team while Jim Schultz of Hourigan's Kickers counted both goals for the all-stars.

Safeways Drubbed By Alberni Squad

Port Alberni Luckies pelted Saanich Safeways 14-1 at Memorial Arena on Sunday, and the one-sided result may force Vancouver Island Hockey League officials to reduce the length of the semifinal series.

Originally, it was to have been a best-of-five series. Game No. 2 will be played in Port Alberni on Wednesday. The series' winners play Nanaimo in the final.

Gary Skolas spearheaded the rout with four goals and three assists. Harvey Thein and Dale Newberry each added three goals for Alberni while Bob Holness saved Safeways from a shutout.

SUBURBAN BASKETBALL

Cordova Bay beat Saanichton 8-5 in a pre-midget girls' tussle and Brentwood tied the hosts 4-4 in a pre-midget boys' game at Saanichton's Agricultural Hall Saturday.

TIME OUT By JEFF KEATE

"I guess I'm just a sentimentalist, dear, but seeing as today is our 16th wedding anniversary, I'm treating us to 16 lines tonight!"

FOR CRIMSON TIDE . . .

Day of Missed Opportunities

Victoria's Crimson Tide will have to give up ownership of the McKechnie Cup, but some Victoria Rugby Union supporters still aren't convinced the better team won Saturday's semi-final playoff at Macdonald Park.

University of British Columbia Thunderbirds edged the Tide 6-3 on a penalty goal by Dave Howie with less than five minutes remaining in the game.

Some feel, however, a draw would have been a fairer result.

Victoria's Reps, the defending champions, held their own in most departments but failed to take advantage of opportunities. In addition, two Victoria scoring efforts were disallowed by the referee.

Disallowed was what appeared to be a bona fide try by Ross Irving in the first half and a second-half penalty goal by fullback Don Burgess.

All the scoring came in the second half.

UBC wing Chuck Plester started it by intercepting a Tide pass for a try. Victoria tied the score 3-3 on a well executed try by Terry Ryan, and that set the stage for Howie's late minute heroics.

Backs of both sides appeared matched during the entertaining game and if UBC did enjoy a slight advantage it came with the performance of their forwards.

WON GAMBLE

The Victorians won a big gamble on the toss but failed to take advantage. Tide elected to go with the wind in the opening half, gambling it would drop later in the match. It did. Little wind was evident in the second half.

Gun Bow Conquers Candy, Our George

ARCADIA, Calif. (CP) — Gun Bow captured the $57,500 San Antonio Handicap for an unprecedented second straight year Saturday, beating back the strong stretch challenge of Candy Spots and Canada's George Royal at Santa Anita Park.

Jockey Manuel Ycaza on Gun Bow and Bill Shoemaker on giant-sized Candy staged a thrilling duel, with the five-year-old Gun Bow driving across first by three-quarters of a length.

British Columbia-bred George Royal, with veteran Johnny Longden up, finished a fast-going third in the field of eight.

At Hialeah, in Miami, Fla., Lt. Stevens, under Tommy Barrow, won the $30,500 Palm Beach Handicap, with Temper second and the favored Rainy Lake third in a field of nine.

The San Antonio Handicap at Arcadia was Gun Bow's first race since he was second to Kelso in the Washington, D.C., International last Nov. 11. It firmly established the Gedney Farm's handsome bay as the favorite in the $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap, two weeks away.

Time for the 1⅛-mile feature on a fast track under sunny skies was 1:47 4-5.

Combination Soccer

Hotspurs turned on the steam Saturday drubbing Falcons 8-1 in Combination Soccer League activity. In other games, Royal Roads tied Navy 2-2, Rangers shut out Island Tug 3-0 and Duncan downed Malahat 6-2.

SERIES DEADLOCKED

A best-of-three series for the Victoria Amateur Basketball Association's pre-midget boys championship is tied 1-1 after Esquimalt Teamsters defeated Metropolitan 27-20 at the weekend.

Beermanship had its real beginnings 50 years ago.

In those days a man's pouring technique was as important as his fishing technique. A good beer-pourer could gather a crowd almost anywhere he went.

Well, this modern age has robbed us of too many good old things. It's time we fought back. It's time we revived pouring as a prideful thing.

Take a tip from our brewmaster. Pour your beer boldly into the centre of the glass, so that it gets a good head. This releases the bouquet. Doubles your enjoyment.

Where the temperature stays for days at 50 below zero. And sheets of ice like broken glass, and mountains of frozen snow stretch as far as the eye can see.

Not that a VW has anything against dogs. It just has a lot against snow.

Like an air-cooled engine that has no radiator. Needs no water. And starts regularly in sub-zero climes.

And a body that will hold tight as a drum over mile after mile of hauling supply-laden sleds, scouting bumpy ice fields and transporting Glaciologists over the crevasse-ridden terrain between Rumdoodle airfield and Mawson scientific base.

A VW did this in Antarctica. And with very little special equipment.

The Australians did add front and rear tow bars. A pack rack. Tire chains on the back. An oil pressure gauge and ammeter. And additional heater system insulation. But other than that, no more winter preparation than a VW in Canada has.

Which brings us to the fact that you don't have to be in Antarctica to have reasons for owning a Volkswagen.

We built it to do a job for you wherever you live.

And you can let it replace anything you like.

FOOTLIGHT WOES AT LADYSMITH

They Just Want Old Schoolhouse

LADYSMITH — Shakespeare once said all the world's a stage, but Ladysmith Little Theatre group would be happy just to use the old elementary school on Second Avenue.

And city council members are sympathetic with a request to renew the lease but feel the building is unsightly.

The building appears solid, but its roof is in need of repairs and vandals have broken several windows.

The school became Ladysmith's 1958 centennial project and the theatre and several other groups established there.

LOT OF WORK

"We did a tremendous amount of work," says group president Jack Atkinson.

"Classrooms were converted into an auditorium which can seat 200 people, the building was re-wired and the expensive oil furnace replaced with two cheaper coal and wood furnaces."

WON AWARDS

Since the little theatre was formed in 1955, it has won several drama competitions.

But now the only hope to retain its home is a 1967 centennial project for interior improvements.

So far, no project has been officially submitted to the town council and no aldermen are prepared to comment on it.

Motel's Sewer Plan Approved by Board

A $1.5 million motor hotel at Royal Oak has been given the go-ahead from the Pollution Control Board.

Approval has been given by the provincial board for the motel's sewage treatment system. Final approval of the motel has yet to come from Saanich council.

Sewage will be treated in a $20,000 plant and stored in ponds during the winter before being used in the summer to irrigate land.

The application to the board asked permission to discharge an average 21,450 gallons a day between May and August.

The Royal Oak Motor Inn will have 80 rooms and be built on 65 acres at the south end of Elk-Beaver Lake.

PETERSON

Both sides in the 13-day Pacific Great Eastern Railway strike got together today in a meeting arranged in Vancouver by Labor Minister Leslie Peterson.

The minister, in separate talks Sunday with the railway and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, set up the joint meeting.

Earlier, a spokesman for the 177 striking trainmen said it is "entirely possible" the B.C. government-owned railway may force arbitration.

The trainmen have rejected proposals both for binding and non-binding arbitration to settle the strike which began Feb. 2 and led to a complete shutdown when the railway laid off 1,400 other workers.

'INFLEXIBLE'

At the same time, E. P. O'Neal, secretary of the 100-000-member B.C. Federation of Labour, said the group has a "quite flexible" policy against compulsory arbitration.

It was no answer to bargaining in good faith and he asked why labor should be singled out, and not everyone else.

"There was certainly no compulsory arbitration as far as the raises for the premier and MLAs are concerned," he said.

He did not dismiss the possibility of a general strike by some federation affiliates but emphasized it would be "stage 15" of the federation's deliberations.

The federation's executive council had been given power to take whatever action was necessary in such a situation but he hoped a general strike would never happen.

The trainmen walked out in a dispute over pay, working hours and a railway proposal to reduce yard crews.

Negotiations broke off Thursday without agreement.

The strikers said Sunday the PGE is being forced to "hold out" by one of the two national railways which had threatened to cut off the supply of boxcars to the PGE.

Becauuse the PGE has only a small supply of its own boxcars, the union said refusal of either Canadian National or Canadian Pacific to supply boxcars could seriously hurt the PGE.

ISLAND KNIGHTS TO WELCOME LEADER

The Grand Chancellor of the Order Knights of Pythias will make his first official visit to Victoria Tuesday as head of the order in British Columbia.

V.I. Knights will welcome E. (Ted) Smith of Revelstoke at 7:30 p.m. in the Castle Hall, 723 Cormorant.

The Capital City Lodge Victoria degree team will initiate a class of candidates into the knighthood.

Members from Sidney, Duncan and other Island lodges are expected to attend.

R. E. Johnston, local chancellor commander, will officiate at Tuesday's meeting, and E. K. Keiser will act as degree master.

CONDITION POOR

Crash Injures Metchosin Man

He has head injuries.

City police said his car was going east on Gorge when it went out of control at Washington, hit the stone wall of the driveway to the auto court and skidded sideways into the stone post on the other side of the entrance.

Mr. Lloyd was found 30 feet from his car.

HARDLY MARKED

Motel owner William Brown said Mr. Lloyd's car hardly marked the reinforced gate-posts.

"He must have had the brakes on hard because the boulevard grass was all torn up."

William Layman, 2965 Earl Grey, who arrived at the scene before police, said other people who were there before him said Mr. Lloyd may have lost control of his car in an attempt to stop suddenly for a pedestrian.

There was an estimated $700 damage done to the car.

BURGLARS MIX DRINKS ON THE RUN

DUNCAN—Thieves broke into two homes, stealing a mickey of rum in one, and the mixer from the other.

Panicky Driver Fined $144, Suspended Year

DUNCAN—Because he had no licence and no insurance, Lewis Patrick Luedee of Duncan panicked Saturday night when the police tried to check him.

He drove at a high speed through city streets with lights out but eventually was caught.

In court this morning he pleaded guilty to charges of dangerous driving and having neither licence nor insurance. He was fined a total of $144 and was banned from driving for a year.

Owner of Hotel Killed In Car-Truck Collision

RCMP said the Frizzel car was struck broadside when pulling on to the highway from a road leading to Wellington, a Nanaimo suburb.

Mrs. Frizzel, who suffered multiple injuries, is reported in satisfactory condition today in Nanaimo General Hospital.

Mr. Kennedy received a broken nose.

Police said Mr. Frizzel was the driver of the car. Estimated damage to both vehicles was $1,400.

Dismal Days For Egg Men

DUNCAN — The poultry business has a dark future unless a national poultry marketing board is formed, Cowichan Agricultural Society was told Friday night.

Even the bigger operators are not breaking even, he said.

Laundries Cleaned

DUNCAN — A coin laundry thief was mobile on the Trans-Canada Highway Friday night.

It was his second visit in as many nights to the laundry in Chemainus. He only got small change.

He was successful at Ladysmith in wringing some money from the machines.

In Duncan he was unsuccessful in trying to force the money meters in the Pinky Coin Laundry.

RCMP suspect the same person, or persons, are responsible for all the offences and similar ones in the Nanaimo district.

CHARMER OF MILLIONS DIES AT 45

Velvet-Voiced 'King' of Song Loses Big Battle to Cancer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Velvet-voiced Nat King Cole, who charmed a generation of fans as a recording and nightclub singer, died today after a two-month battle against lung cancer.

The singer's wife, Maria, had been at the hospital constantly and was at his bedside when he died at 5:30 a.m.

She interrupted her hospital visits only to spend time with her brood of five children, Carol, Natalie, Nat Kelly and twins Casey and Timolin, and explained that they looked to her "for strength when I get home in the evenings."

Nat Cole began life in Alabama as Nathaniel Adams Coles, the son of an impoverished Baptist cleric who did a little farming on the side.

Cole, given early musical training by his mother who was a church choir singer, began his entertainment career as a pianist with the "Nat Cole Trio," and became a singer by accident when a drunken patron insisted he sing his favorite tune, "Sweet Lorraine."

That was in 1937 and the instrumentalist group was making a grand total of $75 a week.

Cole then concentrated on singing and his income rose to $10,000 a week. His records have sold more than 50 million copies.

Among his hits were "Mona Lisa," "Nature Boy," "Too Young" and "Rambling Rose."

Nat was crowned as "King" Cole during his appearances with the trio. A jovial night club patron put a small gold-paper crown on his head, dubbed him "King Cole" and the name stuck.

As a Negro he was never active in civil rights movements but he gave large financial contributions to such causes and he preferred to proved himself in this field by actions rather than words.

Cole was the first Negro to have his own weekly television show — on NBC starting in 1957. The singer lost money on the show because he put up funds of his own over the budget.

The television show ran for 64 weeks but went off the air, basically because of lack of acceptance by advertising sponsors in the south.

Wrong-Hand Equipment Spoils Test

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Supreme Court of British Columbia has decided right-handed dentists don't have to work at left-handed chairs.

Mr. Justice F. O. Munroe ordered the B.C. College of Dental Surgeons Friday to give aspiring dentist Dr. Douglas Turner another exam — and this time use a right-handed chair.

Dr. Turner, who holds a degree in dentistry from the University of Alberta, had sued the college, claiming he failed the examination needed to practise in B.C. because he was forced to use a chair and drilling gear designed for a left-handed dentist.

TIMMINS AREA

Claim Stakers Perish in Cold

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — Two Toronto men died of exposure while staking claims about 25 miles south of here Friday night. Their deaths, in weather 32 degrees below zero, were not reported until Saturday night

Police said the two men, in company with a prospector and a bush guide, were returning to Timmins after staking claims when a storm struck, dropping about 14 inches of snow.

Their car hit a snow drift and stuck there. The prospector and guide decided to walk to Timmins, leaving the other men who were to go to a deserted hut about 16 miles away.

The men who died headed for the hut, stopping frequently in attempts to get warm by lying in snow banks and finally by building a lean-to of boughs. They tried to build a fire but failed.

Police said one man died by the lean-to and the other a quarter-mile away. Their bodies were sighted by a helicopter crew about 12 hours later and a snowmobile went to recover them.

Coroner James McClinton said Sunday an inquest will be held "because it is time people realized there is more to staking claims than merely walking into the bush."

DIE FLEDERMAUS

Some Unadulterated Corn Grows Among the Flowers

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Only the tone deaf could fail to respond to the delights of this opera and the Women's Committee of Victoria Symphony Society, in sponsoring the Canadian Opera Company production here, could reasonably expect it to attract two full houses.

Possibly if they had chanced two evening performances instead of one a Sunday afternoon they would have succeeded. A few years ago three local performances of the same opera at the Royal, drew two and two-thirds full houses.

Sunday afternoon's audience, if small, was enthusiastic and with good reason. Aside from the delights of the music itself, there are some fine voices, an abundance of vitality, one good comedy performance, and, by far the greatest single asset—Otto-Werner Mueller conducting with a pit orchestra selected from the Victoria Symphony.

Much of the brilliance of this production stems from the tempi established by Mr. Mueller.

NEVER SAGGED

There was only the barest minimum of hours of rehearsal in which to unify the whole ensemble. But his dynamic gifts, his genius for keeping everything articulate, flowing, vibrant and at the same time minutely controlled, resulted in a performance that, despite occasional brief woolly moments, never really sagged musically.

On the whole though, I feel this is not as successful as last year's opera, Cosi Fan Tutte, by the same company.

CLICHE-RIDDEN

Quite apart from the fact that the second act loses dimension through the absence of a chorus, the stage direction is cliche-ridden and lapses at frequent intervals into sheer burlesque with step-kick routines that are unadulterated corn.

Worst offence to my taste though, is the moment when the opera is virtually suspended while Orlofsky desecrates his sole, charming aria with two poorly written topical verses about biculturalism and the flag. What a blow to the gay Viennese illusion!

Peter van Ginkel's Dr. Falk (The Bat), was vocally most impressive; a rich full baritone, well resonated and warmly colored.

SHORT ON RANGE

John Arab's robust tenor was heard to considerable advantage in snatches of arias from the grand operas. Constance Fisher was a regal Rosalinda with a powerful voice and Kathryn Newman's Adele was quite charming, though neither has quite the range demanded, either in color or compass.

In tonight's performance these roles will be sung by Alexander Gray, Phil Stark, Arlene Meadows and Sheila Piercey.

Despite his suaveness and authority, Jan Rubes was ineffectively cast as the effete Orlotsky, a part that did not in any way suit his abilities. The non-singing, comedy part of the jailer is carried excellently by Ron Hastings who repeats tonight and Raymond Ghiarella's Eisenstein was a very competent performance.

The overture begins at 8:30, we hope, without the necessity of Mr. Mueller reminding his audience that an overture is part of the opera and not merely a background for conversation and program-rustling.

Discotheque Finds Favor With Officials

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Greater Vancouver's first discotheque went over Friday night without a bang—just the way it was supposed to.

Its owner, a young Victorian, was happy.

Tony Else, 24, ushered about 600 of the teen-agers into the discotheque and treated them to Beatle-beat music, bottles of cola, and modern dances.

The club, called Uncle Jake's, is the first of what Mr. Else hopes will be a chain on the lower mainland, and Burnaby Coun. Russell Hicks was on hand to see if he liked the idea enough to approve a similar layout in Burnaby.

"As far as booze is concerned, I just take it away from them, pour it out in front of them and ask them to leave," he said.

Trocadero Closes

LONDON (CP) — A London landmark disappeared Saturday night when the Trocadero, a favorite haunt of Edwardian eaters-out, closed after 69 years. The cavernous marble and gilt restaurant on the corner of Shaftesbury Avenue and Piccadilly Circus, where King Edward VII as Prince of Wales used to carouse beneath the crystal chandeliers, has been leased by a dance-hall chain and will become a giant entertainment centre including a 10-pin bowling alley.

Separatism 'Could Follow Path of Castro'

MONTREAL (CP) — Provincial Secretary Bona Arsenault says separatism could force Quebec to "follow the path of Castro."

He told the opening session of the Quebec Student Liberal Federation Friday night that an independent nation of French-speaking Canadians, if fanatical enough, could arouse 200,000,000 English-speaking North Americans against it.

"Then our little separatists would have no choice but to follow the path of Castro."

Mr. Arsenault said he was confident that, with the evolution of co-operative federalism, Canada would emerge with "nine provinces and a state."

Julie Andrews Takes Lead As Oscar Fever Increases

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The whole town's talking about:

The growing Oscar fever . . . the improvement of Julie Andrews' chances to win the big prize, especially since her Golden Globes appearance . . . the foreign press award to Circus World as best song of the year over Dear Heart and Chim Chim Cheree. . . .

The tentative schedules for next year's television season . . . the chance that Dr. Kildare may split a la Peyton Place with a half-hour twice a week . . . the reported death knells for such series as Perry Mason, M. Novak, The Defenders, The Doctors and the Nurses, Rawhide, Slattery's People, Hazel, Bing Crosby Show, Tycoon and many more. . . .

CBS joining the other two networks in showing old movies in prime time . . . the pair of wartime prison camp series—CBS' Hogan's Heroes and NBC's Campo 44 . . . ABC's pushing a success to the limit with Peyton Place twice a week and The Girl from Peyton twice a week . . . the boom for camera-trick artists: more supernatural series (I Dream of Geni, Haunted, etc.) on the 1965-66 schedule. . . .)

Marcello Mastroianni's improved English during his brief visit here (favorite phrase: "Very amusing") . . .

PLAN IMITATIONS

The flock of James Bond imitations being planned on the heels of the Goldfinger success ($20,000,000 to $30,000,000 world gross predicted). . . .

Notre Dame being thrown for a loss by the latest John Goldfarb court decision reversing the previous injunction . . . the rumors that Pernell Roberts may be back on Bonanza next season after all—but on a limited basis . . . and the chance that Ottawa native Lorne Greene may get upset if Pernell is handed a softer schedule than the other three cartwrights. . . .

Joseph E. Levin's hapless debut as a legit backer: The one-night Broadway stand of Kelly, which starred Don Francks of Toronto, at a record $650,000 loss . . . the growing censorship of movie ads by American newspapers . . . the concern over the announced intention of Senator Thomas Dodd to investigate "sex and violence" in movies. . . .

The succumbing of Spencer Tracy to the television lure—he'll host and narrate a series of historical films for Wolper Productions . . . the wry-on-the-rocks title of Richard Burton's first pop single on GM records, Married Man. . . .

ANDREWS
. . . chances improve

The possibility of a merger of two Hollywood dynasties with the romance of Terry Melcher, son of Doris Day, and Claudia Martin, daughter of Dean . . . the growing boredom with projects to exploit the sorrows of Jean Harlow . . .

Blind Bowlers Defeat Senior Citizens

The blind scored 512 for their high-three victory against 499 for the senior citizens.

The best average for the afternoon went to the senior citizens with less than a 15 point lead, 450.4 to the blind team's 435.

The blind players have only guiding vision. They move more or less by themselves, but are assisted in lining up for rolling.

Councillor's Wife Killed On Way Here

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—A Terrace woman on a motor trip to Victoria with her husband was killed Saturday night when their car was in collision with a light truck on Highway No. 16, 26 miles west of here.

Police said Ivadele Tupper, 60, was killed instantly when the eastbound car driven by her husband, Harry Tupper, turned sideways on a curve and struck the front part of the westbound truck.

Mr. Tupper was in fair condition in hospital suffering concussion.

He is maintenance superintendent for Columbia Cellulose Company, Terrace woods division, and is due to retire in April.

ACTING REEVE

He started his third term on the Terrace municipal council last month. He was en route to Victoria to meet Tuesday morning with government officials. Mr. Tupper has been acting reeve in the absence of Reeve Walter Yeo.

Truck driver George Frose of Vanderhoof and his two passengers were taken to hospital at Vanderhoof for treatment of minor injuries and later were released.

Tanzania Feuding With U.S.

DAR ES SALAAM (AP)—Relations between Tanzania and the United States deteriorated further today after the United States expelled a Tanzanian diplomat and the African nation called its ambassador home from Washington.

"We are a small country but we are as much a sovereign state as is the United States," the Tanzanian government said in a statement Sunday night. "We do not bully and we do not like being bullied."

President Julius Nyerere summoned Ambassador Othman Shariff home Sunday after the U.S. announced the expulsion of Tanzania's No. 2 diplomat in Washington.

The U.S. action was in retaliation for Tanzania's expulsion of two American diplomats last month on charges of subversive activities.

The U.S. state department said that "a thorough investigation" uncovered no basis for the charge against the expelled Americans. They were Frank Carlucci III, consul-general on the island of Zanzibar; and Robert Gordon, counsellor of the U.S. embassy in Dar Es Salaam, the capital of Tanzania.

Tanzania, a country of 10,500,000 was formed last year by the merger of Tanganyika and the neighboring island of Zanzibar. Tanganyika is a former British colony and Zanzibar a former British protectorate.

Canadians Support Extension

TORONTO (CP) — A resolution drawn up by a conference of 500 Jews Sunday has asked West Germany to extend its statute of limitations beyond May 8, 1965, in connection with Nazi war criminals.

Meyer Gasner, chairman of the central region of the Canadian Jewish Congress and convener of the conference, said the members, representing the 105,000 Jews in Ontario, had agreed to send a delegation Tuesday to the West German consulate here.

At another meeting Sunday, a conference of 35 trade union organizations also agreed to send a delegation to the consulate.

ATTACKED by African lion for 10 to 15 minutes when the animal sprang through an open door of its cage at feeding time was part owner of Hill City Zoo, in South Dakota, Harvey Colgrove, 27. He was hospitalized with eye, ear and neck injuries. Colgrove was rescued by deputy sheriff who shot the lion with rifle.

QUEBEC STUDENTS

'Abolish Monarchy' Young Liberals Urge

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec Student Liberal Federation adopted resolutions Sunday in favor of abolishing the monarchy in Canada and of making Quebec a unilingual French-speaking province.

Delegates turned back another resolution opposing the federal-provincial plan for bringing the constitution to Canada from Britain until an "adequate formula" is worked out.

The students resolved that the monarchy be replaced by a president named by the prime minister for a six-year term and alternating between English- and French-speaking persons.

The vote was unanimous except for one French-speaking delegate who opposed the resolution on the grounds that the monarchy has always been the best defender of French-Canadian rights.

The unilingualism resolution, supported by French-speaking and opposed by English-speaking delegates, said it is unjust for the 15 per cent of Quebec people who speak English to impose their language on the 85 per cent who speak French.

Republican Gov't Backed In Ont.

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto and district Young Liberals approved a motion Saturday calling for abolition of the monarchy and establishment of a republican form of government in Canada.

The motion followed the defeat of another affirming the role of the monarchy in Canadian government and urging that the role be strengthened.

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1965 —PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

On Sunday night, we got talking about time zones, and couldn't for the life of us remember how the clock hands of Newfoundland were positioned at 5:45 p.m. of a cloudy Pacific dusk.

So we checked around, and from a communications service received firm assurance that one minute earlier at St. John, the time had been 10:15 p.m.

Somehow, that simple fact of a four and one half hour time difference between Atlantic and Pacific impressed the bigness of Canada upon me more profoundly than any statement of distance measured in miles.

We have a very big country here; perhaps too large, as a crowded world judges these matters, for a population of just under 20 million.

In our major cities—and how few these still are for our enormous expanse—this truth is not apparent. But travel across the land, especially at night, and you realize that we are spread very thin: a handful of lights spangled across enormous voids of darkness.

This will change, in fact is changing now. Eventually, I believe geopolitical common sense and drastically revised tariff doctrines will multiply our numbers.

Our size and our potential impose a condition of tenure upon Canadians which we would do well to accept. If we are to retain our national identity, we must shape and maintain a very much stronger unity than we now enjoy.

In the 98 years since Confederation, we have tied this big country together with railway steel and blacktop and flight-lanes. But do Quebec and British Columbia really know each other better than they did 50 years ago, and does Ontario truly realize even now that Canada doesn't end at the head of the lakes?

I doubt it: I think the sectionalism which has been our curse and our pride since Upper Canada traded hard looks with Lower Canada has not yielded to physical linkage.

Because of our size, sectionalism we must have. But only up to a point. We court danger when we confuse provincialism with patriotism. Here, all provinces are guilty, British Columbia not least.

There are times in our B.C. legislative sittings when a visitor might wonder whether Ottawa was the capital of some enemy power.

Well, history in its jogging has fetched us to an historic day for the parts of Canada which we must somehow weld firmly into a whole.

As the earth in its turning brought each of our six time-zones to its noon, the same new flag climbed the halyards.

The debate that established it was long and bitter, and the scars will not heal overnight.

But the maple leaf flag is an accomplished fact now, tangible against a Canadian sky, and there it will flaunt a new symbol for a lifetime long as Canada's.

We find it strange. The next generation born under it will accept it without question, and with only the mildest academic interest in its origins.

If such a minor item is recorded, future Canadians will note with mild amusement that on the day their flag was first officially unfurled, a few of the watchers wore mourning black.

In this retreat from the main current, there is a certain pathos. But there's scant profit in backward-looking in a world that changes whether we will or no; and the cause of unity is not bolstered by making a funeral of a flag-raising.

Better, I think, to wish the new flag luck and love . . . and to hope it will one day fly over the truly united Canada toward which we must stumble our often-painful way.

MEMBERS OF THE YOUNG SOCIAL CREDIT LEAGUE jammed the steps of the legislature shortly after nine this morning to touch off celebrations in honor of Premier Bennett's record-breaking rule as premier of B.C. The young people came from all over B.C. to take part in the program of congratulations which continues throughout this week.

IT'S HIS DAY

Young SCs Hail The Chief

Some of them, all members of the B.C. Young Social Credit League, had travelled all night by bus from interior points.

Their arrival on the front steps of the Legislative Buildings was somewhat dampened by a cool sea breeze and the fact Premier Bennett had not arrived in his office.

But loyal to cause they mustered a straw-boater-raised cheer and settled in to tour the buildings until their hero arrived around noon.

RARE TREAT

Premier Bennett was to be treated to a rare experience this afternoon — personal praise in the legislature from Robert Strachan, leader of Her Majesty's loyal opposition.

Mr. Strachan was to move a resolution, seconded by Attorney-General Robert Bonner, congratulating the premier's record tenure. The resolution was to be the first order of business for the legislature.

Tributes from all sides of the House were expected to take up a considerable portion of the afternoon's business so only two, instead of the usual five, speakers were scheduled to participate in the budget debate.

POURING IN

Meanwhile, letters and telegrams of congratulation were reported to be pouring in from leading citizens in the province and across the country at his office, Oak Bay apartment and even his Salt Spring Island retreat.

The premier spent the morning quietly at a family breakfast in his apartment that included his married sons, Russell and William, and his grandchildren.

PEARKES' DINNER

This evening at 7:30 the Bennett family will be guests of honor at a private dinner at Government House with Lieut.-Governor George Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes as hosts.

A small group of friends, leading clergymen and members of the Supreme Court will also attend the dinner.

On Wednesday the premier will travel to Vancouver to attend a testimonial dinner sponsored by a non-partisan group of businessmen.

RCMP SEEK MORE FACTS ON LETTER

RCMP are seeking "additional information" which could be used in laying charges as a result of the phoney letter bearing Premier W. A. C. Bennett's signature.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today said a Friday conference between his officials and RCMP led to a decision to seek more information about the origin of the letter sent to Prime Minister Pearson's aide Hal Dornan, apparently in support of Harry Stonehill's immigration application.

"SEVERAL DAYS"

"This phase should take several days," Mr. Bonner said of the continuing investigation.

Asked if it would lead to charges, Mr. Bonner replied:

"The possibility that information obtained may lead to laying of charges has occupied the attention of the RCMP from the outset."

Meanwhile, Liberal MLA Harry McKay was scheduled to speak in the budget debate early Tuesday afternoon.

He is expected to divulge the name of the letter's author in his speech. Mr. Bonner has refused to reveal the name on the grounds that it would be improper before charges are laid.

JONES CASE

Appeal Hearing Within Month

The Crown appeal against the dismissal of two charges against B.C. government purchasing commissioner G. E. P. Jones will be heard within the next month.

Notice of appeal in the case has been filed, Crown prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie said today.

He also said a decision in the George Hankinson case will be made as soon as he receives a transcript of Magistrate William Ostler's recent decision.

Mr. McKenzie said the Hankinson case will definitely go back into court and all that has to be decided is "the precise avenue we will take."

ACQUITTED

Mr. Jones, suspended purchasing commission chairman, was acquitted of unlawfully accepting benefits from Mr. Hankinson.

Judge Montague Drake gave as one of his two reasons for dismissal that Mr. Jones is not a government official within the meaning of the section of the Criminal Code under which he was charged. He also said he would acquit Mr. Jones on the evidence in the case.

Mr. McKenzie said the Crown will appeal Judge Drake's ruling on Mr. Jones' status.

IN VANCOUVER

He said it is likely the appeal will be heard in Vancouver but it may be scheduled for Victoria.

The charges against Mr. Hankinson of conferring benefits on Mr. Jones were quashed by Magistrate Ostler in city court.

The Crown has several alternatives to reopen the Hankinson case. It could appeal the judgment of the magistrate in quashing the charges or it could lay the charges again and have them heard without a preliminary hearing.

LEGISLATURE SPEAKERS

8:30 p.m. — H. J. Bruch (SC—Esquimalt); and J. D. Tisdalle (SC—Saanich).

'Diplomats' Plan Trip To Quebec

Mayor R. B. Wilson is expected to be in the vanguard of at least 100 B.C. mayors and civic administrators in a Quebec diplomatic mission in May.

Marcel Lambert, president of the Quebec Union of Municipalities, announced Sunday the visit would reciprocate the highly successful trip of some 300 mayors and municipal representatives to Victoria and Vancouver in November.

Montreal will host the party May 16-20, coinciding with the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities meeting in Windsor.

"FOLLOW THROUGH"

Although detailed plans have not yet been made, it was hoped that at least one representative would go from the other Greater Victoria municipalities, which were co-hosts to the Quebec party.

"We've got to follow through," city manager Dennis Young commented. "It's the sort of thing that if we don't, we destroy all that has been set up," he said, referring to a rapport between east and west established last year.

Frostbiter Takes All The Hard Way

Young failed to win a race, but his two seconds and a fourth gave him overall El Toro honors for the day.

In fact, he was defeated by his wife Pamela in one race and her win enabled her to place fourth in aggregate standings.

Frank Cushing and Dick James were second and third, respectively.

THERE WAS A FIGHT; THAT THEY AGREE ON

A sailor and a civilian had two conflicting stories when they appeared in city court this morning but both pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance.

Gregory Mills, HMCS Naden, and Charn Dhillon, 827 Princess, were remanded to Feb. 23 for sentence.

Detective-Constable Ron Holder said he found them fighting on Pandora near Uncle Jake's Discotheque late Saturday night. He said "they had gone outside to settle an argument."

Not so, said Mills. He claimed he left the dance place to avoid a fight and Dhillon caught him outside.

Both were released on their own recognizance to await sentence.

Topics of the Day

A total of $274 in cash was stolen some time Sunday from an unlocked safe at Gibson's Bowladrome, 914 Yates Street.

The theft was discovered in early afternoon. There was no sign of forced entry but police were told the safe had been left unlocked for one hour earlier in the day.

MOONIE TRIAL

Bullet Fired After Argument Court Told

The non-capital murder trial of 21-year-old Garry Moonie, 170 Hartland Road, began this morning before Chief Justice J. O. Wilson and an all-male jury.

Moonie was charged following the death of his father, Allen Austin Moonie, 41, who died of gunshot wounds last November.

Outlining the case for the Crown, William McIntyre said after some argument Garry Moonie, who was in bed, got up, took a service rifle and put in one round.

He came into view of his father and at short range, fired at him, counsel said.

Det.-Insp. Percy Easler, head of the Vancouver crime detection laboratory, told the court he received from Saanich police a .303 bolt-action rifle, an expended cartridge case and a box of 19 .303 live cartridges.

He made a microscopic comparison of the spent cartridge and of a test-fired cartridge and concluded the spent one was fired from the rifle.

The trial continues.

Loffmark to Speak

Industry and trade and commerce minister Ralph Loffmark will speak on basic principles of tax planning at a meeting of the Victoria Life Underwriters Association Wednesday at the Tally-Ho Motor Hotel.

Indefinite Term Given Youth, 16, To 'Change Scene'

A 16-year-old youth who needs "guidance, counselling and discipline" will get all three for the next eight and possibly 12 months.

He was convicted earlier of possession of stolen property valued under $50.

He had been held in jail for two weeks awaiting preparation of a pre-sentence report. The report showed the youth has a dismaying background, said Magistrate William Ostler.

The magistrate agreed but added "There is no possible way to get the good to come out unless he is removed from his present environment. There is no hope for him unless the pattern of his living is changed."

MARATHONERS PASS CENTURY MARK

Washday Blues Flood Dragsters

The worst time to wait for a car to wash is around three o'clock in the dark hours of a Sunday morning.

Marty Richards, 20, and Barry Rintoul, 26, discovered that over the weekend as they scrubbed, washed and polished their way through the first 24 hours of a 53½-hour car wash marathon.

This morning they were still at it, the 102nd car waiting near the gas pumps at Suburban Motors, Saanich and Douglas, for treatment from suds and hose.

FUND-RAISING

Both men are members of the Victoria Classic Car Club staging the non-stop 99-cent washathon to raise funds for the Vancouver Island Drag Association and charities. At one point nine club members scrubbed and polished.

But at 10 this morning Barry, Classic Car Club president, and Marty, his number two man, were the lone survivors working with one eye on the clock.

This evening they expect a little relief from members called to regular work duties this morning.

"Just think, we only have to go till midnight," weary voices murmured. "Then we can sleep and forget about this cold, cold water."

86-Year Old's Bed Warmers Bring Firemen

An 86-year-old Esquimalt man who wanted to warm up his bed got more heat than he bargained for Sunday night.

The man, whose identity has not been revealed by Esquimalt police, heated up several irons and placed them in his bed before retiring for the night.

Then he went downstairs and listened to the radio. Upstairs his bed caught fire and smoke soon started coming down.

He went up, threw parts of the bed out a window and kept sticking his own head out for air. Three Esquimalt policemen arrived before the fire brigade.

They were beaten back by smoke several times before locating the man. He couldn't understand what all the fuss was was about or why the fire department had been called.

DEAR ABBY . . .

It's Obvious!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I need a serious answer. Time after time you advise women, who are married to men who have lost all interest in sex, to "get him to a doctor."

Now tell me, Abby. Exactly what can a doctor do for him?

MARRIED TO ONE

DEAR MARRIED: A doctor can tell whether his lack of interest is due to physical reasons, or psychological ones. If it's physical, the situation might possibly be remedied with proper treatment. If it's psychological, the man might need psychotherapy. If it's due to the natural aging process, and nothing can be done to restore his interest, then the wife might need some psychotherapy to help her accept it.

DEAR ABBY: Is it true that people who eat more slowly tend to eat less food?

HARRIETTE

DEAR HARRIETTE: Yes, and especially if they are members of a large family.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man who was married before but was separated from his wife at the time we met. He assured me that he and his wife had been estranged for a long time and that he never saw her. Well, Abby, shortly after we returned from our honeymoon, I found a folder with 87 letters from her. I am not proud of it, but I read every one of them. She tells him how much she "loves' him and "misses" him. They are all dated, and were written when he and I were going together. If I had known that she was trying to get him back, I would have let him alone. It is too late now. We are married. My husband said those letters don't mean a thing, that she loves to write letters, but he never answered any of them. I realize he can't be blamed because SHE wrote to him, but if her letters didn't mean a thing, what was he saving them for?

SECOND WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Look at it this way: If he were trying to get away with something, he'd have destroyed the "evidence."

DEAR ABBY: I know you can't print all the letters you get, but I wish you would print this one. About three years ago I wrote to tell you my troubles, which all started with a drinking problem. You told me to admit to myself that I was an alcoholic and to go to an A.A. meeting. I went, and they gave me all the help and understanding you said they would. After staying on the wagon for six months, my wife took me back and I became a family man again. I am now holding down a job. It's hard work, but I'm glad I can do it. I now live according to the A.A. program and still attend meetings. I pay my bills and stay sober one day at a time. I now look at myself in the mirror and I like what I see. I go to parties where others drink, but I stick to my fruit juice. I don't think anybody could get me to take "just one" again. God bless you, Abby, and thank you for helping to give me a new life.

Stains Vanish as This Appears on the Scene

By Penny Saver

The spring clean-up campaign I was talking about the other day is working very well. But there are some problems which I had, and have now solved, that I thought I'd pass along to you.

When cleaning my plastic breakfast set and china dinner set, I found I had a terrible time removing ugly tea and coffee stains under the surface. But, the store I went to for help has a remedy for that! One of their cleaners, selling for $1, is the perfect way to leave dishes sparkling.

Following instructions, add this product to a large pan of hot water and let your dishes soak. Remove and rinse. No more brown stains to worry about!

Another thing I always had trouble with was removing baked-on grease and food from frying pans and pots. Not any more, since I discovered a coating material to prevent it.

Brushed on, the silicone-treated liquid forms a tough, glassy and non-toxic finish to discourage grease from caking. (This does not mean you don't have to use fat, but the liquid removes the necessity to scour and scrub.) Soaps and detergents won't mar it, either.

If rough abrasives, used to strip wood or tile floors before waxing is a problem, Penny found a solution.

Priced at $1.49, are two pads that fit any standard floor polisher and eliminate the necessity of scrubbing floors to remove old wax and marks.

Each pad is of soft plastic foam, containing a number of silicone particles to remove old wax. Snap them on and they begin to cut wax gently, without harming floor surfaces.

And, if you want to give a room a pleasant, refreshing scent after cleaning, drop one of the little "pills" I found into the dust bag of your vacuum. The circulating air inside will release a light scent into the air to freshen it. Price of this is 20 pills for $1.69, or 10 cents each.

SEW SIMPLE WITH Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I have just finished a very thick heavy wool coat and it looked magnificent on the hanger. But, horrors, when I wore it the collar in back curled up and showed about a half inch of the collar facing. I'm so conscious of this I don't want to wear it until it has been fixed. Any good ideas you might have would be welcome. Judging from the coats I see other women wearing, I'm not the only one with this problem.

Mrs. V.G.

Dear Mrs. V.G.:

You have not allowed enough extra fabric on the top collar to allow it to roll nicely. This is more often noticed in coats because of the heavy fabric, but your problem can be corrected very easily.

Remove all the stitches that are holding the lining down to the back of the neck of your coat. Also remove any stitches holding the top collar down at the neck edge. If the coat had a separate neck facing, this will have to be ripped where they join at the neckline.

Push up extra fabric in the top collar (it doesn't matter if the seam line doesn't match at the neck). Before you redo the neckline, check carefully to be sure you have allowed enough fabric this time. When the collar rolls perfectly, without showing the facing, you may fasten the cut edge to the neckline seam. You may have to bring the lining up a little higher to cover this seam (rob Peter to pay Paul).

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You Can Dine Out and Cut Calories From the Meal

Lowman

If you started my Eight-Week Beauty Improvement Plan when it first began in this newspaper, you have completed five weeks of the eight-week plan and should be feeling pretty proud of yourself. Some of you may not have started quite so soon. At any rate you are all seeing results by now which give your vanity a big boost. Isn't it a wonderful feeling?

Even though it will be necessary to have your clothes altered again at the end of the eight weeks, I think you should fit them now to your present figure. Don't wait another three weeks to begin enjoying your new silhouette. This will give you a little prize you deserve along the way, and will encourage you to stick to your routine until the end of the program.

If you did not have 20 pounds to lose and have already reached your ideal weight, keep on with the figure-molding exercises and special hair and skin care to see how lovely you can be in three more weeks. The exercises will streamline your figure. I hope by then you will have found the habit of exercise and a beauty routine so successful and rewarding that you will continue.

You also deserve another prize now. Ask your husband to take you out for dinner for a change, or if you are not married, have dinner with a friend at a good restaurant. You can splurge once in six weeks! Actually, you can have a very good dinner and still not go too far over your daily allowable calorie intake.

The following ideas are important and are valuable for any woman who gains weight easily.

If you order a seafood cocktail, order the tomato-catsup sort of dressing with it instead of mayonnaise.

Beware of the crackers which come with it and the soup. You may have a couple, but if you are not careful, all the crackers and butter will disappear. You can eat a lot of calories before you even start on the main course.

Choose meat or fish or fowl cream soups. It is possible to get 1,200 calories from just these first two courses.

Choose meat or fish or fowl instead of casserole dishes.

Order a baked potato and splurge with butter on it instead of potatoes au gratin, scalloped or fried.

Do not stuff on rolls—maybe one.

You still have about eight weeks before getting out spring clothes. If you would like to join BIP for a loss of 10 to 20 pounds or to see how much you can improve your appearance in eight weeks time, you will want my BIP kit. This gives you complete directions, a calorie chart, illustrated exercises and a weight chart on which to plot your progress. To get the kit, send 25 cents, plus 15 cents for postage and handling and your printed name and address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

CLUBWOMEN'S NEWS

Donations: A sum of $150 will be donated to the University of Victoria library fund, it was announced at the recent meeting of the Oak Bay Opti-Mrs. Club. Mrs. M. C. Jasper presided at the meeting, held in the Beach Drive home of Mrs. A. G. MacBride. A further $50 will be donated to the Robertson Family Fund.

New Officers—Newly-elected president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Clayoquot Sound Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion is Mrs. Raymond Turnbull. Other newly-elected officers are Mrs. Ray Sloman, vice-president; Mrs. Murdo MacLeod, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Lil Bruneau, standard-bearer.

Guest Speaker—An explanation of textiles and texture of fabrics suitable for draperies, upholstery, slipcovers and carpets was given by Mrs. B. W. Provost when she spoke to Xi Xi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, at a recent meeting in the McNeill Avenue home of Mrs. H. McGregor. It was announced that recording secretary, Mrs. L. R. Weekend Visitors

Many out-of-town guests had a busy afternoon in Victoria last weekend. They came to attend the international night banquet and other festivities arranged by the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club. The visitors included Mrs. M. Campbell, Vancouver; Mrs. V. Booker, Seattle; Mrs. Irma Anderson, Forest Grove, Ore.; Anne Wilson, Alice Morris, Edith Rice, Margaret Smith, Ruth Studebaker, Gerry Baxter, Alice Burkett, Alice Ferguson, Mildred Burford, Jane Bruce, Eleanor Rainier, all of Port Orchard, Washington.

Also attending were Jane Beam, Puyallop, Wash.; Pansy Taylor, Henrietta Churchill and Judy Dunn, all of Oak Harbor, Wash.; Alice Hopkins, Hillsboro, Ore.; Joyce Willis, McMinnville, Ore.; Ruth Morgan, Geneva Borho and Madge Nailor, all of Port Angeles, Wash.; Mary Johnson and Eileen Grey, both of Bainbridge, Wash.; Cicely Lawrence, Isabelle Lamperson and Alice Ross, all of Nanaimo; Mrs. Bev Johnson and Mrs. Frances Beattie, both of Powell River; Phyllis Chandler, Karen Morsund, Winnifred Denison, Effie Peters, Lexis McKay, Alberta Peters, Jean Wadley, Jane Craig, Mrs. A. Chalmers, Florence Cole and Jean Baillie, all of Vancouver; Dorothy L. Kynaston, Genia Newton and Catherine Milne, all of Sidney; Elizabeth Miller and Vi Harris, both of Duncan.

Here for Wedding

A number of guests travelled from Vancouver to attend the recent Green-Mawdsley wedding. They included Mr. C. Halliwell, the bride's great-uncle; Mrs. R. Luney, her cousin, and the Misses Eleanor Smith and Marian Cochran. Other out-of-town guests were Reeve O. C. Morton, Duncan; Mr. J. Mather, Lake Cowichan; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smith of Maple Bay, and Mr. G. W. Owens, Mesachie Lake, B.C.

Visit Victoria

Recent guests in the Mitchell Street home of Mrs. E. W. White were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. White of Vancouver. The couple was visiting here prior to Mr. White's departure for St. Louis, Mo., where his wife and family will join him in the summer to make their new home.

Reunion Party

Members of St. Margaret's School Old Girls' Association gathered in the school's common room recently at a reunion coffee party. Among those who attended were Mrs. A. Lightbody, Vancouver; Miss Berna Dean Benjestors, Campbell River; Mrs. D. W. Cobbett, head mistress of the school; Miss Margaret Roberts, president of the association; Mrs. A. K. Love, Miss Frances Price, Mrs. C. C. Barman, Mrs. R. F. Nixon, Mrs. P. J. Steel, Mrs. J. H. Graham and Miss Greta Jones. Entertainment was provided by the school boarders and refreshments were served.

Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Ammann, 4496 West Saanich Road, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Trudy Kingold, to Mr. David Lloyd Hillis, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hillis of Deep Cove. The marriage will take place on Friday, March 19.

In City

Out-of-town guests in the city to attend the recent Jury-Smith wedding included Mr. and Mrs. D. McInnes and Mr. and Mrs. J. Martin, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith with Sherri and Johnny of Nanaimo; Mr. and Mrs. K. Finlay with Wendy and Carol and Mrs. P. Dartt, all of Ladysmith.

From Seattle

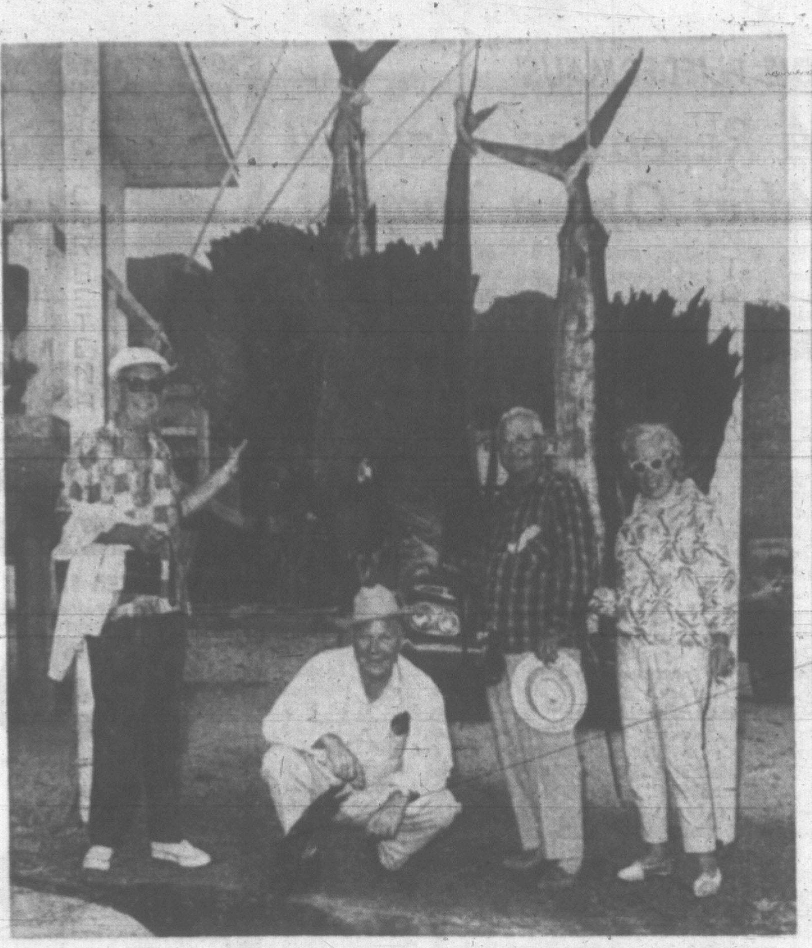
Mr. and Mrs. A. James Cook arrived in Victoria on Saturday afternoon, and are staying at the Empress Hotel. Mr. Cook is leaving this evening for their home in Seattle, Wash., where Mrs. Cook will join him in two weeks.

Couple Feted

An electric table clock was presented to Lt.-Col. and Mrs. H. S. Thuillier when they were honored at a recent farewell party given by members of the Cobble Hill Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion. The couple have been members of the branch for 17 years. They are now making their home in Victoria.

CONSUMERS NAME SECTION CHIEF

OTTAWA (CP) — Lois M. Hurst of Toronto has been appointed chief of the federal agriculture department's consumer section. She succeeds Laura C. Pepper of Ottawa, who retired in 1964. Miss Hurst, whose appointment is effective March 8, has been senior home economist with Ontario Hydro's home service bureau in Toronto since 1958.



Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Olson, at right, are presently holidaying at Guadalajara in Mexico. The magnificent sailfish in the picture, which measures 10 feet and weighs 145 pounds, was caught by Mrs. Olson while the Victoria couple was holidaying in the Mexican resort of Puerto Vallarta, Jaisco. The other two men in the picture are American tourists from Omaha, Neb., and Houston, Tex.

USE REVISED CEREMONY

Green-Mawdsley Vows Exchanged

The revised United Church wedding ceremony was performed for the first time in Metropolitan United Church recently when Rev. Albert E. King heard marriage vows exchanged between Zenith Mawdsley and Dr. John Green.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Ian Mawdsley, 1023 Davie Street, and the late Mr. Mawdsley. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ivan E. Green, 5226 Del Monte Avenue.

Cut flowers flanked by white candles and arranged by the groom's mother and Mrs. M. Wells decorated the church for the ceremony.

As the bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Wilton Mawdsley, the congregation sang "Praise My Soul the King of Heaven." During the service, Mrs. George Essihos sang the "Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie enhanced with lace appliques. Her waist-length veil was highlighted with a border of lace and she carried a bouquet of pink roses, white daisies and ivy.

Identical gowns of chiffon over taffeta in tones of pink and blue were the choice of maid of honor Miss Iona Mawdsley, bridesmaid, Miss Helen Green, sisters of the principals, and bridesmatron Mrs. Paul Wade. They complemented their gowns with matching chapel-length veils.

Fred Green was best man for his brother, and the guests were ushered by Jack Mathers, Norman Spencer and Robert Thompson.

A three-tier wedding cake made by Mrs. Pickering, the bride's aunt, centred the head table. It was flanked by pink roses and white candles. Background music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Essihos.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to California, the bride donned a brown silk dress with matching accessories and toning braided straw turban hat. Her white wool topcoat featured a brown Kalinsky fur neckline and she carried a corsage of yellow roses.

IODE Chapters Raise $4,000 At Mammoth Anniversary Festival

The great old "roarin' 20s" were brought to life for a great number of Victorians, Saturday afternoon.

The Charleston and songs from "way back when" were revived in a song and dance revue that highlighted the entertainment at the 65th anniversary festival held in the Club Sirocco by the municipal and primary chapters of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Performing in the revue that was entitled "From Bustles to Bikinis" were organist, Reg Stone, and singers, Cliff Clarke, Marge Bridgeman, Janet Senior and Robbie Gillespie.

The sum of $4,000 was realized from the gigantic affair and will be divided among the chapters to aid in furthering their work.

The event was opened by Mrs. George R. Pearkes who was introduced by Mrs. Elsie Lowthian, municipal regent. Other special guests were Mrs. Peter Bell, provincial second vice-president, and Mrs. A. B. Hall, Nanaimo, provincial third vice-president.

POPULAR AUCTION

Rating a first on the list of major attractions was an auction sale ably convened by Mrs. Graham Harris and members of the Aldyen Hamber Chapter.

Demonstrating his selling abilities was auctioneer W. Lund. Everything from china jam jars to silver tea services was sold at "bargain basement" rates.

Topping the poll in the home cooking section was the delicatessen, manned by members of the Robert Burns McMicking Chapter under direction of Miss Alison Chrow. Vying for first place were sumptuous potato salads, crisp cole slaws and mouth-watering salmon rings.

Meriting a close second was the candy stall laden with home-made sweets and convened by Mrs. J. Pettersson and fellow members of Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter.

Clothes for every member of the family could be purchased in the French Shop where Mrs. I. Burrows, assisted by members of the Royal Bride Chapter, offered a gamut of goods from shoes and handbags to sweaters and mufflers.

Early shoppers found they could stop for lunch at a bevy of tables set up by the members of the Esquimalt Chapter. Under the direction of Mrs. A. W. Smith, the chapter members acted as hostesses, serviteurs and cooks.

Later in the afternoon the John Hebden Gillespie Chapter offered their services as tea hostesses, led by Mrs. G. Dunaway.

Other conveners included: Jams and jellies, Mrs. J. Van Norman, Camosun Chapter; aprons and novelties, Mrs. H. Davenport, Navy League; home cooking, Mrs. E. P. Angus, Royal Roads; Ye Olde Curiosity Shoppe, Mrs. G. Swainston, Florence Nightingale; lucky dip, Mrs. W. Walsh, Florence Nightingale, and raffle for a $500 bond, Mrs. H. I. Menzies.

Unique Program Launched To Help Women Find Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A unique and imaginative program was launched last week across the United States to pick the first recruits for the women's job corps.

The goal is to select 300 girls by Feb. 26.

Announcement is expected soon on the location of the first residence centre to aid out-of-school, out-of-work girls 16 to 21.

A job corps camp for young men already is operating in Catoctin National Park near Thurmont, Md. And the first women's centre—to be located in a city—is expected to be ready by the end of March.

Of the 100,000 applicants for the job corps so far, 20,000 are young women.

Those accepted for the job corps will receive special occupational training, remedial education to bring them up in levels of reading and writing, plus basic homemaking and self-supporting skills.

The aim is to help them to prepare to hold jobs, gain a better education or take up responsible rôles in family life.

Thousands of volunteers from four major women's organizations have banded together in an effort to back the women's job corps. They started work this week in six cities—Newark, N.J., Pittsburgh, New Orleans, San Francisco, Portland, Ore., and Nashville, Tenn.—to process recruits and go to their homes to explain to their parents what the program is all about.

HEADS FORCE

A federal government force headed by Dr. Jeanne Noble, a human relations professor at New York University, set up guidelines for the women's centres. The group believed that girls—more than boys—needed a more personal touch.

So it sparked formation of WICS, Women in Community Services Incorporated, made up of members of the National Council of Catholic Women, National Council of Jewish Women, National Council of Negro Women and United Church Women.

While starting in just six cities now, they'll open recruiting centres in many other communities later.

Eventually, they expect to process some 6,500 women enrollees.

They have an initial contract of $175,000 with the federal government to cover expenses in hiring professionals like psychiatrists, doctors and guidance councillors to process and screen recruits. But all the other work will be done by volunteers.

(Test drive it)

We broke the big rule with the Renault 4.
We put all the money into its engineering.
Not body design. Or fancy trappings.
We did this because a lot of people want stamina in a car, rather than status.
This they get with the Renault 4.
Its suspension is so good the car doesn't even need a road.
The body is fully dipped against corrosion.
And you never have to grease the Renault 4.
The Renault 4 gives up to 45 miles per gallon at 60 miles per hour.
It carries four big people comfortably.
Or two big people and 500 lbs. of what-have-you.
So take your kids to school, go hunting, skiing—use it as a delivery van.
The Renault 4 will do all this, on the highway or off, for years (many people have driven Renault 4s over 70,000 miles without even minor repairs).
Now, what does this kind of performance cost you?

Professor Outlines Differences Between Real and Fake Novelists

"A 'fake' novelist is primarily one who writes what he thinks readers like, what will keep them comfortable and never disturb or upset them. On the other hand, the 'real' writer is defined as one whose source is himself, who writes what he sees with his own eyes and what he believes."

These were the generalizations pointed out by George Cuomo, associate professor of the English department of the University of Victoria when he addressed the Victoria Home Economics and Dietetic Association on "Real Writing Versus Fake Writing." The meeting was held in the Greater Victoria Art Gallery.

The speaker referred to those writers who never challenge the basic ideas, attitudes, prejudices or beliefs as "commercial writers" who cater to the readers and reinforce what the reader already thinks and accepts.

He states, "Such a writer may use violence and sex for excitement but carefully arranges to have the reader feel superior and at the same time align himself with the good, thus managing to allow the reader to enjoy his vicarious 'kicks' and his conscience at the same time."

He also criticized that in such books issues are always black and white—simple and clear-cut instead of grey.

In illustrating, he remarked, "Few toes are stepped on. Superiority is always implied of the middle class over the upper and lower classes; common sense over the complicated, and the ignorant over the knowledgeable."

Stating the case for the 'real' writer, he envisioned a writer who tries to give an honest, original point of view insofar as he is capable.

"Though he may present a distorted and untrue picture of the world, a bad vision, a perverted faith or lack of perception, his views are unsolicited and presumably non-aligned."

The speaker listed such authors as Faulkner, Steinbeck, O'Neill, Sinclair Lewis and Arthur Miller as "today's yeast of society."

In closing, he claimed that censorship can be considered as an attempt to cause the real writer to conform to the standards of the fake—to sign contracts with the reader.

Himself the author of two books, "Jack Be Nimble" and the recently published "Bright Day, Dark Runner," Mr. Cuomo is leaving Victoria at the end of this term to assume a senior post at California State College in Haywood, Calif.

Auxiliary To Become Sitters

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Dunstan's Anglican Church decided to go into the baby sitting business when it met for a recent meeting in the Majestic Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Freeman. The group voted to provide baby sitters for the Women's World Day of Prayer, to be held at the church, March 5 at 2 p.m.

The auxiliary also decided to hold a bridge or other entertainment to raise funds. A corporate communion, installation of officers and dedication of members was held in early February.

Mrs. J. M. MacKay, Little Helpers' secretary, convened a party for Little Helpers' mothers. The party was held in the Houlihan Place home of Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Darling, Friday. Mrs. H. J. Newnham, diocesan Little Helpers' secretary, spoke on "Ideals for Parents."

It was announced that the next meeting of the auxiliary will be held in the Feltham Road home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Aubel.

BE SMART—

Here's a glamor girl's trick for curling the lashes and making them stay that way until the next time: After mascara has been applied, catch hold with the curler and count to 80. For extra-special occasions count to 85 or even 90! It really sets them.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. J. Collins, 1986 St. Ann Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Frances Beatrice, to Mr. Donald John Royston, elder son of Mrs. Clara Royston, Brentwood Bay, and the late Mr. Stanley Royston. The wedding will take place on Friday, February 26, at 8 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church. Canon George Biddle will officiate. (Jus-Rite Portrait Studio)

Clubwomen's News

Guest Speaker—Executive director of the Family and Children's Services, G. R. Wright, spoke to the auxiliary about the group's function in helping the agency at a recent meeting, held in Spencerhouse. Funds were voted for music lessons for a foster child and also for the upkeep of nursery furniture.

Official Visit—Grand Factor, Mrs. Rhodea and grand secretary, Mrs. Paren, both of Vancouver, paid an official visit to the Native Daughters of British Columbia, Post. No. 3, at the recent meeting and banquet held in the Olde England Inn. Chief factor, Mrs. L. Sullivan, presided. Plans were discussed for the sessions of Grand Post to be held April 23 and 24 in Victoria. Reports were given on the donation to the Mungo Martin fund and the purchase of a seat for the McPherson Playhouse.

Pressure on VOW Members Causes Mass Resignation

TORONTO (CP)—Ten members of the Voice of Women here have resigned for various reasons, Mrs. C. B. Macpherson, national president, said Sunday. Nine of the women resigned at the same time.

Mrs. Macpherson said she thinks most of the women resigned because they were tired of defending the peace-promoting group against charges of Communist infiltration but none of the letters of resignation mentioned that reason. One woman resigned earlier.

She said members "are always meeting people who ask why they want to carry on a running battle for peace with a group of crazy dames. It becomes plain exhausting being part of it."

Many of the members have held executive positions at city and provincial levels, she said.

Those who resigned are: Mrs. Molly Andrew, Ontario vice-president; Mrs. Florence Aymong, executive representative from Ontario to the national council; Mrs. Cora Bell, former corresponding secretary for the national executive; Mrs. Mary Dales, charter member; Mrs. Phylis McKenzie, Metropolitan Toronto president; Miss Eleanor McKay; Mrs. Olga Spinks, and Mrs. Mary Perlmutter.

Minds Collapse As Babies Wail

By TERRY ROBERTS

FORT GREELY, Alaska (CP) Psychological bombardment in the "prisoner-of-war" compound here is designed to extract information from the most stubborn mind.

"The odds are with us," United States Army Col. A. E. Nelson, commander of the POW "cage", said in an interview. The camp was set up for the current Alaska war game Polar Strike which ends Feb. 17.

Col. Nelson looks on his compound as escape proof and highly efficient for breaking down reluctant minds.

Wailing babies, barking dogs and distorted music was aired loudly and incessantly.

QUESTION PRISONERS

Prisoners are interrogated at least hourly by Russian-speaking members of the unit. The interrogations are held in a warm hut.

Why?

When a man balks, his cold-weather boots are taken away and he is forced to report to the compound gate clad in his socks.

The food is good, but cooked without seasoning—and it's colored. Potatoes are a fluorescent green, gravy is construction-yellow and the beans are vivid red.

SEALED WITH WIRE

Each tent is sealed within its own barbed-wire cubicle which is in turn enclosed by the outside stockade of barbed wire. Each cubicle can be entered through a gate which opens on a central alley in the heart of the compound.

The outside perimeter is guarded by a mine field of firecrackers, three machine guns and two rifle squads who begin firing blanks at any hint of an escape attempt.

The prisoner is supplied with a sleeping bag—"and he spends most of his time in it when he's not talking to us"—to combat the cold.

His tent pegs are wrapped with barbed wire to prevent their use as a weapon and the perimeter wall has a weak top bar that will let the man fall into an entanglement of curled barbed wire if he tries to climb it.

The unit practises at least once a month by running troops through its interrogation process.

Polar Strike involves 12,000 troops, including 615 Canadian soldiers and 36 RCAF personnel.

TAKEOVER LAW COSTS $904,000

Taking over B.C. Electric cost the province of British Columbia $904,667 in litigation costs.

Premier Bennett gave the total last week in a written answer to questions asked by Robert Strachan, leader of the opposition.

Of the over $900,000, law firms cost the government more than one third of the total cost.

In the written answers supplied by the premier, law firms were listed as having cost $309,484.

Another third was taken by the B.C. Power Corporation, its litigation costs being $311,586.

Williamson's PGE Contract Not Renewed

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Pacific Great Eastern Railway announced Friday that its contract with the Al Williamson public relations firm is ended.

General manager J. S. Broadbent said the PGE did not renew the contract when it terminated Oct. 31.

Since then, Williamson, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the mysterious "W. A. C. Bennett" letter and the Stonehill case, has been used only "as required."

One of the times he was required was at the start of the present strike against the government-owned railway by 177 members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen (CLC).

Mr. Broadbent said, starting Feb. 15 the railway's press and personnel relations will be handled by Hugh Armstrong, a former employee of the Williamson firm.

He said the decision to replace the private Williamson firm with a public relations officer who would be a member of the PGE staff is one of long standing.

Bingo Thrill Proves Fatal

VANCOUVER (CP) — The thrill of winning $500 in a bingo game was apparently too much for Mrs. Elizabeth Metcalfe.

Her husband told police that his wife had had heart trouble and that the excitement of the evening probably caused her to collapse.

COSA NOSTRA EXPANDING

Criminal Role in Banks Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Authoritative government sources said Saturday federal grand juries are investigating reports that a few banks have been taken over by wealthy hoodlums of the United States' organized crime empire, the Cosa Nostra.

One government official emphasized that grand jury scrutiny of the reported takeovers is concentrated on banks still in operation. He said there has been no allegation that several bank failures of the last year are in any way connected with the syndicate's new interest in banking.

Government officials refuse to name the banks said to be involved.

There is virtually no limit to ways the Cosa Nostra may use a bank once it has control.

One government investigator outlined this pattern:

1. The bank makes large unsecured loans to friends, relatives and associates of the racketeers—no questions asked, no credit checks, often no collateral.

2. From borrowers not directly associated with the rackets, bank officials accept favors or gratuities—such as new cars—for granting unsecured loans to bad risks.

3. The bank may permit racketeers to open big bank accounts under phoney names to hinder tax scrutiny.

4. It will purposely keep bad books and records in an effort to cloud the channels followed by illicit funds and to camouflage the crime syndicate's financial activities.

6. The bank is used as a clearing house for cheques obtained as payment for gambling losses. These funds, one source said, run into millions annually.

7. The bank will furnish good credit references on all of its hoodlum accounts.

8. Bank tellers will fail to turn in the required treasury currency returns reporting abnormally large deposits of currency and coins—which often signify gambling proceeds.

The grand jury investigations are proceeding slowly, but officials say they expect some indictments will develop.

CN Hearings Grind to Halt

NAKINA, Ont. (CP) — The Freedman commission has ended its weeklong hearings in this Northern Ontario railway community into the problem surrounding the CNR's announced run-through plan for train crews.

Nakina, a community of nearly 800, was one of the rail centres involved in a disruption of CNR operations last Oct. 24 in a dispute about the length of crew runs.

It has been a turn-around point for about 40 years. Train-operating crews on the 244-mile Hornepayne-to-Armstrong run change at this midway point. The new CNR plan would have the crews bypass Nakina and run right through between the two terminals.

Mr. Justice Samuel Freedman of Winnipeg was appointed by the federal governmen to investigate the dispute.

'WOULD DESTROY ROOTS'

The Nakina Women's Anti-CNR Run-Through Committee said in a brief Friday the CNR established Nakina for its own convenience, "and now again for their own convenience they want to destroy the roots which they themselves planted."

The Nakina Improvement District contended in a brief the run-through was a matter of life and death" for the community. "Citizens of Nakina must not become the pawns of automation."

The Oct. 25 CNR proposal, planned to go into effect in conjunction with a run-through at Wainwright, was a first step and would have meant, the CNR has said, that four trainmen at the most might have had to move. The plan was scheduled for full implementation by 1966.

The company has said the move would save it $102,000 a year.

Martin Fund At $2,341

The Mungo Martin Memorial Fund has climbed to $2,341.94 following donations amounting to $73.57 dropped in a collection box at Woodward's.

Purpose of the fund is to erect a copper plaque in memory of the great totem carver, provide a scholarship fund for Indian children and publish a booklet on his art.

Goal of the fund drive is $5,500. Donations, which are tax-deductible, may be sent to the Times at 2631 Douglas St.

The fund is sponsored by the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society.

8 CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity of expressing our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many relatives, friends and neighbors for their lovely floral offerings and expressions of sympathy at the loss of our beloved husband, father and grandfather, Robert Warnock. We would especially like to thank B.C. Forest Products management, Sawmill Division, his fellow workers, IWA Local 1-118, pallbearers, Rev. S. Parsons and McCall Bros. —Mrs. Dorothy Warnock and family.

We are thankful to friends for their sympathy and support during the long sickness and loss of Sheila. It was more helpful than you know. Thanks also due to Dr. L. Bapty, Dr. Lockyer, staff of Jubilee and St. Joseph's hospitals, Rev. C. A. Scott, and McCall Bros.— Mrs. C. Mackinnon and family.

9 IN MEMORIAM

VINCENT—In cherished memory of my beloved husband and "Our Daddy," Roy Wm. Vincent, who was called home February 15, 1964.

One year has passed since that sad day
When one we loved was called away;
God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts he liveth still.
The dearest Daddy, the kindest friend,
One of the best whom God could lend;
Loving, thoughtful, gentle and true,
Always willing a kind act to do.

—Deeply missed by your loving wife "Tory" and sons Ronnie, Rickey, Randy, Russey and Baby Roy.

VINCENT—In loving memory of a wonderful son-in-law, Roy William Vincent, who passed away Feb. 15, 1964.

No one knows our longings
As we write these simple lines,
For our dear son's love and friendship
Which was ours for a time.
You shared our dreams,
Our hopes, our tears;
God bless you, dear Son,
For giving us those precious years.

—Sadly missed by Mom Wyatt and family.

The maxim "Silence is golden" does not mean that one should remain silent when speech is required, but merely that there is no need to open one's mouth when he has nothing to gain by opening it.

Opening lead—♦ 5

In a recent team game both South players opened with two clubs. In each instance North responded two diamonds because they were playing that bid to show a bad hand over the two club opening.

One East player could not wait to double. He had good diamonds and wanted to tell the world about it.

The diamond double did not discourage his opponents but rather helped them to reach the spade slam since North realized that his singleton diamond had to be just what his partner wanted.

It also helped South in the play. He won the first trick with the diamond ace and promptly ruffed a diamond in dummy. Then he came back to his hand with a heart and ruffed a second diamond. This time he returned with a trump and ruffed his last diamond. Eventually he had to lose a club but the slam was home.

The other East saw no reason to open his mouth. The hand belonged to his opponents and he decided to tell them nothing.

South bid his spades anyway but North had no way to know that his singleton diamond was anything special and North and South settled for a game contract.

Of course, South made the same 12 tricks but the slam bonus was noteworthy for its absence.

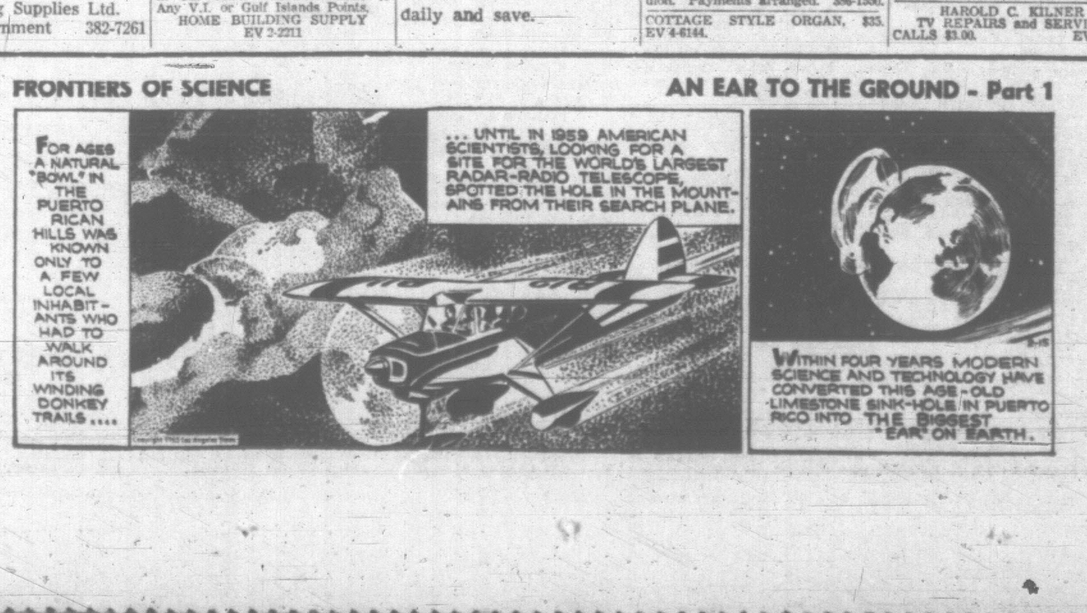
FRONTIERS OF SCIENCE

AN EAR TO THE GROUND - Part 1



FOR AGES A NATURAL "BOWL" IN THE PUERTO RICAN HILLS WAS KNOWN ONLY TO A FEW LOCAL INHABITANTS WHO HAD TO WALK AROUND ITS WINDING DONKEY TRAILS....
... UNTIL IN 1959 AMERICAN SCIENTISTS, LOOKING FOR A SITE FOR THE WORLD'S LARGEST RADAR-RADIO TELESCOPE, SPOTTED THE HOLE IN THE MOUNTAINS FROM THEIR SEARCH PLANE.
WITHIN FOUR YEARS MODERN SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY HAVE CONVERTED THIS AGE-OLD LIMESTONE SINK-HOLE IN PUERTO RICO INTO THE BIGGEST "EAR" ON EARTH.

COMMERCIAL HIGHWAY CORNER

We are selling the best location on Trans-Canada No. 1 Highway for development. We have been using this corner for a trailer sales lot and dispensing propane gas, too. We now want to cut our activities so as to be free in the winter.

This corner of Trans-Canada No. 1 Highway and Millstream Cross Road, about 7 miles from town, is now a busy corner and with the future U.S.A. to Alaska via B.C. ferry loop to open, the traffic will be greatly increased.

This is outside the municipalities (lowest taxes, minimum building restrictions bother). We have ample room to do what we want beside the corner portion. A woman or big child can tend to the propane gas service. If the husband wishes he can hold another job, or you could add gasoline pumps, or put up a grocery-hardware store. There is not on Trans-Canada from Douglas Street to the Malahat, a store on this Highway. It is hard to find any property for commercial use anymore. We have been established for many years as commercial and offer this ideal corner at a price including the propane sales (net approximately $300 a month steady-like) and tanks, pumps and spare cylinders for $20,000. Will sell on terms, $6,000 down.

We have the capital to finance the installation of gasoline pumps or a store building. You put up 25% of their cost and we will finance the other 75%. If you want to use a mobile home on the lot for living quarters, we will also sell and finance it to you. This is a real opportunity. Call us before it is too late. You may not have another chance.

INTRIGUING
3-BEDROOM HOME
$18,500

Here is an attractive and immaculately-kept home with handsome yellow cedar and stucco exterior. A gracious cathedral entrance leads to a combined living and dining room with centre fireplace, to a spacious, bright and modern kitchen, to three bedrooms with wide closets, and to a full bathroom with vanity.

Easy steps lead down from the entrance hall to the lower floor, comprising of a large family room with a wide picture window in the front and French doors opening onto a covered patio in the rear. In addition to this you find a storage room, a utility room, an extra washroom, and a drive-in garage with workspace in the back.

The layout of the property would enable the two-car owner to provide for an extra parking space.

This six-year-old home is being offered at a realistic price, and would qualify for an 83% mortgage. Phone J. ETTEMA, for an appointment, at EV 2-4251 or EV 4-5037.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

"If we move UNCLE," said Plotter No. 1, "what's our primary target in the new location?"

"Well," said No. 2, "we'll come up against Andy, Steve, Voyage and Sergeants. Steve's the weak one there. He's the one that can be knocked off."

Stephen

"Can't be helped," said No. 1. "The situation is wobbly now with Garry gone. Garry's fans are sore because he left, and Steve's following is still building. UNCLE is building faster. This is the perfect time for the kill."

He paused and stared at No. 3 ominously. "Just remember," he said, "if they could, they'd do the same thing to us.

* * *

Author Bill Davidson in his article "Who killed your favorite TV show?" in this week's Saturday Evening Post says the three men were merely plotting the death of a television show.

To translate their jargon, "UNCLE" is an NBC show called The Man from U.N.C.L.E., which was being moved into a new time spot opposite The Andy Griffith Show.

It is also opposite Steve Allen's I've Got a Secret on CBS, and Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea and No Time for Sergeants on ABC.

A major purpose for this move, apparently, is to kill off I've Got a Secret, the show that Garry Moore left in a huff, taking many of his longtime fans with him.

Davidson writes that the game begins each summer, long before the start of a new television season, and it continues well into the following spring. Although each of the networks knows by about January what its lineup will be, the first skirmishes do not begin until August.

* * *

Then through well-planned leaks to the press, schedules for the upcoming season are made known. They are rarely correct but are designed, he says, to mousetrap the opposition into putting its strong shows against supposedly weak ones and to get the competing networks otherwise to commit their hands. Although everyone knows the leaked schedules are phoney, it is surprising how many become victims of the gambit every year.

Davidson does a thorough job of cataloguing the moves by the grey flannel suit executives in trying to out-manoeuvre their opposite numbers.

* * *

He writes big sense with authority but doesn't pinpoint the real loser in the vast shuffle. He is, of course, the viewer. Top quality programs pitted against each other in prime-times, falling by the wayside in the clash, and all with no thought of the effect on the homebody.

"But what about next year?" he asks. What destructive new strategems will beset quality programs?

"The way things are going," says former NBC president Pat Weaver, "We might just as well settle back and expect nothing but four hours of Peyton Place, Shindig and The Addams Family every evening."

India Seeks Talks

NEW DELHI (AP)—India has asked China to sit down for talks to settle the India-China border quarrel. In a note handed to the Communist Chinese Embassy here Friday and released Sunday night, the Indian government asked China to sit down for talks if it "sincerely desires to solve the conflict through peaceful methods."

'Moses' Goes to Jail

TORONTO (UPI)—An Italian-Canadian "who was like a Moses leading his people out of wilderness" was behind bars today—and will stay there for the next two years. Bruno Zanini, 43, who spearheaded 1960 and 1961 construction strikes in Toronto, was sentenced Friday to two years in penitentiary for possession of burglary tools.

New Crisis In Bonn-Cairo Relations

CAIRO (CP) — Relations between Egypt and West Germany appeared headed for a new crisis today as the United Arab Republic was reported preparing a red carpet reception for East German President Walter Ulbricht.

Cairo newspapers reported that Ulbricht would stay at Kubbeh Palace, President Nasser's top guest house, when he visits here later this month.

Relations between Egypt and West Germany were near the breaking point last week until Bonn bowed to Arab pressure and agreed to halt arms shipments to Israel. But West Germany has warned that "serious consequences" could ensue if Ulbricth is given full honors during his scheduled visit.

Bonn indicated it would interpret such honors as de facto recognition of the Communist East German regime. The West German government considers itself the only legal representative of all the Germans and usually breaks diplomatic relations with nations that recognize East Germany.

Cairo newspapers said Ulbricht will arrive in Alexandria by ship Feb. 24 and stay for six days.

Authoritative sources in Jerusalem said the Israeli cabinet had voted unanimously to condemn West Germany's decision to halt its arms shipments to Israel.

The cabinet was reported to have decided to reject any offers of alternative aid Bonn might take. West Germany was reported ready to offer a $16,000,000 loan in exchange for undelivered arms.

Unconfirmed reports said West German and Israel had a secret arms deal calling for the delivery to Israel of $80,000,000 worth of military equipment.

Mariner's Targets Designated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration designated Sunday the targets on Mars that are to be photographed by Mariner IV July 14.

The agency said the exact points at which the spacecraft's television camera will be aimed were determined through analysis of its flight path.

The spacecraft, which began its journey last Nov. 28, will photograph the planet closely if all its equipment is still operating normally when it arrives in July.

The target areas can be seen a number of times in the next several months before and after the earth's closest approach to Mars in early March.

Mariner IV is to take its first pictures of Mars when it is 8,400 miles from the planet's surface and its last one 6,300 miles above the planet's surface.

The camera will sweep an area 4,000 miles long, from the northern hemisphere, where it will be autumn, down through the southern hemisphere where it will be spring.

Centennial Leaders Meeting Here

The board of directors of the National Centennial Commission will meet directors of the Confederation Centennial Committee of B.C. to discuss co-ordination of plans.

The talks will bear mainly on the itinerary and schedules of the Confederation Train and caravans, truck-drawn trailers, which will cover main populated areas throughout Canada in 1967.

Other centennial programs requiring joint federal and provincial participation will also be reviewed, including centennial youth travel, the performing arts program, community improvement and rural beautification.

The federal officials will return to Ottawa Feb. 26 after meeting provincial centennial representatives in B.C., Alberta and Manitoba.

Firemen Called As Gas Tank Struck by Car

DUNCAN — Duncan fire department turned out early Saturday when a car crashed into a propane gas tank which supplies merchants in the Trunk Road shopping plaza.

Total damage was $400. No one was hurt.

HOME GARDEN

Take a Look Spring is Coming

By HILDA BEASTALL

Hilda

We may argue for and aaginst an early or a late spring, in the meantime observing the unmistakable evidence of its apporach.

Purple, yellow, bronze, mauve and white crocuses are in bloom. On cloudy days they are scarcely discernible, but let the sun shine ever so briefly and they spread their petals for all to admire.

Early varieties of daffodils have fat flower buds five inches above ground. Hyacinth buds are visible, and even the late tulips are well advanced.

Overhead, any tree belonging in the ornamental cherry or plum group has its clusters of tiny buds ready to burst.

Sure, it seems early, but this could be the effect of the milder weather following the few days of cold back in Demember. Remember?

It is the same effect as we get when we take branches of forsythia into the warm house after a frost has coated them with ice. The sudden warmth breaks the period the dormancy, the buds swell, and within two or three weeks (according to the nearness of spring) will burst into golden bloom.

As though we needed other signs to convince us of approaching spring, we can see the tips of young leaves pushing up from a planting of hardy pink Amarllis belladonna. They will need covering with sacks or evergreen branches if a frost comes, for they are easily damaged and their loss would mean loss of food production for the bulbs. The lovely fragrant flowers they should bear next August would likely be missing.

In another part of the garden, the round white noses of the Desert-candle or Foxtail-lily (Eremurus robustus) have been pushing into view for some time.

These grow to a height of 10 feet by flowering time in June, so that it is imperative to protect them from damage by any practical means, for they too are frost-tender.

This year we notice four "noses" appearing from the original one-nosed root. It should be spectacular at least if we can save them all from frost during the next three months.

These are some of the signs of spring in our garden.

How many have you noticed in yours?

He Drove City's First Police Car

A detachment of uniformed police and a police motorcycle escort will attend the funeral Tuesday of Walter "Dutchy" Calwell.

A native Victorian, Mr. Calwell's first job in the department was to drive the team of greys that hauled the police wagon in the early part of the century.

When the department became motorized Mr. Calwell drove its first car—a Cadillac. Before joining the force he had served for three years as a city fireman.

In 1932, while serving as a detective, he was shot in the arm by two bandits who robbed a drugstore. They were caught and sent to prison.

Mr. Calwell is survived by a son, Walter, who is a detective in the Victoria police, and two daughters, Mrs. Doreen Gilbert and Mrs. Eleanor Entwhistle, both of Victoria. His survivors also include four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral service will be held at McCall's Funeral Chapel at noon Tuesday with Rev. J. D. Morris officiating. Burial will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Liquor Outlets May Open Within Week

MONTREAL (CP) — Rene Chartrand, president of a union representing Quebec Liquor Board employees, said Sunday the 3,200 striking QLB employees probably will not be back on the job until next week or even later.

"It is possible that they might start this week," Mr. Chartrand said during a break in contract negotiations, "but it is more likely they will start next week or perhaps even later."

Premier Lesage had expressed hope that the liquor outlets, which have been closed down for 10 weeks because of the strike, would be re-opened on Wednesday.

The employees agreed in principle last Thursday to accept a new contract giving them an $18-a-week wage boost spread over the next three years. Average weekly wage prior to the strike was $57.

China Policies To Be Discussed By Professor

Prof. George E. Taylor will speak on Anglo - American Policies Towards China at a meeting of the English Speaking Union in the Douglas Building cafeteria Friday at 8 p.m.

Born and educated in England, Prof. Taylor became an officer of the U.S. State Department and lived for nine years in China. He was in Peking during the Japanese occupation.

For some years he was chairman of the division of Far Eastern and Slavic languages and literature at the University of Washington.

During this period he was given leave of absence to serve as faculty member of the U.S. War College, as official representative at SEATO and other conferences.

He was assistant director in the Office of War Information during the Second World War, specializing in psychological warfare with Japan.

MALCOLM X
. . . family safe

'I'm Not Frightened By Threats'

NEW YORK (AP)—Malcolm X, controversial black nationalist leader whose home was damaged by three gasoline bombs, says: "It doesn't frighten me; it doesn't quiet me down in any way or shut me up."

Malcolm X, who had advocated a doctrine of Negro "self-defence against white supremacists," fled safely with his wife and four children early Sunday after the homemade bombs crashed through the living room window.

Damage was termed extensive, but the blaze was quickly extinguished. Police began an investigation.

Authorities believe the devices—bottles filled with gasoline with rags for wicks—were hurled from a passing car into the two-storey home in Elmhurst, Queens.

Malcolm X began occupying the house while he was a leader in the Black Muslim organization. He refused to leave after he broke with the Muslims last year and set up his own group.

Joseph X, self-described business manager of the Black Muslims, showed up at the house in Queens shortly after the fire. He told reporters:

"We own this place, man. He was going to be evicted Monday."

A civil court ruling gave Malcolm until Jan. 31 to vacate the house, but he appealed for a stay. The Negro contended the dwelling was given to him.

Malcolm's wife, Betty, and Gamilah, five months — were given shelter by residents in the racially mixed neighborhood.

Court Fines Two Teen-Agers

Two teen-agers caught racing at 70 m.p.h. on West Saanich Rd. early Saturday morning pleaded guilty to dangerous driving when they appeared in Saanich court.

Raymond Jones, 18, of 1288 Marchants Road, and John M. Keel, 19, of 6075 West Saanich Road, were each fined $100 and prohibited from driving for six months.

They were followed for six miles by a Saanich police patrol at speeds up to 80 m.p.h. Evidence was the road surface was wet and slippery.

Police said the two were racing but Jones said in court today that he was "in a hurry to get home."

Magistrate J. A. Byers said it sounded more like he was in a hurry to go to hospital.

Rebels Take Laos Village

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — A Laotian military spokesman reported today that Pathet Lao forces and Communist North Vietnamese troops have overrun a rightwing stronghold in northeast Laos. The outpost was the last pocket of government resistance in the area.

The spokesman identified the captured village as Houa Muong, 165 miles northeast of Vientiane. He said it fell Sunday in the face of a strong Communist offensive.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Elizabeth Russell, age 9, of Newport News, Va., for her question:

Do scientists think the moon came from the Pacific Ocean?

The earth has had a moon for countless ages. And long ago our cavemen ancestors began to wonder how it got up in the sky. Wise men in every generation have wondered how it was created. And even the clever scientists of our generation are not sure how the moon was born.

The golden moon is our nearest neighbor in the sky, and we know a great deal about it. We know that it orbits the earth and that each trip around takes a little longer than 27 days. We know how far away it is and that its distance varies between 226,000 and 252,000 miles. We know that is is a round ball and that our globe is almost four times wider than the moon.

We know that the moon has a history. It was not always there, so it must have had a birthday. But we are sure that it was created in the dim, distant past. The experts know many facts about our golden moon, but they are not certain how it was created. When scientists meet a puzzling question, they gather facts and more facts. Each fact is tested and proved before it can be accepted as true. We do not stop searching for an answer until every fact has been proved many times.

Astronomers are still searching for more facts about the birth of the moon. Some experts think that it may once have been part of the earth. Others think that the moon and the earth were never joined together as one. These educated guesses are theories, and no one can say for certain how the moon was born because we do not know enough facts.

Most experts suspect that the planets and their moons were formed from leftovers from the sun. They think that our starry sun shrank from a whopping cloud of gases and left solid fragments of material whirling around it. In time these fragments joined together to form the large planets and their orbiting moons. Perhaps the moon was formed in this way.

Many Theories on Sun's Origin

Another theory suggests that at first the earth was much bigger and very restless. Its cooling crust may have been shaken by furious upheavals. These upsets may have been strong enough to tear the young planet in two parts. If this did happen, the smaller section may have whirled off to become the orbiting moon. The Pacific Ocean fills a monster hole in the earth's crust. The experts who suspect that the moon was once part of the earth think that it may have been torn from this deep basin in the Pacific. But no one can prove that this is true.

According to one theory the moon is a sister of the earth. If this is so it was formed from material that gelled together soon after the sun was born. Another theory suggest that the moon is a daughter of the earth, torn from the deep basin that now holds the Pacific Ocean. Another theory suggests that the moon is the earth's prisoner. In the past it may have been a planet with its own orbit around the sun. It could have passed too close and been captured by the earth's gravity.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Terrell McCollum, age seven, of Huntsville, Ala., for his question:

What is TNT?

Andy must make one thing very plain before he gives any information on this bad-tempered chemical. TNT is stuff that seven-year-old boys should not handle. Later, if you study about it and learn how to control it, you could become an expert and use TNT to blow up all kinds of obstacles. But this chemical is a high explosive, and only adult experts have any business handling it.

TNT is its short name. Its long chemical name is trinitrotoluene, and you must agree that we certainly need a short form of such a long name. The booming mixture is made from a few simple chemical elements, none of which tends to blow up by itself. It is a chemical compound of the elements nitrogen and hydrogen, carbon and oxygen. But when these harmless elements are put together in a certain way they form the high explosive compound called TNT.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

JOTTINGS IN PENCIL: Producer Marty Ransohoff is laughing off the reports that he didn't get along well with Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton during the filming of "The Sandpiper." All untrue, vows Ransohoff, who points out that he, Liz and Richard are currently discussing a number of projects they'd like to do together — including "Macbeth." He has a pretty good idea of the source of the items—a disgruntled female very close to the picture, which promises to be one of MGM's highest grosses in years . . . The wedding pictures of Charlie Chaplin's 18-year-old son and his bride drew many a laugh on Broadway when the papers came out. It looked like beatnik-time in Europe. The most frequently expressed comment: "Charlie was better dressed in 'The Tramp'."

Franco Zeffirelli wants to stage "Tiny Alice" in Italy and is negotiating for the rights to the hit play by Edward Albee. He'd love to snag the volatile Anna Magnani for the title role . . . India's recent mass arrest of Red spies has a James Bond flavor. It happened because of a tip by Italy's espionage agents. While keeping tab on Chinese and Italian Communists, they learned of the planned subversion in India, and passed on the information to New Delhi.

Topic A between television producer-director Worthington Miner and Dan O'Herlihy at the VIP restaurant the other day was a new series in which the actor would star as a member of the Peace Corps . . . Portland Hoffa Rines, widow of Fred Allen, will publish the great comedian's letters in a national magazine.

Sam Spiegel has been announcing that he's negotiating with French director Francois Truffaut to make the film "Farenheit 451." But Truffaut insists he has an exclusive contract to do the picture for Lewis Allen, one of the producers of the forthcoming English musical "Half a Sixpence."

Close friends of a fine character actor are terribly worried about his health ever since he went on one of those crash diets and lost 40 pounds much too fast. He keeps telling everyone how great he feels, but they think he looks ill.

European book stores suddenly have slapped a $7 price tag on "Mein Kampf," although for several years it's been gathering dust at $3 a copy. The reason: word has leaked out that officials will rule that no further editions of Der Feuhrer's cute little tome are to be published . . . Jane Fonda's friends are led to believe she'll live in Paris six months a year, every year, from now on. Credit Roger Vadim, her favorite admirer, with that one.

Singer Jack Jones and his wife, Lee, tried in every way to solve their marital difficulties — particularly since Jack has a horror of divorce. But their efforts failed, and the break-up is definite now . . . Even though "The Odd Couple" got rave notices out of town, perfectionist Mike Nichols wasn't satisfied. So a whole new third act goes in this week in Boston.

WHOOPERS ON INCREASE

REGINA (UPI)—The world's whooping crane population increased in number from 39 to 50 in 1964, more than a 25 per cent increase, according to Ernie Paynter, director of wildlife in Saskatchewan.

Paynter said the 11 new whoopers represented "the largest increase in whooping cranes reported in many years."

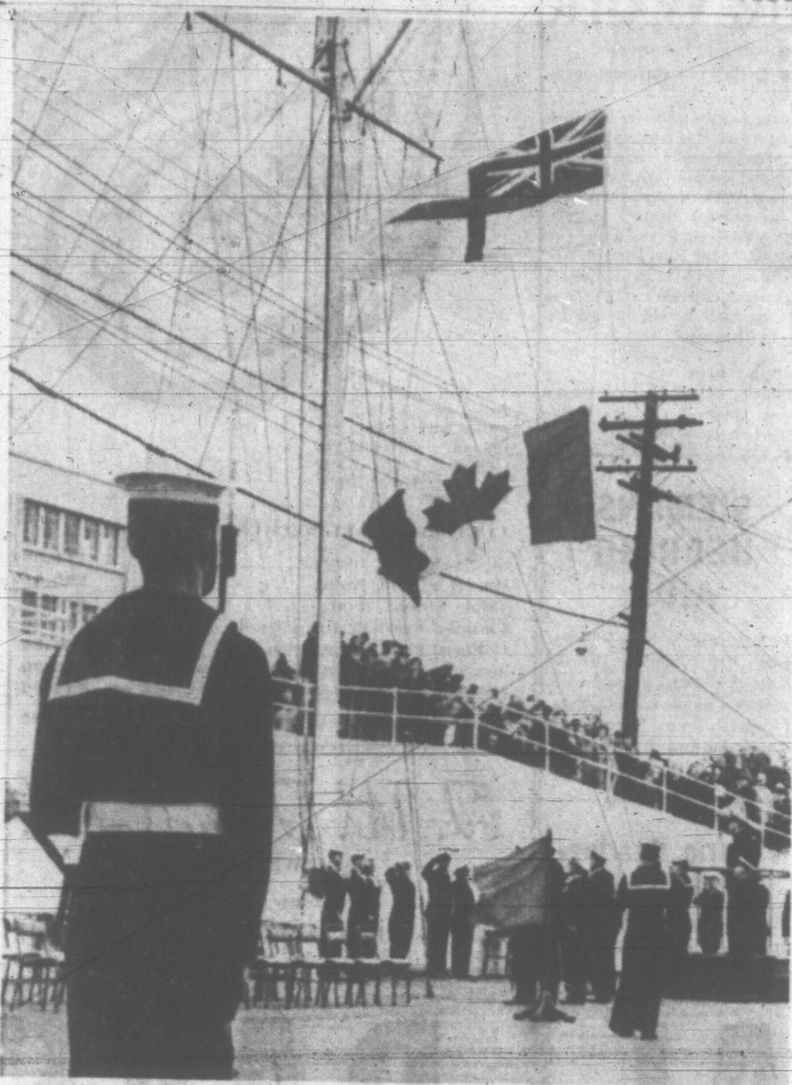
Vanier Calls for Unity As Maple Leaf Raised



NEW REPLACED THE OLD at HMCS Naden this morning to martial music and the crash of naval guns. Similar ceremonies at other military institutions saw the official removal of white, red and blue ensigns as official flags and the raising of the new national flag. Rear-Admiral M. G. CITY CEREMONIES

And the Band Played Auld Lang Syne

By JIM HUME

At HMCS Naden the Red Maple Leaf flag passed its deposed sister, the White Ensign on the way down from its long established perch on the main parade-ground mast at noon sharp.

A 21-gun salute cracked across the harbor, the Naden band played "O, Canada" and 1,000 sailors fronted by a 100-man rifle-carrying honor guard, snapped smartly to attention.

Rear Admiral M. G. Stirling, flag officer Pacific Coast, and Commodore A. G. Boulton, commanding officer of Naden, led the general salute.

COLORS TROOPED

Following the lowering of the ensign and raising of the new flag the old colors were trooped in ceremony from the parade square and the new flag took its place.

Away from the parade ground ships in harbor struck the ensign as the first gun fired in salute and sent the new colors fluttering to their masts.

At Royal Roads a tri-service ceremony saw the lowering of white, red and blue ensigns and to a general salute the raising of the new flag.

Prayers and dedications were led by Chaplain II W. B. Taylor, RCN, Royal Roads, and Chaplain II J. A. Lehouillier, RCN (RC), Royal Roads.

EARLY START

At Work Point Barracks the 1st Battalion The Queen's Own Rifles of Canada started flag ceremonies at 6 a.m.

As revielle echoed across the barrack square the Red Ensign

Flag Cheered By Thousands

OTTAWA (CP) — To the cheers of thousands, Canada's new maple leaf flag was officially hoisted today on Parliament Hill.

The red and white emblem became the country's national flag at noon after the Red Ensign had been ceremoniously lowered and sent to the archives. Nearly 10,000 people covered the snow-covered lawns on Parliament Hill to cheer the new flag up the mast.

"I appeal to all Canadians to set aside pettiness, selfishness and intolerance where they may exist, and to cultivate a spirit of brotherhood and mutual confidence.

"I hope and pray that Canadians will in this way give an example of fraternal co-existence and that our flag will symbolize to each of us and to the world the unity of purpose and high resolve to which destiny beckons us."

PLAY RECORDED MUSIC

The ceremony was held under bright, sunny skies as temperatures hovered in the low 20s. Because of the chilly weather, recorded fanfares and martial music replaced live instruments.

RCMP Constable Joseph Secours, a native of Cornwall, Ont., raised the new flag up the white, temporary flag pole at the base of the Peace Tower as strains of O Canada came from the loudspeakers.

As it reached the top, the Peace Tower clock began striking 12, and a wave of cheers came from the crowd, some of whom waved minature versions of the new design.

A few moments earlier, the red ensign was silently lowered by RCMP Sgt. A. G. Goswell of Brantford, Ont., and it was marched off the stand by Sgt. Goswell and representatives of the three services. It was turned over to Jean Miquelon, deputy registrar general of Canada. Mr. Miquelon had earlier read the proclamation by the Queen, declaring the red and white maple leaf design the official flag of Canada.

RAISED ON PEACE TOWER

As the new flag went up, the Red Ensign was also being replaced on all federal buildings in Ottawa. Because the governor-general's standard was on the Peace Tower pole—it is flown whenever he is on Parliament Hill—it was several minutes before the new design was raised there.

When the new flag was raised on the Peace Tower another cheer went up.

Before the ceremonies began, an unidentified man stood with Red Ensign draped in black. He left before the new flag was raised.

Balcer Remains With Tories

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec Conservative leader Leon Balcer said today he has decided to remain within the party at least "for a few more months" and will advise his Quebec colleagues to do the same.

Mr. Balcer, who threatened previously to resign from the party over his dispute with Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, said it is essential the leadership issue be settled and "men of great experience who have left the party to return to private life or who have gone to other arenas" should again resume leading roles within the party.

He made special mention of former cabinet ministers George Hees, now president of the Montreal - Canadian Stock Exchange, Pierre Sevigny, now a Montreal business executive, Davie Fulton leader of the British Columbia Conservatives, and Donald Fleming, who returned to his Toronto law practice.

Mr. Balcer said in a speech to the Canadian Club of Montreal:

"We believe that the return of these men, coupled with a candid reappraisal of the policies and posture of our party in the spirit which was so manifest at the Fredericton conference on Canadian goals, will show the Canadian people our determination to give our party a new image and a new direction."

Mr. Balcer told reporters following his address that his reference to a "few more months" should not be taken as an ultimatum. He said he could not be more specific about his future plans because "these mat-

'Several Weeks Rest' Ordered for Rouleau

PEARSON GETS FULL BACKING FROM CAUCUS

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson has been given a "full endorsement" by a party caucus on his leadership in the face of scandal allegations about his government.

Mr. Walker said MPs found support for Mr. Pearson's stand that he will punish wrongdoers but will not take action merely on the basis of rumor or gossip.

Mr. Pearson was not present at the caucus because of a cold.

ROULEAU

OTTAWA (CP)—Guy Rouleau, who made bail representations on behalf of narcotics smuggling suspect Lucien Rivard, resigned Sunday as chairman of the Liberals' parliamentary caucus saying his doctor has ordered him to "go away for several weeks."

Liberal Whip James Walker told reporters following a five-hour afternoon caucus that the resignation had been accepted with "reluctance" and that a new chairman would probably be elected at Wednesday's caucus.

Mr. Rouleau, 41, who told the Commons Nov. 24 of his role in the Rivard case, then quit as parliamentary secretary to Prime Minister Pearson, revealed his resignation as chairman by releasing a letter he wrote to Mr. Pearson.

"Some time ago I was ordered by my doctor to take a complete rest but I was not then able to do so," the letter said. "Needless to say, the events of these past weeks have done nothing to restore my health and my doctor now insists that I go away for several weeks.

"Because I realize that the national caucus, in fairness to its members, cannot be without a permanent chairman for any extended period, I am herewith submitting my resignation."

RECEIVES LETTER

A spokesman for Mr. Pearson said the prime minister, who was unable to attend the caucus meeting because of a bad cold, has received the letter.

A caucus chairman's main job is to act as liaison between the back-bench members and the cabinet.

Attempts to win bail for Rivard, wanted in the United States on charges of smugling narcotics into that country, are the subject now of a judicial inquiry headed by Chief Justice Frederic Dorion of the Quebec Superior Court.

DISGUSTING: LABORITE

'Half-Drunk' Charge Angers U.K. Tories

LONDON (AP) — Angry Conservatives said Sunday night they may begin moves to censure and perhaps expel a Labor member who accused some Tories of attending the House of Commons "half-drunk."

Patrick Duffy, a 44-year-old former economics instructor who described himself as "a moderate drinker but not a kill-joy," first made the accusation in a speech to his constituents Friday night at Colne Valley.

Quintin Hogg, one of the leading Conservatives in the Commons, said he would not be surprised if "some energetic back-bencher" raises the matter in the House today.

It was featured by a national newspaper, The Sunday Express, and Sunday night Duffy repeated the charges and said he was standing by every word.

Duffy was talking in particular about the heated debates of Feb. 2 and Feb. 9 when Conservatives tried to censure Labor's conduct in office, and then attacked its aviation policy.

"Some of the Tories were half drunk and it was disgusting to look at them," Duffy said.

"Some of the opposition members recently came into the House straight from the bar, and created a disturbance. There was no attempt on the part of their leaders to restrain them."

King Leads Massive Protest

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leading the demonstrators, stood on the outside of the courthouse looking in.

About 100 Negroes lined up early to register and were being processed. While they stood in line, other demonstrators met at a church and walked to the courthouse.

China Intervention

LOTS OF TALK, BUT NO ACTION

WASHINGTON (AP)—A week after striking against North Viet Nam, the U.S. government appears to have found no hard evidence of a major military response by Hanoi's giant Communist allies, China and Russia.

In reporting no overt signs of Chinese intent to intervene in a big way in Viet Nam, U.S. officials declined today to rule out the possibility that this could happen later on.

The big power military and diplomatic positions on Viet Nam shaped up this way:

The Chinese are reported to have some MiG jet fighters in North Viet Nam already. They did not enter the fray when U.S. and South Vietnamese craft swooped on North Vietnamese targets three days last week.

Peking could send in foot soldiers, but North Viet Nam has yet to engage its own large army estimated at 400,000. U.S. sources discounted reports of Chinese troop movements published in London over the weekend.

Soviet Premier Kosygin, returning to Russia Sunday from a 10-day visit to North Viet Nam and North Korea including brief stop-overs at Peking, has promised more aid to Hanoi.

Meanwhile, Communist cap-

PGE RAIL STRIKE SETTLED

VANCOUVER (CP) — A strike of 185 trainmen which tied up the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway for 13 days and caused the layoff of some 1,400 workers, was settled today.

Agreement came at a meeting between representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (CLC). The meeting was arranged by provincial labor minister Peterson. (See page 17).

Scattered Fighting Continues

Military sources reported 27 enemy actions during the last 24 hours, most of them in the northern part of the country.

Two Americans were reported wounded in clashes Sunday. One was hit in the back by metal fragments while searching for 50 Vietnamese who disappeared Saturday after a Viet Cong attack in Binh Dinh province.

In Quang Ngai province, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, the Viet Cong killed 16 government troops, wounded 30 and captured five. The Communists poured mortar shells into a government outpost in Quang Tin province, killing seven defenders and wounding 12.

VILLAGERS SHOT DOWN BY GOV'T TROOPS

TAM KY, South Viet Nam (Reuters)—About 40 persons were reported killed today when troops fired into a crowd demanding an end to government bombing and shelling of their villages near here.

The casualty figures were unofficial.

Women among the demonstrators also were reported to have demanded the release of their husbands and sons from the army and to have pressed for long-promised flood relief supplies.

20,000 IN SAIGON

Orphans of War Roam Streets

By PETER ARNETT

PHU MY, South Viet Nam (AP) — The four-year-old boy picked up the khaki-covered water bottle, held it to his waist, and giggled. It had belonged to his soldier father.

Another child marched by wearing a steel helmet, pulling his tiny sister along behind him. Their father had been wearing the helmet when he was killed the previous night.

Two other children stood on the back of a truck, cracking jokes with soldiers and making faces at a photographer. They had lost their fathers and mothers.

They still hadn't realized they were orphans.

These children had survived a concentrated Viet Cong mortar attack on this town headquarters and were being taken to an orphanage in Saigon.

Their lot was a hard one, and all too frequent in South Viet Nam, where about 800 government soldiers are being killed every month.

It is estimated that 20,000 children running around Saigon streets lack parents.

Many foreigners believe the Vietnamese government has paid too little attention to the orphans of war. Government officials answer that these children should be taken care of by relatives.

Many of the orphans do make their way back to relatives, some of them living deep inside Communist zones.

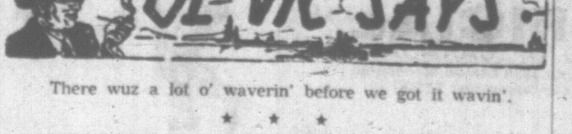
The situation is made worse by the Vietnamese habit of having families living with soldiers in remote outposts.

When the Viet Cong strike, civilian casualties are often higher than those of the soldiers.



There wuz a lot o' waverin' before we got it wavin'.

QUE. ASSEMBLY PLANT FOR RENAULT, PEUGEOT

PARIS (Reuters)—An agreement was signed in Paris Saturday for the assembly of French Renault and Peugeot cars in Quebec province.

The assembly plant, which will be built in the Montreal suburb of St. Bruno, will begin production within the next eight months.

The plant will have an initial capacity of 8,000 cars a year. The first cars are expected Oct. 1.

U.S. EXPERTS SAY

Massive Gold Collection Over

By ADREN COOPER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may never again collect gold on the massive scale of past decades, even if it should get the opportunity.

The simple reason: The disadvantages outweigh the advantages.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon has told Congress that any U.S. attempt to drain gold from abroad will lead only to a drive by other countries to protect their supplies with new controls.

This, Dillon said, would "sacrifice all the progress that has been made toward freer trade and payments among the nations of the free world."

The U.S. also believes that a better - balanced international monetary system might be developed now because there is a better distribution of monetary gold among the major non-Communist nations.

In addition, the U.S. need for large amounts of gold will be lessened if Congress passes a bill to remove the 25-per-cent gold backing on bank deposits.

Nonetheless, the U.S. still has a long-standing balance of payments deficit and President Johnson has suggested a combination of legislation and voluntary measures to turn this deficit into a surplus.

World trade has expanded tremendously during the last seven years, but the gold supply has increased only $4,200,000,000 to $43,000,000,000.

HELD MAJOR SHARE

At the end of 1957, the U.S. gold stock totalled almost $22,900,000,000, or 59 per cent of the non-Communist supply. The International Monetary Fund held about $1,200,000,000 and the remainder of the non-Communist world some $14,700,000,000.

The U.S. stock now stands at about $15,000,000,000 (35 per cent of the free world total) with some $25,000,000,000 distributed among other non-Communist nations and $2,400,000,000 in the IMF. In the Communist world, only the Soviet Union, with an amount estimated at $2,000,000,000 to $8,000,000,000, has a significant stockpile.

There is little doubt where the gold formerly held by the U.S. has gone. Since 1957, holdings by European countries have increased to some $19,200,000,000 from about $9,500,000,000.

While the total dollars abroad far exceed the U.S. gold stockpile, the short-term obligations against the dollar amount to only about $10,000,000,000.

Treasury officials note that foreign central banks would have to use every dollar in their vaults for conversion into gold before they could cause any serious embarrassment to this country. Such a concerted, massive attack on the dollar would leave foreign governments far short of the money they need in normal operations.

There is no doubt the U.S. would like to achieve an increase in its gold supply—primarily to show that the long outward flow could be reversed. But it seems unlikely that the U.S. will try again to corner half the world's supply.

'Pulled B.C. Economy Out Of Nosedive'

VANCOUVER (CP)—The provincial government's decision to develop the Peace River hydro potential will result in $1,250,000,000 being poured into the provincial economy by 1968, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston said Friday.

Mr. Williston said the decision pulled the B.C. economy "out of a nosedive and drove it upward to prosperity."

Assurances that hydro electricity would be available in north central B.C. triggered a chain reaction of spectacular development in the forest and mining industries, he told a joint meeting of the Electric Service League of B.C. and the Vancouver Electric Club.

Mr. Williston credited T. G. Wright, general manager of timberland and logging operations, for Canadian Forest Products Limited, with being the first to recognize the pulp potential of the Prince George area.

Assurance Firm Boosts Assets

VANCOUVER (CP)—The annual report of North West Life Assurance Company Limited said Friday that the company has increased its surplus and capital 500 per cent in three years.

The report says assets increased 249 per cent in the same period—the years 1961 through 1964.

Last year, the company wrote $24,956,000 in new business, an increase of 22 per cent over the year before, and total insurance and annuities in force rose from $27,293,000 to $45,027,000.

NEW PRESIDENT of Meat Packers Council of Canada is G. R. Bieman of London, Ont. Graduate of University of Western Ontario and general manager of the Coleman Packing Co. of London, he was elected at the annual meeting this week in Quebec.

WEEK ON MARKETS

Eight-Week Rise Hit by Tensions

By JOHN BELANGER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

International events determined the course of stock exchanges in Canada last week.

As the crisis in Viet Nam heightened prices of most issues listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange and its Montreal counterpart dropped, ending almost eight weeks of rising prices.

The situation was the same in New York.

All sections of the Toronto market were down except golds which played their traditional role of defensiveness in times of a declining market. Golds had good gains and rose more than four points on index.

Added to the Viet Nam crisis was President Johnson's announcement the United States plans to limit spending and investment abroad. But his proposals appeared to by - pass Canada.

Finance Minister Gordon said "there doesn't seem to be anything amongst the president's proposals that will cause Canada serious difficulty."

VOLUME WAS HEAVY

Volume was heavy, with speculative interest on the increase.

Industrial groups declined, led by banks and steels. Metalworking issues, pipe lines, oils and industrial mines had the largest drops. The bulk of the decline came early last week, and Friday industrials began a comeback. All sections had advances that day.

Active issues included Canadian Breweries, Massey-Ferguson, CPR, Aluminium, Lake Ontario Cement, Consumers' Gas, Abitibi and MacMillan Bloedel and Powell River.

Corporate news was mixed. Anthes Imperial announced it plans to split its A and B stock on a 2-for-1 basis and Aluminium, Bathurst Power and Paper, Southam Press and Goodyear Tire each announced higher net earnings for 1964. B.C. Forest Products increased its dividend, as did Eastern and Chartered Trust, but Placer Development cut is payout.

EARNINGS REDUCED

Ford of Canada reported sharply reduced net earnings for 1964. The stock closed at 168, off 10½. Trading was light.

Late Friday Northern Ontario Natural Gas bought 709,000 shares of Lakeland Natural Gas at $8.65 each. The firm will make the same offer to shareholders of Lakeland before June 30. Shareholders can take it in either cash or NONG shares.

Senior base metals were poor. Cominco, Inco, Hollinger, Noranda and Falconbridge each had losses of a point or more. Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting and Mattagami Lake also declined.

Speculative mines brightened. Active issues included Texmont, Anglo United Development, Bata Petroleum, Banff Oil, Cheskirk, Barnart, Norlex, Midrim and Bibis. Texmont was the week's most active issue with volume of 1,727,200 shares. The stock rose 11 cents at $1.40.

Barnat gained 34 cents to $1.14.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Early Gains Cut Sharply

Al markets remained a little higher but in New York, early gains were cut sharply towards the end of trading today.

Toronto and Montreal both reported moderate activity.

AT TORONTO B.C. Forest Products was ahead 1¼ to 31¼, while Burns rose a point to 21. Bell Telephone was up ⅜, and B.A. Oil, CPR and Chemcell ⅛ each.

Bruck Mills A advanced 2⅞ to 30⅞ and the B issue 1½ to 15½. Bank of Montreal and Canadian Breweries gained ¼ apiece.

Among speculatives, Bata Petroleum added ½ to 12 cents.

Golds were strong, with Dome up ½ and Campbell Red Lake ⅝. Home B gained ⅝ among oils.

AT NEW YORK volume for the day was estimated at 5,800,000 shares compared with 4,940,000 Friday.

The advance on average was cut back sharply by Chrsyler, which sank well over a point, and du Pont, which converted a one-point gain to a net loss of more than a 2 points.

Du Pont's $1.25 dividend with $1.50 a year ago, but that was before du Pont divested itself of its final holdings of 17,000,000 shares of General Motors Stock.

Oils affected by merger or takeover posibilities were prominent. Texas Gulf Sulphur gained more than a point.

Canadian Pacific was aheaad ⅞ and McIntyre Porcupine ½ among Canadian issues. Walker-Gooderham fell ½, and Distillers Seagrams gained .

AT MONTREAL industrial volume at 2 p.m. was 123,000 shares and mines and oils 1,124,000.

Papers were also up. Price Bros. added ⅝.

In trade and finance issues Industrial Acceptance added ¼.

All other issues were on their way up after last week's drop.

AT LONDON stock markets were quietly mixed today, with Friday's British trade figures a restraining influence.

Among leading Canadian issues, recording gains of as much as three points, were Abitibi, Algoma, BA Oil, Consolidated Mining, Hollinger, Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas, Imperial Oil, International Nickel, Massey-Ferguson, Noranda, Trans-Canada Pipe and Brazilian Traction. Canadian Pacific was firm.

AT VANCOUVER fairly active trading was recorded before noon today.

Most active was Royal American Pete which traded 155,500 shares for a loss of six cents to 75 cents.

Fort St. John added 30 cents at $2.05, Endako was up a quarter to $17, Granduc gained 15 cents to $8.25, New Imperial was up a dime and Northcal nine cents.

In industrials, Crush and Rothmans both put on a half, to $14.25 and $23 respectively.

On the losing side, Bethlehem slipped a dime to $7.50. Other losses were slight.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP)—A liquidation jam in the face of the almost-over U.S. dock strike took soybean futures sharply lower on the board of trade for the second straight session. There also was weakness in prices of other grain contracts.

WINNIPEG (CP) — American market declines were reflected in most trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Feed grains were steady.

Sharp declines in Chicago soybeans caused recessions of of several cents in rapeseed and more than a cent in flax. Liberal offerings met purchasing by overseas accounts on declines.

There was some shipping demand in barley, and 4,000 tons were reported sold to Britain.

Oats trade was light and domestic.

Chinatown Hides Poor Behind Neon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco's famous Chinatown is a facade for a poverty-stricken community, says a Chinese banker who wants to improve conditions.

Behind the fancy bright neon signs, gold - leaf dragons, expensive shop fronts and tempting restaurant entrances are sweat shops, over - crowded apartments and — in recent years—neglected children, says 74-year-old Jun Ke Choy.

Choy, assistant vice - president and manager of the Chinatown branch of the San Francisco Federal Savings and Loan Association, said in an interview most Chinatown residents know the conditions are bad, but don't talk about it.

Choy, who also heads the San Francisco Greater Chinatown Community Service Organization, has organized a committee aimed at qualifying Chinatown for federal anti-poverty funds.

C. H. Kwock, editor of the Chinese Word, a billingual newspaper printed in Chinatown, said Choy's critical statements are factual.

LITTLE PURPLE CARDS

Goal: Curb Cycle Thefts

Thousands of little purple cards will be filed away at the police station shortly in a bid to cut down on bicycle thefts in Victoria.

Each card will bear the name, age and address of a bicycle owner together with details of make, color and serial number.

So far 3,000 cards have been printed by Victoria Optimist Club which is sponsoring the campaign.

It is expected more will be needed.

Meanwhile, Constable Ray Thomas, in charge of the school patrol, is planning to call on every school in the area explaining the campaign.

Every boy and girl who owns a bike will be asked to fill in the cards and return them to the police station.

Then, when a bike is missing or has been stolen, the owner will be able to ring up the police who will in turn check the owner's card for details.

Duplicates of each card are being made—one for the owner, the other for police.

Helping distribute the cards will be members of the Optimist Club.

Civilian 'Almost Belived' Army He Was Missing Irish Deserter

LONDON (AP) — Patrick James O'Connor of the Royal Engineers decided the army life was no longer for him.

He skipped and sought refuge across the Irish Sea, well beyond the reach of British law.

But the military police found a Patrick O'Connor still in England. The name matched, the ages matched, the accents matched, so they took him in.

Patrick spent five days in an army guardroom until his AWL namesake read of his plight. He phoned from Dublin and told the army they had the wrong man.

Said O'Connor the civilian: "It was fantastic—in the end they even had me half believing I was a deserter."

MPs STRIKE AGAIN

This weekend the MPs struck again. This time in search of Hugh O'Connor, late of the Royal Irish Fusiliers. In Luton, north of London, they brought Hugh O'Connor into magistrate's court and charged him with being absent without leave from the Fusiliers.

Once again the descriptions matched. Same brown hair, same blue eyes, same vaccination marks, even similar tattoos on the arm.

But the O'Connor in court produced documents to prove he was only 14 years old. He admitted telling people he was 19 but said that was to get a job in an auto plant.

"If I stay here," he said, "I shall have to go to school."

Fourteen is the minimum school-leaving age in Ireland, 15 in Britain.

S. Viet Nam Economy Goes Deeper Into Red

SAIGON (Reuters) — South Viet Nam's war-drained economy is sliding further downhill, figures published Saturday by the official Viet Nam Press news agency disclosed.

The country spent seven times as much on imports as it earned from exports during the first nine months of 1964.

Exports dropped by more than one-third compared with the same period in 1963, mainly because November floods in central Viet Nam and "the situation in the country" sharply reduced rice exports, Viet Nam Press said.

The rice harvest was severely cut by the rapidly increased penetration into the rich Mekong River Delta by Communist guerrillas, who now control large areas and exact taxes in kind, informed observers said.

FERTILE LAND

South Viet Nam, naturally fertile and once the "Rice Bowl of Asia," now receives United States military and economic aid of about $2,000,000 a day.

But the protracted guerrilla war imposes a continuing heavy drain on manpower and production here. Roads and railroads are being sabotaged. Government officials cannot enter many villages and remote districts.

Much U.S. economic aid is being spent on village "pacification"—helping them develop their economies after they have have been taken back from the Viet Cong.

Woman Shot Down At Hospital Door

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two people died in what police said appeared to be a murder suicide following a shooting Sunday night at the main entrance to the Winnipeg General Hospital.

Police said the victims were a Winnipeg man and his estranged wife in their early 40s. They were not identified.

He was alleged to have shot the woman with a .22-calibre rifle on a street in front of his home. She was able to walk, was picked up by a motorist and taken to the main entrance of the hospital.

She was to have remained in the car while the motorist went inside for a nurse.

HUSBAND DROVE UP

She was shot in the back with a shotgun and fell just inside the hospital door.

The police spokesman said the husband went into the hospital rotunda, put the gun to his stomach and shot himself.

Coalition Sought To Replace Inonu As PM of Turkey

ISTANBUL (AP) — A 41-year-old Turkish engineer and businessman who lacks a seat in Parliament is going to try to organize a coalition government and take over from 81-year-old Premier Ismet Inonu, who quit after parliament rejected his budget Saturday night.

Leaders of the four opposition parties were expected to begin talks today on forming a coalition. The leader of the biggest opposition group, Suleyman Demirel of the Justice party, is expected to try for the premiership.

There is one technical hitch. Turkish law requires a premier to be a member of parliament and Demirel never has run for public office. President Cemal Gursel has been quoted, however, as saying he could appoint Demirel to a vacant senate seat.

May Ban Chains

VANCOUVER (CP)—The city may ban use of tire chains on Vancouver streets. City engineer Ran Martin said his department is reviewing practices of other cities in light of estimates that road damage during recent snow storms will cost the city $200,000.

WOMAN SURVIVES FREE FALL INTO CANYON

Angel of Death Hovered, Passed By

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — A drive on a quiet sunny afternoon turned into a nightmare for two women and a man Sunday as their car toppled over a 350-foot-high canyon.

The plunging car stopped suddenly 75 feet down when it struck a tree, hurling one of the women into a free fall that ended near the edge of the rushing Capilano River.

It was a miracle none of the three was seriously hurt; said Mr. and Mrs. Les Glover and Judy Chapman, 19.

Miss Chapman said she had just made a turn on a narrow canyon road when the car toppled over the edge and slammed against the only large tree on the face of the cliff, 75 feet from the top.

THROWN OUT

The impact catapulted Mrs. Glover out of an open door and into a free fall. When she hit the ground she skidded a further 50 feet before she grabbed a log and stopped.

What flashed through Mrs. Chapman's mind as she fell?

"I wondered if my little dog had been hurt — if he was all right," she said in an interview from her hospital bed.

Her husband raced to the bottom of the canyon "Tarzan-style" by climbing down tree trunks. RCMP and firemen brought Mrs. Glover out of the canyon in a basket stretcher.

"Another 10 feet," said Mr. Glover, "and she would have hit rocks and her body would have landed in the river."

Geologist Honored

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Hugh S. Bostock, 64, a veteran geologist, was awarded the Royal Canadian Geographical Society's Massey Medal today for his scientific work in northern British Columbia and the Yukon.

Dr. Bostock, who heads the cordillera section of the Geological Survey of Canada, made 25 field trips to British Columbia and the Yukon between 1931 and 1960.

—and why it is so important to modern appliances

NICKEL IS THE HALLMARK OF QUALITY IN STAINLESS STEEL

Nickel's contribution to quality stainless steel is toughness, durability and resistance to corrosion. Nickel stainless steel is easy to keep clean, sanitary and gleaming; it will not crack or chip; it will not rust or stain.

The International Nickel Company's continuing programme of research and market development helps Canadian manufacturing industries produce quality products, and helps strengthen Canada's economy.

Arthur Mayse

On Sunday night, we got talking about time zones, and couldn't for the life of us remember how the clock hands of Newfoundland were positioned at 5:45 p.m. of a cloudy Pacific dusk.

So we checked around, and from a communications service received firm assurance that one minute earlier at St. John, the time had been 10:15 p.m.

Somehow, that simple fact of a four and one half hour time difference between Atlantic and Pacific impressed the bigness of Canada upon me more profoundly than any statement of distance measured in miles.

We have a very big country here; perhaps too large, as a crowded world judges these matters, for a population of just under 20 million.

In our major cities—and how few these still are for our enormous expanse—this truth is not apparent. But travel across the land, especially at night, and you realize that we are spread very thin: a handful of lights spangled across enormous voids of darkness.

This will change, in fact is changing now. Eventually, I believe geopolitical common sense and drastically revised tariff doctrines will multiply our numbers.

Our size and our potential impose a condition of tenure upon Canadians which we would do well to accept. If we are to retain our national identity, we must shape and maintain a very much stronger unity than we now enjoy.

In the 98 years since Confederation, we have tied this big country together with railway steel and blacktop and flight-lanes. But do Quebec and British Columbia really know each other better than they did 50 years ago, and does Ontario truly realize even now that Canada doesn't end at the head of the lakes?

I doubt it: I think the sectionalism which has been our curse and our pride since Upper Canada traded hard looks with Lower Canada has not yielded to physical linkage.

Because of our size, sectionalism we must have. But only up to a point. We court danger when we confuse provincialism with patriotism. Here, all provinces are guilty, British Columbia not least.

Well, history in its jogging has fetched us to an historic day for the parts of Canada which we must somehow weld firmly into a whole.

As the earth in its turning brought each of our six time-zones to its noon, the same new flag climbed the halyards.

The debate that established it was long and bitter, and the scars will not heal overnight.

But the maple leaf flag is an accomplished fact now, tangible against a Canadian sky, and there it will flaunt a new symbol for a lifetime long as Canada's.

We find it strange. The next generation born under it will accept it without question, and with only the mildest academic interest in its origins.

If such a minor item is recorded, future Canadians will note with mild amusement that on the day their flag was first officially unfurled, a few of the watchers wore mourning black.

In this retreat from the main current, there is a certain pathos. But there's scant profit in backward-looking in a world that changes whether we will or no; and the cause of unity is not bolstered by making a funeral of a flag-raising.

Better, I think, to wish the new flag luck and love . . . and to hope it will one day fly over the truly united Canada toward which we must stumble our often-painful way.

MEMBERS OF THE YOUNG SOCIAL CREDIT LEAGUE jammed the steps of the legislature shortly after nine this morning to touch off celebrations in honor of Premier Bennett's record-breaking rule as premier of B.C. The young people came from all over B.C. to take part in the program of congratulations which continues throughout this week.

IT'S HIS DAY

Young SCs Hail The Chief

Some of them, all members of the B.C. Young Social Credit League, had travelled all night by bus from interior points.

Their arrival on the front steps of the Legislative Buildings was somewhat dampened by a cool sea breeze and the fact Premier Bennett had not arrived in his office.

RARE TREAT

Premier Bennett was to be treated to a rare experience this afternoon — personal praise in the legislature from Robert Strachan, leader of Her Majesty's loyal opposition.

Mr. Strachan was to move a resolution, seconded by Attorney-General Robert Bonner, congratulating the premier's record tenure. The resolution was to be the first order of business for the legislature.

Tributes from all sides of the House were expected to take up a considerable portion of the afternoon's business so only two, instead of the usual five, speakers were scheduled to participate in the budget debate.

POURING IN

Meanwhile, letters and telegrams of congratulation were reported to be pouring in from leading citizens in the province and across the country at his office, Oak Bay apartment and even his Salt Spring Island retreat.

The premier spent the morning quietly at a family breakfast in his apartment that included his married sons, Russell and William, and his grandchildren.

PEARKES' DINNER

This evening at 7:30 the Bennett family will be guests of honor at a private dinner at Government House with Lieut.-Governor George Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes as hosts.

A small group of friends, leading clergymen and members of the Supreme Court will also attend the dinner.

RCMP SEEK MORE FACTS ON LETTER

RCMP are seeking "additional information" which could be used in laying charges as a result of the phoney letter bearing Premier W. A. C. Bennett's signature.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today said a Friday conference between his officials and RCMP led to a decision to seek more information about the origin of the letter sent to Prime Minister Pearson's aide Hal Dornan, apparently in support of Harry Stonehill's immigration application.

"SEVERAL DAYS"

"This phase should take several days," Mr. Bonner said of the continuing investigation.

Asked if it would lead to charges, Mr. Bonner replied:

"The possibility that information obtained may lead to laying of charges has occupied the attention of the RCMP from the outset."

Meanwhile, Liberal MLA Harry McKay was scheduled to speak in the budget debate early Tuesday afternoon.

He is expected to divulge the name of the letter's author in his speech. Mr. Bonner has refused to reveal the name on the grounds that it would be improper before charges are laid.

JONES CASE

Appeal Hearing Within the Month

The Crown appeal against the dismissal of two charges against B.C. government purchasing commissioner G. E. P. Jones will be heard within the next month.

Notice of appeal in the case has been filed, Crown prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie said today.

He also said a decision in the George Hankinson case will be made as soon as he receives a transcript of Magistrate William Ostler's recent decision.

Mr. McKenzie said the Hankinson case will definitely go back into court and all that has to be decided is "the precise avenue we will take."

ACQUITTED

Judge Montague Drake gave as one of his two reasons for dismissal that Mr. Jones is not a government official within the meaning of the section of the Criminal Code under which he was charged. He also said he would acquit Mr. Jones on the evidence in case.

Mr. McKenzie said the Crown will appeal Judge Drake's ruling on Mr. Jones' status.

IN VANCOUVER

He said it is likely the appeal will be heard in Vancouver but it may be scheduled for Victoria.

The charges against Mr. Hankinson of conferring benefits on Mr. Jones were quashed by Magistrate Ostler in city court.

The Crown has several alternatives to reopen the Hankinson case. It could appeal the judgment of the magistrate in quashing the charges or it could lay the charges again and have them heard without a preliminary hearing.

LEGISLATURE SPEAKERS

8:30 p.m. — H. J. Bruch (SC—Esquimalt); and J. D. Tisdalle (SC—Saanich).

'Diplomats' Plan Trip To Quebec

Mayor R. B. Wilson is expected to be in the vanguard of at least 100 B.C. mayors and civic administrators in a Quebec diplomatic mission in May.

Marcel Lambert, president of the Quebec Union of Municipalities, announced Sunday the visit would reciprocate the highly successful trip of some 300 mayors and municipal representatives to Victoria and Vancouver in November.

Montreal will host the party May 16-20, coinciding with the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities meeting in Windsor.

"FOLLOW THROUGH"

Although detailed plans have not yet been made, it was hoped that at least one representative would go from the other Greater Victoria municipalities, which were co-hosts to the Quebec party.

"We've got to follow through," city manager Dennis Young commented. "It's the sort of thing that if we don't, we destroy all that has been set up," he said, referring to a rapport between east and west established last year.

Frostbiter Takes All The Hard Way

Young failed to win a race, but his two seconds and a fourth gave him overall El Toro honors for the day.

In fact, he was defeated by his wife Pamela in one race and her win enabled her to place fourth in aggregate standings.

Frank Cushing and Dick James were second and third, respectively.

THERE WAS A FIGHT; THAT THEY AGREE ON

A sailor and a civilian had two conflicting stories when they appeared in city court this morning but both pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance.

Gregory Mills, HMCS Naden, and Charn Dhillon, 827 Princess, were remanded to Feb. 23 for sentence.

Detective-Constable Ron Holder said he found them fighting on Pandora near Uncle Jake's Discotheque late Saturday night. He said "they had gone outside to settle an argument."

Not so, said Mills. He claimed he left the dance place to avoid a fight and Dhillon caught him outside.

Both were released on their own recognizance to await sentence.

Topics of the Day

A total of $274 in cash was stolen some time Sunday from an unlocked safe at Gibson's Bowladrome, 914 Yates Street.

The theft was discovered in early afternoon. There was no sign of forced entry but police were told the safe had been left unlocked for one hour earlier in the day.

MOONIE TRIAL

Bullet Fired After Argument Court Told

The non-capital murder trial of 21-year-old Garry Moonie, 170 Hartland Road, began this morning before Chief Justice J. O. Wilson and an all-male jury.

Moonie was charged following the death of his father, Allen Austin Moonie, 41, who died of gunshot wounds last November.

Outlining the case for the Crown, William McIntyre said after some argument Garry Moonie, who was in bed, got up, took a service rifle and put in one round.

He came into view of his father and at short range, fired at him, counsel said.

Det.-Insp. Percy Easler, head of the Vancouver crime detection laboratory, told the court he received from Saanich police a .303 bolt-action rifle, an expended cartridge case and a box of 19 .303 live cartridges.

He made a microscopic comparison of the spent cartridge and of a test-fired cartridge and concluded the spent one was fired from the rifle.

Loffmark to Speak

Industry and trade and commerce minister Ralph Loffmark will speak on basic principles of tax planning at a meeting of the Victoria Life Underwriters Association Wednesday at the Tally-Ho Motor Hotel.

MARATHONERS PASS CENTURY MARK

Washday Blues Flood Dragsters

The worst time to wait for a car to wash is around three o'clock in the dark hours of a Sunday morning.

Marty Richards, 20, and Barry Rintoul, 26, discovered that over the weekend as they scrubbed, washed and polished their way through the first 24 hours of a 53½-hour car wash marathon.

This morning they were still at it, the 102nd car waiting near the gas pumps at Suburban Motors, Saanich and Douglas, for treatment from suds and hose.

FUND-RAISING

Both men are members of the Victoria Classic Car Club staging the non-stop 99-cent washathon to raise funds for the Vancouver Island Drag Association and charities. At one point nine club members scrubbed and polished.

But at 10 this morning Barry, Classic Car Club president, and Marty, his number two man, were the lone survivors working with one eye on the clock.

This evening they expect a little relief from members called to regular work duties this morning.

Indefinite Term Given Youth, 16, To 'Change Scene'

A 16-year-old youth who needs "guidance, counselling and discipline" will get all three for the next eight and possibly 12 months.

He was convicted earlier of possession of stolen property valued under $50.

He had been held in jail for two weeks awaiting preparation of a pre-sentence report. The report showed the youth has a dismaying background, said Magistrate William Ostler.

The magistrate agreed but added "There is no possible way to get the good to come out unless he is removed from his present environment. There is no hope for him unless the pattern of his living is changed."

86-Year Old's Bed Warmers Bring Firemen

An 86-year-old Esquimalt man who wanted to warm up his bed got more heat than he bargained for Sunday night.

The man, whose identity has not been revealed by Esquimalt police, heated up several irons and placed them in his bed before retiring for the night.

Then he went downstairs and listened to the radio. Upstairs his bed caught fire and smoke soon started coming down.

He went up, threw parts of the bed out a window and kept sticking his own head out for air. Three Esquimalt policemen arrived before the fire brigade.

They were beaten back by smoke several times before locating the man. He couldn't understand what all the fuss was was about or why the fire department had been called.

PGE STRIKE OVER; YARD CREWS CUT

Eliminate 1 Man In Some Areas

VANCOUVER (CP) — A strike of 177 trainmen which tied up the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway for 13 days and caused the layoff of some 1,400 workers, was settled today.

Agreement came at a meeting between representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (CLC) and the line which stretches 750 miles northward from Vancouver to Fort St. John. The meeting was arranged by provincial Labor Minister Peterson.

The agreement, signed by both sides, provides an extra two per cent wage increase for road crews—bringing the total wage increase to seven per cent—and for company reduction of three-man yard crews to two men in certain agreed areas.

Freight trains to and from the north were run for a time by supervisory personnel after the strike was called Feb. 2 when the trainmen rejected a conciliation report by Dr. Neil Perry, government-appointed conciliator.

But later the PGE announced it was laying off some 1,400 non-striking workers and closing down the line except for emergency trains to isolated areas because of "threats" made to non-striking workers and their families. Union spokesmen denied the strikers had made any such threats to non-striking personnel.

The trainmen and others laid off were expected to return to work immediately.

10,000 Cheer Flag Raising

OTTAWA (CP) — To the cheers of thousands, Canada's new maple leaf flag was officially hoisted today on Parliament Hill.

The red and white emblem became the country's national flag at noon after the Red Ensign had been ceremoniously lowered and sent to the archives. Nearly 10,000 people covered the snow-covered lawns on Parliament Hill to cheer the new flag up the mast.

"I appeal to all Canadians to set aside pettiness, selfishness and intolerance where they may exist, and to cultivate a spirit of brotherhood and mutual confidence.

"I hope and pray that Canadians will in this way give an example of fraternal co-existence and that our flag will symbolize to each of us and to the world the unity of purpose and high resolve to which destiny beckons us."

PLAY RECORDED MUSIC

The ceremony was held under bright, sunny skies as temperatures hovered in the low 20s. Because of the chilly weather, recorded fanfares and martial music replaced live instruments.

RCMP Constable Joseph Secours, a native of Cornwall, Ont., raised the new flag up the white, temporary flag pole at the base of the Peace Tower as strains of O Canada came from the loudspeakers.

As it reached the top, the Peace Tower clock began striking 12, and a wave of cheers came from the crowd, some of whom waved minature versions of the new design.

A few moments earlier, the red ensign was silently lowered by RCMP Sgt. A. G. Goswell of Brantford, Ont., and it was marched off the stand by Sgt. Goswell and representatives of the three services. It was turned over to Jean Miquelon, deputy registrar general of Canada. Mr. Miquelon had earlier read the proclamation by the Queen, declaring the red and white maple leaf design the official flag of Canada.

RAISED ON PEACE TOWER

As the new flag went up, the Red Ensign was also being replaced on all federal buildings in Ottawa. Because the governor-general's standard was on the Peace Tower pole—it is flown whenever he is on Parliament Hill—it was several minutes be-

And the Band Played Auld Lang Syne

By JIM HUME

At HMCS Naden the Red Maple Leaf flag passed its deposed sister, the White Ensign on the way down from its long established perch on the main parade-ground mast at noon sharp.

A 21-gun salute cracked across the harbor, the Naden band played "O, Canada" and 1,000 sailors fronted by a 100-man rifle-carrying honor guard, snapped smartly to attention.

Rear Admiral M. G. Stirling, flag officer Pacific Coast, and Commodore A. G. Boulton, commanding officer of Naden, led the general salute.

COLORS TROOPED

Following the lowering of the ensign and raising of the new flag the old colors were trooped in ceremony from the parade square and the new flag took its place.

Away from the parade ground ships in harbor struck the ensign as the first gun fired in salute and sent the new colors fluttering to their masts.

At Royal Roads a tri-service ceremony saw the lowering of white, red and blue ensigns and to a general salute the raising of the new flag.

Prayers and dedications were led by Chaplain II W. B. Taylor, RCN, Royal Roads, and Chaplain II J. A. Lehouillier, RCN (RC), Royal Roads.

EARLY START

At Work Point Barracks the 1st Battalion The Queen's Own Rifles of Canada started flag ceremonies at 6 a.m.

As revielle echoed across the barrack square the Red Ensign

'Several Weeks Rest' Ordered for Rouleau

OTTAWA (CP)—Guy Rouleau, who made bail representations on behalf of narcotics smuggling suspect Lucien Rivard, resigned Sunday as chairman of the Liberals' parliamentary caucus saying his doctor has ordered him to "go away for several weeks."

Liberal Whip James Walker told reporters following a five-hour afternoon caucus that the resignation had been accepted with "reluctance" and that a new chairman would probably be elected at Wednesday's caucus.

Mr. Rouleau, 41, who told the Commons Nov. 24 of his role in the Rivard case, then quit as parliamentary secretary to Prime Minister Pearson, revealed his resignation as chairman by releasing a letter he wrote to Mr. Pearson.

"Some time ago I was ordered by my doctor to take a complete rest but I was not then able to do so," the letter said. "Needless to say, the events of these past weeks have done nothing to restore my health and my doctor now insists that I go away for several weeks.

"Because I realize that the national caucus, in fairness to its members, cannot be without a permanent chairman for any extended period, I am herewith submitting my resignation."

RECEIVES LETTER

A spokesman for Mr. Pearson said the prime minister, who was unable to attend the caucus meeting because of a bad cold, has received the letter.

A caucus chairman's main job is to act as liaison between the back-bench members and the cabinet.

Attempts to win bail for Rivard, wanted in the United States on charges of smugling narcotics into that country, are the subject now of a judicial inquiry headed by Chief Justice Frederic Dorion of the Quebec Superior Court.

PEARSON GETS FULL BACKING FROM CAUCUS

Mr. Walker said MPs found support for Mr. Pearson's stand that he will punish wrongdoers but will not take action merely on the basis of rumor or gossip.

King Leads Massive Protest

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leading the demonstrators, stood on the outside of the courthouse looking in.

About 100 Negroes lined up early to register and were being processed. While they stood in line, other demonstrators met at a church and walked to the courthouse.

China Intervention

LOTS OF TALK, BUT NO ACTION

WASHINGTON (AP)—A week after striking against North Viet Nam, the U.S. government appears to have found no hard evidence of a major military response by Hanoi's giant Communist allies, China and Russia.

In reporting no overt signs of Chinese intent to intervene in a big way in Viet Nam, U.S. officials declined today to rule out the possibility that this could happen later on.

The big-power military and diplomatic positions on Viet Nam shaped up this way:

The Chinese are reported to have some MiG jet fighters in North Viet Nam already. They did not enter the fray when U.S. and South Vietnamese craft swooped on North Vietnamese targets three days last week.

Peking could send in foot soldiers, but North Viet Nam has yet to engage its own large army estimated at 400,000. U.S. sources discounted reports of Chinese troop movements published in London over the weekend.

Soviet Premier Kosygin, returning to Russia Sunday from a 10-day visit to North Viet Nam and North Korea including brief stop-overs at Peking, has promised more aid to Hanoi.

Meanwhile, Communist cap-

Orphans of War Roam Streets

By PETER ARNETT

PHU MY, South Viet Nam (AP) — The four-year-old boy picked up the khaki-covered water bottle, held it to his waist, and giggled. It had belonged to his soldier father.

Another child marched by wearing a steel helmet, pulling his tiny sister along behind him. Their father had been wearing the helmet when he was killed the previous night.

Two other children stood on the back of a truck, cracking jokes with soldiers and making faces at a photographer. They had lost their fathers and mothers.

They still hadn't realized they were orphans.

These children had survived a concentrated Viet Cong mortar attack on this town headquarters and were being taken to an orphanage in Saigon.

Their lot was a hard one, and all too frequent in South Viet Nam, where about 800 government soldiers are being killed every month.

It is estimated that 20,000 children running around Saigon streets lack parents.

Many foreigners believe the Vietnamese government has paid too little attention to the orphans of war. Government officials answer that these children should be taken care of by relatives.

Many of the orphans do make their way back to relatives, some of them living deep inside Communist zones.

The situation is made worse by the Vietnamese habit of having families living with soldiers in remote outposts.

When the Viet Cong strike, civilian casualties are often higher than those of the soldiers.

DISGUSTING: LABORITE

'Half-Drunk' Charge Angers U.K. Tories

LONDON (AP) — Angry Conservatives said Sunday night they may begin moves to censure and perhaps expel a Labor member who accused some Tories of attending the House of Commons "half-drunk."

Patrick Duffy, a 44-year-old former economics instructor who described himself as "a moderate drinker but not a kill-joy," first made the accusation in a speech to his constituents Friday night at Colne Valley.

Quintin Hogg, one of the leading Conservatives in the Commons, said he would not be surprised if "some energetic back-bencher" raises the matter in the House today.

It was featured by a national newspaper, The Sunday Express, and Sunday night Duffy repeated the charges and said he was standing by every word.

Duffy was talking in particular about the heated debates of Feb. 2 and Feb. 9 when Conservatives tried to censure Labor's conduct in office, and then attacked its aviation policy.

"Some of the Tories were half drunk and it was disgusting to look at them," Duffy said.

"Some of the opposition members recently came into the House straight from the bar, and created a disturbance. There was no attempt on the part of their leaders to restrain them."

Bennett Promises 3 More Ferries For Rupert Run

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today said plans are being made for another three ferries on the Kelsey Bay-Prince Rupert run which will come into service next year.

He made the statement at the launching of the Queen of Burnaby, 14th vessel built since the provincial ferry fleet was formed, at Victoria Machinery Depot.

VMD is now constructing the Queen of Prince Rupert, first ship on the run which will have connecting vessels to Alaska.

It will be launched in October.

The premier said the ferry system has resulted in a large emonomic boom for Victoria and Vancouver and predicted the new ferries will do the same for Prince Rupert.

Balcer Remains With Tories

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec Conservative leader Leon Balcer said today he has decided to remain within the party at least "for a few more months" and will advise his Quebec colleagues to do the same.

Mr. Balcer, who threatened previously to resign from the party over his dispute with Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, said it is essential the leadership issue be settled and "men of great experience who have left the party to return to private life or who have gone to other arenas" should again resume leading roles within the party.

He made special mention of former cabinet ministers George Hees, now president of the Montreal - Canadian Stock Exchange, Pierre Sevigny, now a Montreal business executive, Davie Fulton leader of the British Columbia Conservatives, and Donald Fleming, who returned to his Toronto law practice.

Mr. Balcer said in a speech to the Canadian Club of Montreal:

"We believe that the return of these men, coupled with a candid reappraisal of the policies and posture of our party in the spirit which was so manifest at the Fredericton conference on Canadian goals, will show the Canadian people our determination to give our party a new image and a new direction."

Mr. Balcer told reporters following his address that his reference to a "few more months" should not be taken as an ultimatum. He said he could not be more specific about his future plans because "these matters are not as concrete as you might think."

Mr. Balcer said there will be a meeting of the 10 Quebec Conservative MPs Tuesday and that he will then ask the other Quebec Tories to stay on for a few months.

Speaking in English, the former transport minister made no direct mention of party leader Diefenbaker, but he had scathing criticism for what he termed the current policies of the party.

IN A PRIVATE flag-raising ceremony this morning officials of Victoria Press Limited joined the rest of the nation in recognizing Canada's new flag. From the left, R. J. Bower, publisher and editor-in-chief of the Colonist; W. A. Irwin, publisher of the Times, and Jack C. Melville, general manager of Victoria Press, send the Maple Leaf fluttering from the flagpole on top of the Douglas Street head office. Throughout the city similar ceremonies took place during the lunch period.

was raised to the masthead for the last time.

At noon, as the band played "Old One Hundredth" the ensign came down to be replaced by the single red maple leaf and a white background with red bars at either end.

But all was not protocol and ceremony as the new replaced the old throughout the city.

At the Legislative buildings the first maple leaf flag fluttered from the main flagpole at 7:21 a.m. Only four persons persons watched—a reporter, photographer, commissionaire and the custodian who removed the ensign and raised the national flag.

In magistrate's court the red ensign quietly disappeared from its place of honor to the right of the magistrate to be replaced by the maple leaf.

At the same time three other flags, one atop city hall and two smaller flags in Centennial Square were raised.

WELL BELOW

Most schools in the city had to pass up flag-raising ceremonies, although not because objections were raised over the new flag.

COMPROMISED

Flags ordered late failed to arrive in time for the noon changeover. Most schools have compromised and lowered the ensign to make way for the B.C. provincial flag until the new maple leaf designs arrive.

One school, Holy Angels, was different. It had a new flag on hand and duly raised it with brief ceremony at noon.

'GET BEHIND MAPLE LEAF' SAYS HAGGEN

Canadians should support the Maple Leaf flag flown officially for the first time today, said Mrs. Lois Haggen, NDP MLA for Grand Forks-Greenwood.

"Let's get behind it and make it mean something for the whole of Canada," she told the annual meeting of Esquimalt NDP Association Sunday afternoon.

When the new flag was raised on the Peace Tower another cheer went up.

Prime Minister Pearson said that if Canada endures 1,000 years this day "will always be remembered as a milestone in Canada's national progress."

REFERS TO DEBATES

Referring to the stormy parliamentary debates and public controversies that preceded the adoption of the maple leaf in December, Mr. Pearson said:

"There are many in this country who regret the replacement of the Red Ensign by the red maple leaf. Their feelings and their emotions should be honored and respected.

"But I am sure, now that the decision has been made by the representatives of the Canadian people in Parliament assembled, that all Canadians, as good patriots, will accept that decision and fly with pride our national flag."

Mr. Rouleau has told the inquiry that it was at his instigation that two ministerial assistants telephoned Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne, who is acting for the U.S. government in trying to extradite Rivard to the U.S.

Mr. Lamontagne testified a $20,000 bribe was offered him by Raymond Denis, former executive assistant to former immigration minister Tremblay, as an inducement to allow bail for Rivard while extradition proceedings were before the courts.

CALLED LAWYER

Mr. Lamontagne has testified that Mr. Rouleau telephoned him Aug. 11 and 12 asking to obtain Rivard's release on bail as a favor, and that Mr. Rouleau said the Liberal party was displeased with opposition to bail in the case.

Although Eric Nielsen (PC—Yukon) made no mention of Mr. Rouleau when making his revelations about the Rivard case in the Commons Nov. 23, the 41-year-old MP for Montreal Dollard riding quit as Mr. Pearson's parliamentary secretary the next day. He said he was resigning until his name was cleared.

Mr. Rouleau had postponed the rest until completing his testimony before the Dorion inquiry, Mr. Walker said.

"I believe this is the time to unite our country, not to divide it, and that it would be fatal for a truly national party to ignore the danger of dealing with subjects like the flag, repatriation of the constitution, the opting-out formula, the royal commission on biculturalism and bilingualism, federal-provincial relations and even the Canada Pension Plan, with a narrow, parochial, unreasoning criticism.

"And it is even more disturbing for national unity to adopt an across-the-board negative opposition instead of an objective criticism without prejudice."

Heroin Seized

NEW YORK (AP) — Narcotics bureau detectives have arrested Learlon Nettles, 41, whom they describe as one of New York City's most active heroin pushers. In his possession Friday night, police said, they found 11 pounds of uncut heroin, worth $250,000 in its unprocessed state. It has a potential value of more than $1,500,000.

'Reopen Korean War If Necessary'

HONG KONG (AP) — The Communist Chinese newspaper Ta Kung Pao said today China not only will enter the Vietnamese war but also will reopen the Korean War if U.S. troops cross the 17th parallel into North Viet Nam.

"If the United States expands the war in Viet Nam, the front line will extend from Viet Nam to Korea," the paper said.

Hong Kong's Ta Kung Pao is a sister newspaper to Peking's Ta Kung Pao, which follows China policy.

In the Korean war, China sent its troops across the Yalu River border to support North Korea after United Nations ground troops crossed the 38th parallel dividing North and South Korea, as the 17th parallel now divides North and South Viet Nam.

Rose Manor Expansion Under Way

A $20,000 reconstruction program at Rose Manor, 857 McClure Street, a home for elderly women, is under way.

The project, scheduled for completion in April, will provide 13 additional rooms for guests and two self-contained apartments for the matron and assistant matron.

A spokesman for the board of management said requests for admission last year made the expansion program necessary. The project was financed without recourse to federal and provincial grants.

The building accommodates 98 persons.

Donations to help furnish these rooms will be accepted by the non-profit care home. Already Beta Sigma Phi Society, a strong supporter of Rose Manor, has donated a sum for furnishing one of the new rooms.

It is hoped that other donations will follow from individuals and groups.

26 ON STAFF

The home is managed by a volunteer board of 15 women. The staff numbers 26.

Rose Manor had its start in 1898, when the "Friendly Help Society" rented from the Jubilee Hospital the premises at 857 McClure Street, then known as the Old French Benevolent Society Hospital. That year two elderly patients were admitted to the home.

In 1902 the home was incorporated under the Societies Act as the "Home for Elderly and Infirm Ladies." In 1905 the building was purchased from Jubilee Hospital for $2,800.

NEW WING

Expansion became necessary in 1908 and a new building was constructed. In 1938, a new wing was opened by Lieutenant-Governor E. W. Hamber.

Since the home was first started, the board of management has operated the institution on a non-profit basis.

This has been made possible by frequent donations and bequests from interested citizens.

Car Seizure Attempt Fails In Bootlegging

Evidence showed that a car registered to his name was found at that address and there was liquor locked in its trunk.

But, Magistrate Wililam Ostler ruled today, in order to have the car confiscated the Crown would have had to prove the liquor "was kept in the car for sale." He decided that all that had been proved was that liquor was kept for sale in the house.

The magistrate reserved judgment on whether or not Tarko should be treated as a second offender. Decision will be given Thursday after the magistrate has studied judgments on points of law relating to the case.

CALL FOR UNITY

Calls for Communist unity came from both Peking and Moscow. Washington authorities said this was to be expected. They said it did not prove the Communist rivals were ready to bury their deep differences for the sake of united action in Southeast Asia.

On the diplomatic front there was a flurry by would-be peacemakers with little encouragement from the principals. Various suggestions came from UN Secretary-General U Thant, Indian Prime Minister Shastri, the French, the Canadians, the British and others.

Washington did not foreclose negotiations at some future date, but saw no basis for peace talks now with the United States strongly committed to staying in South Viet Nam and the Communists demanding that it pull out.

NO ELECTION LIKELY

MPs Get Ready To Resume Work

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Parliament will finish this year and go into the spring of 1966 without a general election if the Liberal minority government can survive motions of non-confidence expected to be moved by the Opposition in March and April. This is the belief of most MPs here Monday as they arrived for the resumption of the old session Tuesday.

A move of non-confidence in the Pearson administration cannot be introduced by the Opposition on supply motions during the resumed sittings of the second session of the 26th Parliament.

Consequently unless there is a censure motion introduced, members of Parliament do not think the life of the government will be in any serious danger for at least three to four weeks or more.

RELATIVE TRANQUILLITY

Barring new scandals, a period of relative tranquillity is expected to carry on while the members discuss new legislation to wind up the old session.

Mood of most of the members of Parliament appears to be one of getting the old session wound up and a start made on the third and new session of this Parliament. It may take six weeks or two months to complete work so that the old session can be finished.

Measures high up on the agenda of the old session:

- Canada Pension Plan.
- National Labor Code.
- Opting out financial legislation.

Should the minority government manage to survive motions of non-confidence early in the resumed session then the feeling of most MPs is that there will be no general election in 1965. Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition leader John Diefenbaker would not be likely to precipitate a general election at this time because both the old line parties are in disarray.

VILLAGERS SHOT DOWN BY GOV'T TROOPS

TAM KY, South Viet Nam (Reuters)—About 40 persons were reported killed today when troops fired into a crowd demanding an end to government bombing and shelling of their villages near here.

The casualty figures were unofficial.

Women among the demonstrators also were reported to have demanded the release of their husbands and sons from the army and to have pressed for long-promised flood relief supplies.

ISLAND KNIGHTS TO WELCOME LEADER

The Grand Chancellor of the Order Knights of Pythias will make his first official visit to Victoria Tuesday as head of the order in British Columbia.

V.I. Knights will welcome E. (Ted) Smith of Revelstoke at 7:30 p.m. in the Castle Hall, 723 Cormorant.

The Capital City Lodge Victoria degree team will initiate a class of candidates into the knighthood.

Members from Sidney, Duncan and other Island lodges are expected to attend.

R. E. Johnston, local chancellor commander, will officiate at Tuesday's meeting, and E. K. Keiser will act as degree master.

CONDITION POOR

Crash Injures Metchosin Man

He has head injuries.

City police said his car was going east on Gorge when it went out of control at Washington, hit the stone wall of the driveway to the auto court and skidded sideways into the stone post on the other side of the entrance.

Mr. Lloyd was found 30 feet from his car.

HARDLY MARKED

Motel owner William Brown said Mr. Lloyd's car hardly marked the reinforced gateposts.

"He must have had the brakes on hard because the boulevard grass was all torn up."

William Layman, 2965 Earl Grey, who arrived at the scene before police, said other people who were there before him said Mr. Lloyd may have lost control of his car in an attempt to stop suddenly for a pedestrian.

There was an estimated $700 damage done to the car.

BURGLARS MIX DRINKS ON THE RUN

DUNCAN—Thieves broke into two homes, stealing a mickey of rum in one, and the mixer from the other.

Panicky Driver Fined $144, Suspended Year

DUNCAN—Because he had no licence and no insurance, Lewis Patrick Luedee of Duncan panicked Saturday night when the police tried to check him.

He drove at a high speed through city streets with lights out but eventually was caught.

In court this morning he pleaded guilty to charges of dangerous driving and having neither licence nor insurance. He was fined a total of $144 and was banned from driving for a year.

Othello for Russia

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Britain's National Theatre, with Sir Laurence Olivier playing Othello, will visit Russia within the next two years under an Anglo-Soviet cultural agreement signed here Saturday.

Owner of Hotel Killed In Car-Truck Collision

RCMP said the Frizzel car was struck broadside when pulling on to the highway from a road leading to Wellington, a Nanaimo suburb.

Mrs. Frizzel, who suffered multiple injuries, is reported in satisfactory condition today in Nanaimo General Hospital.

Mr. Kennedy received a broken nose.

Police said Mr. Frizzel was the driver of the car. Estimated damage to both vehicles was $1,400.

Dismal Days For Egg Men

DUNCAN — The poultry business has a dark future unless a national poultry marketing board is formed, Cowichan Agricultural Society was told Friday night.

Even the bigger operators are not breaking even, he said.

EGG PRICES

	Producer	Wholesale
Grade A Large	33	45
Grade A Medium	31	43
Grade A Small	29	32

Chief Elected

PARKSVILLE — The local volunteer fire department has elected William Wheeler as chief for his eighth consecutive term.

Guy Moore was chosen treasurer and Gaylord Merkel was selected secretary at the annual meeting.

Laundries Cleaned

It was his second visit in as many nights to the laundry in Chemainus. He only got small change.

He was successful at Ladysmith in wringing some money from the machines.

In Duncan he was unsuccessful in trying to force the money meters in the Pinky Coin Laundry.

RCMP suspect the same person, or persons, are responsible for all the offences and similar ones in the Nanaimo district.
